8-FOOT CHANNEL AT ST. LOUIS IS BEST, TAFT RECOMMENDS

President Favors $63,000,000 Bonds to Give Ohio River Nine-Foot Stage.

6 FEET ON UPPER RIVERS, 8 FEET ST. LOUIS TO CAIRO

Message Says Improvement Must Be Made in Time, but Offers Little Cheer to Lakes-to-the-Gulf Deep Waterway Boomers.

By Leased Wire from the Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—The lakes-to-the-gulf deep waterway movement received the worst set-back since its conception today in President Taft's message on the conservation of our national resources.

The President believes six feet of water from St. Paul to St. Louis and from Kansas City to St. Louis is as much as can be counted on. A stage of eight feet from St. Louis to Cairo and nine feet from Cairo to the mouth of the river is all he believes is possible.

He thinks much better of the Ohio River and recommends that $63,000,000 be devoted to the improvement of that stream to the end that it may have nine feet of water from Pittsburg to Cairo, and as a consequence, nine feet from Pittsburg to the gulf.

That portion of the message relating to waterways is as follows:

I come now to the improvement of the inland waterways. He would be blind, indeed, who did not realize that the people of the entire West, and especially those of the Mississippi valley, have been aroused to the need there is for the improvement of our inland waterways. The Mississippi River, with the Missouri on the one hand and the Ohio on the other, would seem to offer a great natural means of interstate transportation and traffic.

How far, if properly improved, they would relieve the railroads or supplement them in respect to the bulkier and cheaper commodities is a matter of conjecture. No enterprise ought to be undertaken the cost of which is not definitely ascertained and the benefit and advantage of which are not known and assured by competent engineers and other authority.

When, however, a project of a definite character for the improvement of a waterway has been developed so that the plans have been drawn, the cost definitely estimated, and the traffic which will be accommodated is reasonably probable I think it is the duty of Congress to undertake the project and make provision therefor in the proper appropriation bill.

Recommends Bonds to Give Ohio River $63,000,000 in 10 Years

One of the projects which answers the description I have given is that of introducing dams into the Ohio River from Pittsburg to Cairo, so as to maintain at all seasons of the year, by slack water, a depth of nine feet. Upward of seven of these dams have already been constructed and six are under construction, while the total required is 50. The remaining cost is known to be $65,000,000.

It seems to me that in the development of our inland waterways it would be wise to begin with this particular project and carry it through as rapidly as may be. I assume from reliable information that it can be constructed economically in 10 years.

I recommend, therefore, that the present Congress, in the river and harbor bill, make provision for continuing contracts to complete this improvement, and I shall recommend in the future, if it be necessary, that bonds be issued to carry it through.

Concerning the Mississippi.

What has been said of the Ohio River is true in a less complete way of the improvement of the Upper Mississippi from St. Paul to St. Louis, to a constant depth of 8 feet, and of the Missouri, from Kansas City to St. Louis, to a constant depth of 8 feet, and from St. Louis to Cairo of a depth of 8 feet.

These projects have been pronounced practical by competent boards of army engineers, their cost has been estimated, and there is business which will follow the improvement.

As these improvements are being made, and the traffic encouraged by them shows itself of sufficient importance, the improvement of the Mississippi beyond Cairo down to the Gulf, which is now going on with the maintenance of a depth of 9 feet everywhere, may be changed to another and greater depth if the necessity for it shall appear to arise out of the traffic which can be delivered on the river at Cairo.

I am informed that the investigation by the waterways commission in Europe shows that the existence of a waterway by no means assures traffic unless there is traffic adapted to water carriage at cheap rates at one end or the other of the stream. It also appears in Europe that the depth of the streams is rarely more than six feet and never more than nine.

But it is certain that enormous quantities of merchandise are transported over the rivers and canals in Germany and France and England, and it is also certain that the existence of such methods of traffic materially affects the rates which the railroads charge, and it is the best regulator of those rates that we have, not even excepting the governmental regulation through the Interstate Commerce Commission.

For this reason, I hope that this Congress will take such steps that it may be called the inaugurator of the new system of inland waterways.

The earlier pages of the message are devoted to the reclamation of arid lands, Government coal lands, water sites and all Government lands. Existing laws

FUND REPORTED SHORT; 2 POLICE OFFICIALS ACCUSED

One Still in Department, the Other of Equal Rank Is Ex-Officer.

I O U'S FOR $1200

That Is the Account of Only One of the Men Involved in Scandal.

TO START AN INQUIRY

Col. Laird Will Ask Board to Make an Investigation at Once.

President Laird of the Police Board said to a Post-Dispatch reporter Friday that he would ask an immediate investigation by the board of reports of a shortage in the funds in the Police Relief Association, and of indebtedness to the association on the part of a high police official and a former official of equal rank.

"I have heard," said Col. Laird, "that the affairs of the association are in a tangled condition, and have heard rumors that there was a shortage, though who was involved or in what amount I did not hear.

"I have also heard that a former official, not now connected with the department, owes the association $1200 in the form of due bills and informal notes, or I O U's, and that a high official now in the department is indebted to the association.

"I have not attempted, thus far, to investigate the reports. But, now that the matter is becoming the topic of comment and the cause of anxiety among the members of the force, I think it my duty to institute an inquiry.

To Make Inquiry.

"I shall recommend that the Police Board put accountants to work on the books of the association, and if any members of the force are short the Police Board will have the power to try them.

"The association is not directly connected with the Police Board, being separately incorporated. But its members are all members of the force and the board is supposed to have a moral supervision over its affairs. I do not look for opposition on the part of the association to an inquiry."

Col. Laird said the matter had not been mentioned between himself and Gov. Hadley, with whom he was in conference during the morning.

Policemen throughout the city have been worried for several days past by the reports which Col. Laird has decided to investigate. Once in its history, the association was almost wrecked by a large defalcation, for which an officer

SUGAR TRUST SECRETARY NAMED IN INDICTMENT

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—The Federal grand jury this afternoon returned indictments against Charles L. Heike, secretary of the American Sugar Refining Co.; G. Werbracht, J. R. Bendernagel, Henry W. Walker, Jean M. Voelker and James F. Halligan, employes.

Four counts in the indictments charge false entries of sugar products and two counts allege conspiracy to defraud the government in weighing sugar imports.

MULTIMILLIONAIRE'S WIFE DEFYING PROCESS SERVERS

Proposes to Lift Siege of Her Pennsylvania Home by Flight Sunday.

FRANKLIN, Pa., Jan. 14.—Surrounded by attorneys and private detectives, Mrs. Emma A. Miller is today defying the sheriff and local authorities to invade her place of refuge under a friendly roof and serve upon her divorce papers filed by her husband, Gen. Charles Miller, the multimillionaire oil man.

Mrs. Miller, who resides in New York City for the greater part of each year, will leave Franklin Sunday, as the service of court papers is illegal on that day.

Gen. Miller yesterday filed divorce libels against Mrs. Miller, who is his second wife, charging cruelty.

WAITER COHEN IS SENT TO JAIL WITHOUT BAIL

Hearing in Two Weeks for Philadelphia Heiress' Companion in Flight.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 14.—After a brief hearing before a magistrate this afternoon, Frederick Cohen, who ran away with Miss Roberta de Janon, was committed to the county prison without bail, for further hearing two weeks from today on a charge of kidnaping.

The police today made the emphatic statement that Cohen did not harm the girl, and the young runaway still adheres to her story that she alone was responsible for the affair. After an interview with the waiter in his cell, his lawyer told reporters that Cohen, under the law, committed no crime.

The girl still is in a private apartment of a hospital under the care of a nerve specialist. It is quite likely she will be kept there for some days.

Mrs. Julia Cohen, the deserted wife, who was taken to a hospital last night in a state of nervous collapse, was better today, and left the institution.

MONDELL REFUSES TO BE SPONSOR FOR TAFT'S BILL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Representative Mondell of Wyoming, chairman of the House Committee on Public Lands, has declined to stand sponsor for President Taft's bills designed to carry out his program for conservation of natural resources.

He offered to introduce the measure "by request," but the proffer was declined.

CHRONOLOGICAL LIST OF DEATHS AND ILLNESS IN SWOPE FAMILY

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 14.

CHRONOLOGY of the Swope mystery:

Oct. 1, 1909—Death of James Moss Hunton, a cousin of Col. Swope.

Oct. 3, 1909—Death of Col. Thomas H. Swope.

Oct. 9, 1909—Col. Swope's will, leaving Kansas City real estate valued at $1,000,000 to members of the family filed for probate.

Dec. 1, 1909—Miss Margaret Swope, a niece of Col. Swope, and a legatee, became ill with typhoid fever.

Dec. 3, 1909—Chrisman Swope, a nephew of Col. Swope, became ill with typhoid fever.

Dec. 5, 1909—Stuart S. Fleming, cousin of Col. Swope, an executor and a legatee, became ill with typhoid fever.

Dec. 6, 1909—Miss Dixon, a cousin and legatee of Col. Swope, became ill with typhoid fever.

Dec. 6, 1909—Chrisman Swope, legatee, died in Independence.

Dec. 9, 1909—Miss Sarah Swope, niece of Col. Swope and a legatee, became ill with typhoid fever.

Dec. 21, 1909—Miss Lucy Lee Swope, niece and legatee of Col. Swope, became ill with typhoid fever.

Jan. 2—Autopsy on the body of Chrisman Swope in Independence.

Jan. 12—Autopsy on the body of Col. Thomas H. Swope.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 14.—Wholesale murder, attempted through the medium of typhoid fever inoculation and later partially accomplished by means of poison, the object to be attained being the $10,000,000 estate of Col. Thomas H. Swope, is believed to have been disclosed through a secret post-mortem examination of two of the bodies of the victims.

As a result of the discoveries expert chemists have taken the stomachs of Col. Swope and his nephew, Chrisman Swope, to Chicago, where they are being submitted to the most critical toxicological research. While the toxicologists are making their examination, five detectives are keeping the man under suspicion in constant surveillance and he will not be given any opportunity to escape.

The plot is believed to have had for its object the extermination of the 10 nephews and nieces of the millionaire philanthropist, who shared in the fortune he left. The fact that a provision in his will was that their shares should revert to the estate in the event of their deaths is the basis for this suspicion.

Originally, the investigators assert, the attempt at murder was to be through insidious inoculation with typhoid fever germs. Seven members of the family were ill with this disease at one time, and the most rigid search failed to reveal natural causes from which this epidemic might arise. The theory of the investigators is that germs known to have been obtained from a laboratory were used for this purpose.

Quest for Poison in Stomachs of Two Is Expected to Be Successful

The investigation into the death of Col. Swope and his nephew, Chrisman Swope, is on the theory that they were poisoned by the plotter. Their sudden death, in exactly the same manner, leads to the expectation that poison will be found in their stomachs.

Col. Swope died supposedly from apoplexy at his home in Independence on Oct. 3, 1909. The body was removed from the vault in Forest Hill Cemetery last Tuesday night, where it was placed, following the public funeral, and taken to the undertaking rooms of H. F. Ott & Co. on the Public Square in Independence.

The body of Col. Swope arrived at the undertaking establishment in Independence late Tuesday night. It was placed in a small room, not more than twelve feet square, in the basement, at the rear of the building. There assembled there Wednesday morning Dr. G. T. Twyman, who was family physician for the Swopes; Dr. Calvin Atkins, Dr. Frank Hall, an expert in pathology, and Dr. Ludwig Hektoen, professor of pathology in Rush Medical College and the head of the Memorial Institution of Chicago for the Investigation of Infectious Diseases, and J. G. Paxton of Independence, who is executor of the Swope estate.

Preceding the autopsy, a Coroner's jury which had been summoned at the direction of Dr. R. H. Ewart, County Coroner, viewed the body and identified it as that of Col. Swope, whom most of the jurors had known in his lifetime. The members of the jury were admonished to keep the proceedings secret.

The physicians present made a thorough examination of all the vital organs of the body. The stomach was removed and taken to Chicago by Dr. Hektoen, where a chemical examination will be made by Dr. W. H. Haynes, an expert chemist identified with the Rush Medical College, to determine the presence of any poisons in the body.

Three days ago there was a similar scene in the Ott Undertaking rooms in Independence when the body of Chrisman Swope, a nephew of the late Col. Swope, was taken there and an autopsy held. Chrisman Swope died at the Swope family home in Independence Dec. 6. He had been stricken with typhoid fever and was ill about seven days. The cause of his death was given as typhoid fever.

The report of the examination of the contents of the stomach of his body was furnished by Dr. Hektoen, but has not yet been made public. It was learned that the autopsies were held at the direction of Mrs. Margaret Swope, a sister-in-law of Col. Swope, in whose home he died, and Mr. Paxton, who was a lifelong friend of the Swope family. Mrs. Margaret Swope refused to

ICE WRECKS FREE BRIDGE WORK; NEW GORGE IS FORMED

Pile Drivers Swept Away From the East Shore by Rush of Packs.

MORE DAMAGE FEARED

Thaw at Alton Expected to Send Big Floes Down the River.

The new ice gorge in the St. Louis harbor broke at 3 a. m. Friday, and dawn saw the Mississippi almost clear of ice, while hundreds of men with picks worked to clear the levee of the rough cakes which had piled up there, covering the surface tracks of the Terminal Association, the Wiggins Ferry Co. and the Wabash Railroad.

With the free bridge preliminary work ruined, numerous power boats and other small craft crushed, and several large barges swept away by the ice pack of Thursday, river men Friday waited with apprehension for the arrival of the ice from the Alton gorge, which broke at almost the same time as the one here. A new gorge now forming at the Alton bridge promises to prolong the danger to river business there and here.

The Free Bridge work on the East Side, opposite the foot of Chouteau avenue, was destroyed by the ice, and a pile driver and a derrick boat were swept downstream.

An empty barge belonging to the Union Sand and Material Co. was broken from its heavy chains at the foot of Tyler street and river men all the way downstream reported seeing it in the middle of the channel.

Tug Keeps at Work.

The tug Reliance, at the foot of Rutger street, moved about among the coal barges at the wharf there and its crew, working all night, succeeded in preventing damage in that part of the harbor.

Damage to small craft was reported from all along the water front. The Ellen May, C. C. James' costly powerboat, and the Annex, a houseboat owned by the St. Louis Powerboat Association, were among the losses. Both were practically destroyed by the jam.

A $2000 launch belonging to Dr. Max Starkloff, former Health Commissioner, escaped damage, although the boathouse in which it was kept at the foot of Kraus street was completely wrecked.

A houseboat owned by Dr. Starkloff was thrown upon the bank by the ice and badly damaged.

A houseboat owned by a man named Grant was also wrecked near the foot of Krause street.

Released by the breaking of gorges below the city, the current Friday reached a speed of 15 miles an hour, nearly twice its usual flow.

From a half hour before midnight until 3 a. m. Friday the stage of the river was above the danger mark. At 3 a. m. it commenced to go down rapidly and continued falling through the morning.

The worst that the riverman had feared when the stage should go down happened. The river fell so rapidly that the boats could not be kept afloat and when the ice is cleared away it is feared that practically every craft in the harbor will be found to be wholly or partly on land.

The gauge at midnight read 31.2. The hourly readings from midnight until 5 a. m. were 31.3, 31.2, 31.1, 31.1, 31.1 and 31. Thirty-one is the danger mark. At 5 a. m. 27 was read and then one of the city dump boats was thrown up on the bank and across the gauge, so that no further accurate readings could be had.

The river, however, is estimated to be falling more than six inches an hour.

At Alton, the $10,000 ferryboat Minnie was washed up on the Ashlock dock, and placed in a perilous position. The small wharves adjoining Capt. W. D. Fluent's office and including the one in which he has his office were washed up and their chains were snapped. The Eagle Packet wharfboat was held in place by an anchor after the chains had been broken.

While the gorge at the Alton bridge broke at 3 a. m., the formation of another soon began and the alarm was increased by the news that a new ice pack was on its way downstream and would soon reach the Alton harbor.

The sudden fall of the river Friday morning left the sand-digger and three other big steel barges of the Union Sand Co. high and dry on the shore at the foot of Walnut street.

At the foot of Olive street the Eagle Packet barge has been left stranded on a hill of ice. The St. Louis and Tennessee River barge, 300 feet in length, is high and dry on the bank at the foot of Olive street.

The river was so high at midnight and in the early morning hours that it left the surface tracks along the levee stacked up with huge blocks of ice.

INSURGENTS AGREE WITH PARTY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Representative John Dwight of New York, the Republican "whip" of the house, stated today that an agreement had been reached between the regulars and the insurgents whereby the latter would attend the party caucus on selection of the Ballinger-Pinchot investigation committee and would abide thereby.

Counsel for Pinchot and Ballinger.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Former Chief Forester Pinchot and Secretary Ballinger may be represented by counsel throughout the investigation by Congress, covering the conduct of their offices. It was practically agreed by Senate and House members today. Similar representation of other dismissed Government employes invited was not denied.

Rich Swope Heirs Suspect Murders in the Family

cuss the investigation. She would not talk at present, she said.

Paxton was seen at his home in Independence. He dictated the following statement:

I had reason to believe that the death of the late Col. Swope did not proceed from natural causes to such an extent that I believed an autopsy was demanded. I therefore had the autopsy made by a physician whom I regard as of the highest standing in the medical profession and especially in his line.

I asked the Coroner to take charge of the autopsy and he deemed it proper to impanel a jury. The autopsy showed Swope's brain was perfectly normal, and it did not show any other defect in the organs of the body which might have caused his death. The contents of the stomach and other parts of the body not definitely known to me were taken to Chicago by Dr. Hektoen, there to be examined by Dr. Haynes of Chicago University, who, I am informed, is a most eminent authority in his line.

Col. Swope, who was 82 years old, had been suffering from the effects of a fall early in the autumn, but his death came unexpectedly from a stroke of apoplexy, after an acute illness of only a few hours.

He was attended by Dr. B. C. Hyde, whose wife at the time of her marriage was Miss Frances Swope, a niece of Col. Swope.

Dr. H. B. Zewart, County Coroner, said last night that the request for a permit to exhume Col. Swope's body was made to him by Dr. Frank J. Hall, a specialist in analytical work, with laboratories in the Argyle Building. Dr. Zewarts said he did not know the object in the disinterment of the body.

"I am employed by the Swope family," Dr. Hall said last night. Being asked exactly what portion of the Swope family he answered, "Mrs. Swope and her children represent the family in mind."

Convinced of Poison Plot.

"It will be several days before an arrest is made," said John H. Atwood of the law firm of Reed, Atwood, Yates, Mastin & Harvey. "We have the evidence well in hand. There is not a particle of doubt in my mind but that both Thomas Swope and Chrisman Swope were poisoned and that they did not die of the diseases which they were said to have in the newspaper accounts."

This plot, said to have been planned with more deliberation and with even more heinous intent than the now famous Gunness murders, had for its supposed end the extermination of all the Swope heirs. Shortly before Chrisman Swope's death, it is charged, a man visited the office of a well-known bacteriologist of Kansas City and obtained some typhoid germs. With these deadly bacilli, those pushing the matter believe, he hoped to innoculate the members of the Swope family.

Col. Thomas H. Swope and Chrisman Swope are said to have both died in the same manner. Col. Swope arose the fateful morning and had a bath. An hour afterwards he died in convulsions. Chrisman Swope was about 30 years of age and vigorous. Shortly before this it was given out that he was suffering from typhoid fever. He became ill Dec. 2 and died four days after. He is said to have taken a capsule an hour before his death. The nurses say that he died in convulsions.

The man suspected obtained typhoid bacteria on Nov. 10. His first visit to the Swope home in Independence was made Thanksgiving day. It was only a week after this that Chrisman Swope became ill with the contagion. The plot is thought to have been to kill off the heirs by typhoid fever.

The sudden death of Chrisman Swope, following so closely after the fatal illness of Col. Swope, aroused the suspicions of the family. An autopsy was held with the result that it was claimed that the last member of the family had not died of typhoid, as was said. The stomach was soon after sent to Chicago. During this time, it is asserted, there was more evidence of a plot to kill off the entire family. Mrs. Logan Swope was stricken with typhoid fever early in December.

Nurses Ask Inquiry.

The investigation which resulted in these startling disclosures was largely at the instance of the nurses employed in the Swope home during the illness of Chrisman Swope. At their suggestion Dr. G. T. Twyman of Independence was called in to make an investigation. He found the house to be in a sanitary condition and no place whence the disease germs could possibly originate. Dr. Frank Hall also made an investigation with the same results.

One man suspected of connection with this alleged plot visited the Swope home for the last time about Dec. 10. After that there was no more typhoid in the family, and the Swopes since then have never been threatened with the contagion.

Suspicion of the nurses employed to attend the sick were aroused first and then for the first time the members of the Swope family realized that the typhoid epidemic might not have been due to natural causes. Dr. Twyman, who was asked to investigate, was at once convinced that the Swopes were victims of foul play. The drinking water was analyzed and, it is claimed, it was found free from the germs.

Typhoid Germs Found.

The physician says that he made as thorough an investigation as possible, but found the home free from contagion. He called the man now suspected to his office. Before arriving there, it is said, the suspected man was seen to take a capsule from his pocket. He dropped it on the ground and broke it under his heel. The remnants of a vial were found, but no trace of strychnine could be detected.

Dr. Twyman then investigated the man's room. The typhoid culture that had been purchased a month previous was found. These germs had been placed on a stick and sealed in an air tight bottle. It was found that about half of them had been scraped from the stick. What was done with them is mere conjecture.

Miss Margaret Swope, another niece of Col. Swope, became ill two days later. In the meantime Miss Lucy Lee Swope, another niece, had been traveling in France. She was summoned home by cable, following the death of Col. Swope. Dr. B. C. Hyde went to New York to meet her on her arrival in this country, and accompanied her to Independence. She went to stay at a neighbor's house near the Swope family residence. She became ill Dec. 21, soon after her arrival in Independence.

Seven Cases at One Time.

Almost simultaneously there were seven cases of typhoid fever in the Swope household. The servants were dismissed and new ones employed. Dr. B. C. Hyde remained at the house practically all of the time. Dr. G. T. Twyman, the family physician, was in daily attendance upon those who were ill. There were five trained nurses also in the house.

All those who were stricken with typhoid recovered with the exception of Chrisman Swope. Dr. Hyde was not in charge of the cases of members of the Swope family, ill with typhoid. At their recovery he suffered a slight attack of the same disease at his home in Kansas City.

Every possible effort was made to learn from what source the members of the household became infected with typhoid germs. Bottled waters were used to guard against the infection from that source. The milk, vegetables and other foodstuffs that came into the house were similarly rigidly sterilized and cleansed and still the typhoid made headway. The occurrence of the disease was a great mystery to those who lived in the house. It baffled every effort to eradicate it.

Inquiry Surprises Dr. Hyde.

Dr. Hyde, who attended Col. Swope in his last hours, expressed surprise when told of the investigation into Col. Swope's death.

"What's that you said? They've taken up Col. Swope's body to examine it?" was his surprised answer to a visitor's request for an account of the last illness of Col. Swope.

"Why, I didn't know a thing about that," he continued. "They hadn't told me a thing about it."

Then he asked for the details of the removal of the body from the vault in Forest Hill Cemetery and the examination which had been made in Independence.

"Col. Swope died of apoplexy," was his reply to a question as to the cause of the death. "There is no doubt about it. It was as plain a case of apoplexy as I have ever seen. Col. Swope was getting old and feeble. He had been sick for more than three months of old age, lack of appetite and senility. Only a few weeks before his death he had had a severe fall.

Apoplexy From Excitement.

"The stroke of apoplexy was probably induced by the excitement and the shock attending the sudden death of James Hunton, a cousin and a very dear friend of his. As I remember it now, he had just finished reading a newspaper account of Hunton's death when he was stricken with apoplexy. This was about 9 o'clock in the morning. He died that night."

In describing the nature of Col. Swope's apoplectic stroke, Dr. Hyde said that it was the breaking of a blood vessel leading into the left side of the brain.

"Mr. Hunton's death was also due to apoplexy," said Dr. Hyde.

"He was sitting at the table when he suddenly became ill. His stroke was almost identical with that from which Col. Swope died. He had practically the same symptoms and was affected almost exactly the same way as Col. Swope.

"Christman Swope's death was due to typhoid fever," said Dr. Hyde. "While I attended Mr. Swope and signed the death certificate myself in his case, Dr. Twyman of Independence, the family physician, had direct charge of the typhoid fever cases in the family, although I had a general direction of their cases."

Tells of Own Illness.

Dr. Hyde said that he had been ill ten or twelve days before he went to bed with the typhoid fever and that he had been kept in his bed by the fever for fifteen or sixteen days.

"I am weak still and hardly able to get about now," said the doctor, in describing his own condition. "This is only my third day out."

The Hydes reside at 2516 Forest avenue. Mrs. Hyde was ill last night and unable to see a reporter. She was formerly Miss Frances Swope, a niece of Col. Swope. A nurse is attending her now.

The Kansas City estate of Col. Thomas H. Swope, the mysterious circumstances of whose death is being investigated, was valued at $3,000,000. In addition, he owned a 400-acre fruit farm near Columbia, Tenn., improved property in Knoxville, Tenn., and Middleboro, Ky., and vacant property in Syracuse, N. Y., and Knoxville and Topeka, Kan. He also owned mining property near Butte, Mont., the value of which cannot be estimated. It is believed that his fortune totaled $10,000,000.

Col. Swope proved himself a benefactor to Kansas City. His most conspicuous gift was Swope Park, 1354 acres of beautifully wooded land, through the center of which flows the Blue River. It was valued at $1000 an acre when donated to the city. It has been converted into probably the finest natural recreation grounds in the West.

Col. Swope gave the city the block of land on which the new General Hospital now stands.

Bequests in His Will.

The will of the Colonel also contained many public bequests. That portion of the document is as follows:

To the Humane Society of Kansas City, I give lots 1 and 2 in block No. 43 of Turner & Co.'s addition to Kansas City, the proceeds of the rental to be used by said Humane Society in the entertainment of children in Swope Park, annually, forever.

To the Women's Christian Association of Kansas City I give the sum of $10,000.

To the Y. M. C. A. of Kansas City I give the sum of $10,000.

To the Provident Association of Kansas City I give the sum of $10,000 to be known as the Swope fund, to be used for the benefit of the poor and needy of Kansas City.

Chemists at Work in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—The stomach of Chrisman Swope has arrived in Chicago and is under chemical analysis by Prof. Ludwig Hektoen of the Rush Medical College and Prof. W. S. Haines.

It is expected that the stomach of Thomas H. Swope will arrive Saturday. Prof. Hektoen admitted that he was already engaged in an analysis of Chrisman Swope's stomach.

STORM CAUSES WHITELAW REID TO MISS RELATIVE'S FUNERAL

Vessel Is Delayed by Weather and Ambassador Is Late for Mills Services.

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Tempests at sea and an off-shore snow storm so delayed the liner St. Louis that Whitelaw Reid, the American Ambassador to Great Britain, reached here too late to attend the funeral of his father-in-law, D. O. Mills, held in this city today.

Arrangements had been made to meet the Ambassador with a tug at Quarantine, land him at the Battery and take him uptown in an automobile. The severity of the storm, however, upset all these arrangements. Because of the previous plans and the fact that numerous prominent men were present to attend the funeral, it was decided not to delay the ceremonies.

The services were conducted by the Rev. Ernst M. Stires, rector of the church where Mr. Mills had for many years been a vestryman. Among the honorary pallbearers were J. Pierpont Morgan and Levi P. Morton.

Terrible Suffering

Eczema All Over Baby's Body.

"When my baby was four months old his face broke out with eczema, and at 16 months of age his face, hands and arms were in a dreadful state. The eczema spread all over his body. We had to put a mask or cloth over his face and tie up his hands and arms. Finally we gave him Hood's Sarsaparilla, and in a few months he was entirely cured. Now he is a fine, healthy boy." Mrs. Ines Lewis, Baring, Me.

There is no real substitute for Hood's Sarsaparilla. If urged to buy any preparation said to be "just as good" you may be sure it is inferior, costs less to make and yields the dealer a larger profit.

Get Hood's Sarsaparilla today in the usual liquid form, or in the chocolated tablets known as Sarsatabs.

ROCK ISLAND ASKS WRIT TO FOIL ELECTRIFICATION ORDER

Ordinance Affecting Lines Through Forest Park Unconstitutional, Is Contention.

The Rock Island Railroad Friday began formal resistance to the city ordinance which, if enforced, would require it to use electricity as a motive power on its tracks skirting Forest Park, and would make the same requirement of the Wabash in and near the park.

The ordinance, passed last February, applies only to Forest Park. The railroad, in an injunction petition filed Friday, asks that the mayor, the park commissioner and the city attorney be restrained from enforcing the ordinance.

The railroad's attorneys allege the ordinance is unconstitutional, in that it applies only to one park, whereas other parks are crossed or closely approached by railroad tracks. The requirement for electric power is for all railroads which traverse Forest Park or approach within 600 feet of it.

HADLEY IS SURE LID CLUBS WILL BE SUPPRESSED

Triangular Crusade by Police, Excise Commissioner and Circuit Attorney.

A joint crusade against the lid-lifting clubs will be pushed through to a finish by the Police Department, the Excise Commissioner's office and the prosecuting authorities, according to the statement of Gov. Hadley to a Post-Dispatch reporter at the Jefferson Hotel Friday.

"I took up this matter with the St. Louis officials several weeks ago," said the Governor. "From the plans that are made I am confident that every illegitimate drinking organization will be put out of business.

"That these clubs are unjust to the saloon keeper who is compelled to pay a heavy license, admits of no argument.

Police Furnish List.

"Circuit Attorney Jones, Prosecuting Attorney Moss, Excise Commissioner Caulfield and the Board of Police Commissioners have promised to do everything in their power to suppress the lid evil and to keep it suppressed. The police department has obtained a list of all the clubs in the city and those that have no legal right to exist will be punished."

"How about the breweries and distilleries that supply the clubs?" the Governor was asked.

"If any brewery, distillery or saloon is found furnishing liquor to these clubs they will be dealt with the same as open violators of the dramshop statutes," he replied. "Any encouragement which they may give these unlawful organizations will be considered an unfriendly act and treated accordingly."

Gov. Hadley tried to cause the enactment of a law at the 1908 session of the Legislature putting all clubs under the provisions of the dramshop laws. The bill was defeated by a small majority.

LOST MOLARS BAFFLE POLICE

Policemen Fitzgibbon and Scheer of the Carr Street District, after an all-night search, reported Friday they were unable to find the teeth of F. X. Beidler, a resident of Mount Pulaski, Ill., and Chief Creecy thus informed Mr. Beidler by mail.

Beidler wrote Chief Creecy a letter stating that several weeks ago he was detained for a few hours at the Carr Street Station. Before that, he said, he passed some little time in various cafes in the neighborhood of the police station. When he boarded his train for home he felt as though he had forgotten something, he wrote, but could not think of what it was until he felt of his mouth and missed his upper teeth.

"You will know the teeth if you find them," he wrote, "because there is a nick in the right-hand corner. Please make a thorough search, as they were the best set of false teeth I ever had."

KAVANAUGH EXPECTS FIGHT FOR 14-FOOT CHANNEL WILL BE CONTINUED IN CONGRESS

W. K. KAVANAUGH, president of the Lakes-to-the-Gulf Deep Waterway Association, was disappointed at the recommendations of President Taft. He said:

"The President's recommendations means nothing. We are now on practically an eight or nine foot basis from St. Louis to Cairo, and work has been going on for years to establish a six-foot channel to St. Paul.

"There is certainly no encouragement to the 14-foot channel advocates in the President's recommendations.

"I cannot believe our friends in Congress, however, will let the project drop with the President's recommendations. I expect something more than that from them."

Two High Officials Accused in Shortage of Police Relief Fund of the organization was sent to the penitentiary.

The association provides old-age pensions to policemen and relief to their widows. Its source of income are the fines paid by policemen, a percentage of rewards for capture of prisoners, and of Police Court fines, voluntary gifts and the annual two-weeks' benefit entertainment at the summer garden, for which tickets are sold throughout the city, in addition to the regular dues paid by members.

Unsuccessful efforts for the passage of a police pension law have left the association the only agency for the relief of aged or disabled policemen.

The rumors of trouble in the association's affairs have spread rapidly since the monthly meeting, held at the Magnolia Avenue Station Jan. 5. At that time the customary and expected report of the auditing committee was not made, and Capt. Mansfield, one of the executive board, demanded to know why it was not made.

The reply given by the committee was that the secretary, John Healy, had been delayed in making up his accounts by several circumstances. One of these circumstances was delay in receiving from the secretary of the Police Board, reports on the percentage of fines and rewards due the association.

Mansfield then consented to waive the report until the February meeting. The members of the Auditing Committee are Patrolmen Volk, Craddick and Cliffe. The officers of the association are under $20,000 bond each. Lieut. Thomas McCormack was elected president Thursday, succeeding Patrolman John Nicolay, who has resigned from the force.

Denied by Captain.

Capt. Mansfield Friday denied a report that he or any other member of the executive committee had demanded the privilege of inspecting the books and had been refused. He said he did state that the books should always be kept in such shape that everyone could know the standing of every member in respect to the association. But he said he was satisfied with the explanation made by the auditing committee, and consented to the postponement of the report.

"There is absolutely no shortage in the police relief fund," said Healy to a Post-Dispatch reporter. "The books balance perfectly. All of the money for the fund passes through the hands of the secretary of the Police Board before it is turned over to the association."

The highest police official to leave the department in recent years is Matthew Kiely, former Chief, now at the head of a private detective agency. A Post-Dispatch reporter went to him to ask whether he knew of any members of the department indebted to the relief association. He laughed good-naturedly.

"I know of no one who owes the association anything," Kiely said, "and its affairs were straight when I left the department, so far as I knew. I had no interest in it except as every member of the department is interested. As for myself, I owe it nothing, and if any man can produce an I O U signed by me and held by the relief association or any person, I will give $500 to any charity he may name. I never gave an I O U in my life."

are declared inadequate. He says:

All the principal land statutes were enacted more than a quarter of a century ago. The homestead act, the pre-emption and timber-culture act, the coal land and the mining acts were among these. The rapid disposition of the public lands under the early statutes, and the lax methods of distribution prevailing, due, I think, to the belief that these lands should rapidly pass into private ownership, gave rise to the impression that the public domain was legitimate prey for the unscrupulous, and that it was not contrary to good morals to circumvent the land laws. This prodigal manner of disposition resulted in the passing of large areas of valuable land and many of our national resources into the hands of persons who felt little or no responsibility for promoting the national welfare through their development. The truth is that title to millions of acres of public lands was fraudulently obtained, and that the right to recover a large part of such lands for the Government long since ceased by reason of statutes of limitation.

Among the most noteworthy reforms initiated by my distinguished predecessor were the vigorous prosecution of land frauds and the bringing to public attention of the necessity for preserving the remaining public domain from further spoliation, for the maintenance and extension of our forest resources, and for the enactment of laws amending the obsolete statutes so as to retain governmental control over that part of the public domain in which there are valuable deposits of coal, of oil, and of phosphate, and, in addition thereto, to preserve control, under conditions favorable to the public, of the lands along the streams in which the fall of water can be made to generate power or to be transmitted in the form of electricity many miles to the point of its use, known as "waterpower" sites.

The present statutes, except so far as they dispose of the precious metals and the purely agricultural lands, are not adapted to carry out the modern view of the best disposition of public lands to private ownership.

DEATH BLOW TO TERMINAL'S BILL PLANNED FRIDAY

Motion Will Be Made in House to File Measure as Test of Its Strength.

VOTE WOULD SETTLE IT

Charge Is Made Association Is Leasing Streets Vacated by the City.

A motion will likely be made in the House of Delegates Friday night to file the Terminal Railroad Association's bill. It was reported at the City Hall Friday that one of the opponents of the bill will make the motion to put the friends and enemies of the measure on record. If the motion is not made, the bill will have a second reading, and be referred by Speaker Rombauer to the Committee on Railroads.

If the bill is filed, it means its death without consideration. Some of the members who are opposed to the bill in its present form do not think it wise to strangle it without consideration. Many members are fighting the bill because it carries no provision to eliminate the bridge arbitraries.

F. W. Kleine of 1919 Bremen avenue, a retired coal dealer, has written a letter to Councilman Schutz in which he states that streets vacated to the Terminal Association for expansion of its switching facilities are being leased to coal dealers at $50 and $75 a month in lots of 16 by 20 feet. He says this has been done in North St. Louis for a long time, and makes an inquiry to know how general it is.

Won't Lease to Tenants.

Mr. Kleine states the association will not lease the lots to the tenants, but makes them take them by the month. He criticises the association for obtaining public property from the city, by ordinance, for expansion of its facilities and then leasing it to private tenants.

It was suggested at the City Hall that the bill, if passed, might be subject to the same sort of attack that is being made upon the Tower Grove grade crossing ordinances by "friends" of the Missouri Pacific, Frisco and Oak Hill roads. They object to the validity of the grade crossing ordinances on the ground they did not originate with the Board of Public Improvements.

The Terminal's ordinance provides it shall build two viaducts—one at Ewing avenue and another at Compton avenue. A "friend" of the Terminal, it was pointed out, might discover that these bills did not originate with the Board of Public Improvements and contest their validity, thereby, if successful, releasing the Terminal from its proposed bond of $400,000 to guarantee the faithful performance of its obligation to build these viaducts.

Terminal Hires Press Agent.

Like the Standard Oil Co., the Terminal Association has hired a press agent. Soon after Hadley opened fire on the Rockefeller combination in Missouri it was announced in New York that J. I. C. Clarke, former playwright and newspaper man, had been engaged at an enormous salary to defend Standard Oil in the press of the country.

Coincident with the introduction of its bill in the House of Delegates asking for a franchise to use the Ranken tract for expansion of terminal facilities, the Terminal Association announced it had employed George F. Mockler, former newspaper man and secretary of the City Council, as press agent.

As publicity agent for the Terminal, Mr. Mockler is expected to meet in some way all the arguments made against the bill.

Mockler is working the typewriter overtime grinding out Terminal "dope." His first effort was a petition, now being circulated among business men, requesting the Municipal Assembly to pass the bill. Mockler's acquaintance with the methods of legislation is expected to keep the bill out of the way of hard knocks while it is going through the Municipal Assembly.

Councilman Schutz, in a written statement, says two-thirds of what the Terminal offers for the passage of the bill is for redemption of existing promises. He says:

"What does the Terminal Association ask for the few thousand dollars it is really offering to the city? To be left alone on the arbitrary? to allow the trains of all railroads forming the association to stop at the entrance of the city and allow these roads, under the name of the Terminal to charge 25 cents for each passenger entering or leaving the city over the bridge; to be allowed to continue to charge 20 cents a ton for bringing coal into the city from East St. Louis, and an arbitrary on every class of freight regardless of the length of haul within the 100-mile zone. In other words, it says, 'We will redeem our broken promises provided you will give us large additional concessions and allow us to retain our cow, which we can milk to the tune of $1,000,000 to $2,000,000 a year and have the merchants of the city pay for the milk.'"

Will They Charge Press Agent for His Services?

ALAS, the poor old Terminal,
How people do abuse it;
It never did a moment's harm,
And see how ill they use it.

THEY'VE got the dear old company
Now right on the defensive;
It has to hire press agents now,
When boosters are expensive.

THE scribe will tell how gracious
And how kind the arbitrary;
And if he hasn't all reformed,
Of truth he'll be quite chary.

BUSCH APPEALS FROM THE LATEST TERMINAL RULING

The Interstate Commerce Commission will investigate the alleged attempt of the Terminal Association to cripple the Manufacturers' Railway Co., owned by the Busches, by attacking its switching business, and has requested—and the request is equivalent to an order—that the Terminal take no step in carrying out its plans until the whole matter has been reviewed by the commission.

George F. Moore, president of the Busch Railroad, and a former inspector in the service of the Interstate Commerce Commission, made the following statement Friday:

"The Manufacturers' Railway Co., on Jan. 7, presented to the Interstate Commerce Commission a brief, outlining the proposed action of the proprietary lines of the Terminal Railroad Association of St. Louis, stating the effect such action would have on the present operations and future developments of the Manufacturers' Railway.

"The commission has requested all parties interested to withhold action until the whole matter has been reviewed."

The Busch line has been marked for vengeance by the Terminal, it is said, ever since it became known that Adolphus Busch was planning to use the road as the basis for rival terminal facilities for the city. The company possesses an unused franchise by which it can lay tracks from Broadway and Osceola street to the southwestern city limits, thus affording entrance for a proposed trunk line to Arkansas and Texas.

On the east, Mr. Busch's plan was to build a 60-mile belt line from Alton to a point opposite Arsenal Island, tapping all the railroads which belong to the Terminal, and providing miners and manufacturers with an opportunity to send shipments into the city without paying the freight arbitrary. The plan was to cross the river by means of a ferry of freight barges at Arsenal street.

It is said that following the publication of these plans, two attempts were made in January by agents of the Terminal to purchase the Manufacturers' Railway. Failing in this, letters were sent to the company from the offices of the 14 railroads comprising the Terminal, stating that they would not, after March 1, recognize the Manufacturers' Railway as a bona fide switching company, but would consider it as an "industrial railroad," because its chief shipper is the Anheuser-Busch Brewing Association.

Heretofore the trunk lines have charged a through rate for freight to and from St. Louis, and have paid the Manufacturers' Railway for switching in the city out of the through charge. Now, the Busch officials are informed, they will have to look for their switching charges from the shipper, not the railroads. As no reduction in through freight rates has been announced, this is taken to mean that shippers who use the Manufacturers' Railway after March 1 will have to pay twice for their switching in St. Louis, once to the Terminal and once to the company which really does the switching.

In the fight which will occur before the Interstate Commerce Commission, President Moore will have the backing of the Busches and their allied interests and also that of scores of other wealthy industries which they serve in South St. Louis.

Other so-called "industrial" railroads included in the Terminal's campaign against the Busch line are: The Des Peres Valley Railway, the Granite City & Mississippi Valley Railway, the Granite City, Alton & Eastern Railway, the Republic Iron and Steel Railway Co., the St. Louis, Baden & Terminal Co. and the Western Cable Railroad.

BUSINESS MEN ORDER 50,000 ANTI-ARBITRARY CIRCULARS

The West End Business Men's Association, which has a membership of 1000 merchants in the West End and represents several millions of property, has inaugurated a campaign against the Terminal Railroad Association. Fifty thousand copies of a resolution passed by the Association urging the City Council to persevere in its stand against the Terminal and an equal number of copies of history of the Terminal were ordered printed Friday.

The history of the Terminal tells of the 30-year fight of the city to throw off the arbitrary. It was written by John W. Shevlin, chairman of the Legislative Committee of the West End Business Men's League and read at a meeting of the Association Thursday. This committee was instructed by the Association to inaugurate the campaign. As a result the order was given to printers Friday to turn out the literature.

OVERWORK AND WORRY, SHATTERED NERVES, AND BROKEN SLEEP

Prostrated This Galveston Man, but He Improved Rapidly Under the Proper Treatment and Was Cured.

There is absolutely no way of reaching the nerves with medicine except through the blood. The nerves receive all of their nourishment and support from the blood, which, under healthful conditions, carries the elements needed to rebuild wasted nerve tissue.

Let the blood become deranged and deficient in these elements and the nerves will be badly nourished and headaches, neuralgia, sciatica, functional paralysis and a host of other nervous troubles may result.

There is, therefore, no mystery about the fact that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are both a blood builder and a nerve tonic, nothing unrecognized by science in the power of these pills to cure severe nervous disorders as well as diseases of the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a specific for anaemia, or deficiency of blood. Hence they are a remedy for all nervous diseases which result from, or thrive under, anaemic conditions.

Mr. C. H. Jones of No. 230½ Avenue B, Galveston, Tex., dealer in interior lands, recommends Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for nervous troubles. He says:

"Some years ago I was suffering from nervous prostration, which was caused by overwork and lack of outdoor exercise. It was an effort for me to do anything and I felt at times as though I couldn't live. The nervousness caused a jerking sensation in my muscles. My sleep was disturbed and I would frequently wake up with a start through the night.

"I grew worse for two years and then began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I had tried several kinds of medicines, but without help. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills began to help me while I was on the third box and from then on I improved rapidly until I was cured. The benefit I received was marvelous and the pills did all they were recommended to do."

Write for a free copy of our new booklet, "Diseases of the Nervous System." It will be sent on postal card request.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

STANDARD OIL KEEPS HARNESS ON HORSES A WEEK AT A TIME

Driver for Richest Corporation Fined on Charge of Cruelty to Animals.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 14.—The arrest of E. W. Ripple, a teamster employed by the Standard Oil Co., on the charge of cruelty to animals and the imposing of a fine in the Municipal Court, has brought out the fact, according to the Humane Society, that the teams belonging to the wealthiest corporation in the world frequently go from Monday until Saturday without having their harness removed.

Patrolman Hargis told the Court that he frequently saw Standard Oil teams returning to the barn as late as 2 o'clock in the morning and that employes had told him that was no uncommon thing for the teams to remain in harness from the beginning to the end of the week. As the company has its offices in Kansas, the humane officials are unable to bring the real offenders into court.

HERE'S NEWS FOR NOSES IF YOU HAVE A NOSE FOR NEWS!

Two ancient and honorable old friends of yours and of mine, and of all of us, well known to your father and mother and the grandfathers and grandmothers before them, have been stricken from the rolls, disgraced and dismissed in utter contempt—the outcasts of the medicine chest! Salt water and glycerine have been found out; also they are getting themselves put out. The doctors have discovered that salt water and glycerine are positive and downright injuries to the inflamed membranes which accompany severe colds and which are a sure symptom of acute catarrh, a regular epidemic of which is now raging in all this part of the country. But as they say in the old country, "The King is dead, long live the King!" just so it is in little old St. Louis, for we have a new remedy which the doctors are raving about, as the millennium of remedies, just simply a mild, gentle antiseptic blended with the oil of eucalyptus, a preparation of phenol, a touch of lavender, etc. On the proprietary side, the best blend of these wonderful ingredients in most convenient form for family and home use is handled by all St. Louis drug stores under the proprietary name of King's Antiseptic Catarrh Cream. This antiseptic cream is said to hold the essential elements in exactly the proper balance to bring out the maximum effect of each. The new scientific remedy, too, like all the really worthy helpful things of nature, is inexpensive and is purchasable at any drug store at a cost of 25 cents for one box.

The real importance of this article, aside from its place in therapeutics, is the fact that it affords instant relief from the pain incident to acute catarrh, and which at this season of the year is the cause of almost universal distress and much actual suffering.—ADV.

LAMPHERE MADE CONFESSION THAT WAS CONSISTENT

Story as Published in the Post-Dispatch Agrees With Known Facts.

HOW IT WAS OBTAINED

Man Who Heard It Repeated It on Pledge That Name Would Not Be Given.

The confession of Ray Lamphere, solving the Gunness murder farm mystery, first given to the world Thursday by the Post-Dispatch, in an exclusive copyrighted story and reproduced Thursday evening and Friday morning by newspapers all over the country, by permission of the Post-Dispatch, was everywhere read with great interest and is the subject of widespread discussion.

The effect of the revelations was emphasized by the fact that they came at a time when the public had come to believe that the story of Ray Lamphere would never be told. On the advice of his attorneys he had not gone on the stand in his own defense when he was on trial for his life in the Circuit Court at Laporte, Ind., more than a year ago. He had gone mutely to his punishment in the Indiana Penitentiary at Michigan City. He had died there.

It was known that he had made a confession to the Rev. Dr. Edwin A. Schell, formerly pastor of the Methodist Church at Laporte, now president of the Iowa Wesleyan University at Mount Pleasant, Io. After every conceivable pressure, argument and inducement had been brought to bear on the Rev. Dr. Schell because of the nation-wide desire to know the secrets of the Gunness murder farm, he had made a final firm refusal to reveal the confession of Ray Lamphere, holding that the confidences he had received were hedged about by the inviolability of the confessional.

Minister Keeps Silent.

The failure of the attempt to get the confession from the Rev. Dr. Schell had been told in the newspapers everywhere and it was everywhere believed that the last word had been spoken and that the story of Ray Lamphere would never be known.

It was several days after the Rev. Dr. Schell had given his decision that a Post-Dispatch staff correspondent came into possession of the details of the confession from an unexpected source.

The confession, as printed in Thursday's Post-Dispatch, was reprinted all over the country because the Post-Dispatch stood back of it, notwithstanding the fact that the name of the man from whom it was obtained could not be given. In newspaper offices it is well understood that valuable information is often obtained under an inviolable pledge of confidence, and that such a pledge is never broken unless the newspaper is released by the person to whom it is made.

Wanted Identity Concealed.

The Post-Dispatch staff correspondent made every effort to induce the person from whom the confession was obtained to permit his name to be used. He agreed that the world ought to know the truth about Lamphere's story, but, for reasons which he considered too strong to be set aside, he stipulated that his identity should not be revealed.

The confession, as printed, contains elements that are in conflict with hitherto accepted facts, and for that reason officials and attorneys at Laporte to whom it was repeated before it was published, were incredulous, although admitting that, according to accepted rules of credibility, the conflicting elements tended to establish the genuineness of the confession.

The statement that Jennie Olson was not murdered by Mrs. Gunness, but was chloroformed by Lamphere and burned in the house is an illustration. This is so strongly at variance with all the evidence heretofore available that it is difficult to imagine an explanation of it other than that it is the truth, or was believed by Lamphere to be the truth.

There is, of course, the possibility that the young girl he said he chloroformed as she lay sleeping was not Jennie Olson, as he supposed, but another whose identity, if such is the case, brings another mystery into the case.

Lamphere May Have Falsified.

The Post-Dispatch has not vouched for the truthfulness of Ray Lamphere in the confession he made. Everything that he said may have been true or he may have told only part of the truth or he may have told nothing but lies. The Post-Dispatch does assert that the confession as printed was the confession substantially as Lamphere made it.

The only way in which the Lamphere confession can be tested is by squaring it to the known facts. There is nothing in the known facts nor in the accepted conclusions to destroy the credibility of the confession. It is known that Lamphere slept the night of the fire at the cabin of Lizzie Smith and that he left there before dawn.

He admitted to Prosecutor Smith that he went out the road past the Gunness farm which was not on his route to the Wheatbrook farm, which was his destination. He told Mr. Smith he was in front of the house when he saw smoke coming from it. He was seen running across fields away from the burning house.

Mrs. Gunness and her three children were burned in the house. The fact that none of them awoke soon enough to escape bears out the supposition that they were chloroformed. There is no convincing proof that Jennie Olson was not also burned.

The identification of the parts of a girl's body dug up in the farmyard was based only on size. It is entirely believable that her body could have been so completely destroyed by the flames that the fragments would have been supposed to belong to the bodies of Mrs. Gunness and the children. It is a fact that a bucketful of fragments of bones was gathered after the fire which could not be identified.

Name of Woman Is Known.

Lamphere's statement that he had a woman accomplice, although there has been no suspicion of this heretofore, is entirely worthy of belief. The Post-Dispatch is in possession of the name of the woman he said was his accomplice.

The Post-Dispatch, realizing that the public would want to know the name of the man who received the confession printed Thursday, made every effort to induce the man to consent to the use of his name. He would not consent, but conceded that the world had a right to know Lamphere's story and consented that the details be made known if the Post-Dispatch would not reveal the source of its information.

This promise was made and the name of the man who received the confession of Ray Lamphere will never be made known by the Post-Dispatch unless permission is given by this man, which now seems highly improbable.

Why Does Not the Stomach Digest Itself?

An Unsolvable Problem, Which Has Puzzled Physicians of All Schools.

A Trial Package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Sent Free.

There seems to be no logical reason why the stomach should not digest itself when we consider the fact that it secretes digestive fluids and acids which are powerful enough to disintegrate and digest meats, eggs, fruits, cereals, vegetables and other forms of food taken into it.

In animals which were killed while in full digestion the stomach has undergone complete self-digestion after death, when the body was kept warm; and in human beings who have died suddenly, while digestion was going on, it was found at the autopsy that not only had the stomach been digested, but also the liver, pancreas, spleen and portions of the intestines.

The question naturally presents itself, "What protects the stomach from self-digestion during life?" Dr. Hunter declared that the "principle of life" in living things protected this organ from being digested by its own fluids, but Dr. Barnard successfully demonstrated that the hind legs of a living frog, when introduced through a fistula or artificial opening into the stomach of a dog, undergoes complete digestion, and Dr. Pavy, through similar experiment, found that the same was true of a rabbit's ear.

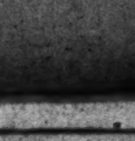

While the normal stomach is immune from self-digestion, there are many cases on record, however, in which a long-standing gastritis, and perverted digestion, has completely digested or eaten away the mucous membrane lining of the stomach, and in some instances has engendered gastric ulcer which ate its way clear through the stomach wall, and caused a fatal peritonitis.

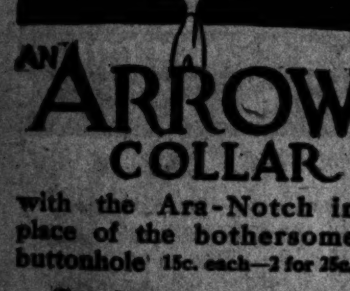

In all cases of perverted function of the stomach, which manifests itself by the numerous well-known symptoms of indigestion and dyspepsia, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets act as a corrective, restoring it to a normal condition, toning up the secretory glands, as well as the lacteal glands, which absorb the food, and at the same time assisting the stomach in the process of digestion, and preventing all possibility of such conditions arising as will cause perverted function, gastritis, gastric ulcer, or the eating away of the mucous membrane of the stomach.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are exceedingly powerful digestives, a single grain being sufficient to digest 3000 grains of food, including meats, vegetables, cereals, etc. They digest albumenous and starchy foods equally well. Whenever the stomach is in a weakened condition, and so lacking in tone that it furnishes an insufficient amount of gastric juice, such symptoms as heartburn, billousness, headache, belching of gas and sour eructations are sure to appear, and make on feel generally miserable.

Such symptoms can, however, be overcome and done away with at once. Simply take one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and forget all about your digestive troubles. They do their work promptly and thoroughly, every particle of food being completely digested, and fermentation, decomposition and flatulence and heaviness in stomach after eating, relieved and cured. Purchase a box from your druggist today, price 50 cents. Also send us your name and address for free sample. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

Men have confidence in our clothing

FROM the start this great clearing sale has met with a most gratifying response, and great crowds continue to reap the benefit of the tremendous reductions which have prevailed during the past few weeks. Unrestricted choice of the house of

Men's finest $22.50 to $30.00 overcoats for . . $12.00

THIS sale has been the means of considerable saving to hundreds of men, and now we have a thousand overcoats left which offer equal opportunities to the economical.

These coats are the product of such tailors as Schloss Bros. & Co., Washington Tailors; "The L System;" the House of Kuppenheimer; Rochester Special, and others of equal prominence. Such a cut in prices is on account of an extra heavy overcoat stock for this time and the desire to reduce it before inventory.

All the popular models are shown, including the Chesterfield, Stratford, Presto and Protector styles, and only the best and most approved fabrics are used; both fancy weaves and plain blacks; all sizes, all lengths; positive $22.50, $25, $27.50 and $30 overcoats, special tomorrow at $12

$15 to $20 suits and overcoats, $9.75

WE purchased this clothing at a very special price, and its quality is in no wise indicated by what we charge for it. These are high-grade garments, every one well made and of the very best all-wool materials.

All the newest styles are shown in the most approved weaves and popular colorings. The overcoats include the nobby Protector as well as more conservative models.

Every garment is worth $15, $17.50 or $20, but will go Saturday $9.75

Men's $5, $6 and $7.50 trousers, $3.95

FOR the benefit of those who failed to attend our great pants sale, we shall continue it tomorrow, and offer the same bargain opportunities! These pants were bought of a well-known maker greatly under price, and include all the handsome new fabrics in worsteds, cassimeres and cheviots; perfect in fit and workmanship; $5, $6 and $7.50 pants, Saturday $3.95

Boys' $6 to $10 overcoats, $3.75

Ages 10 to 16 years; strictly all-wool fancy cheviots, kerseys and novelty cloths; in the ¾-length style; plain or velvet collars; odd-and-end lot of this season's best sellers; overcoats that sold for $6 to $10, tomorrow for $3.75

ENDS LIFE YEAR AFTER WIFE DIED

Photographer Told Friend He Would Die on Anniversary.

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—James Burton, a widely known marine photographer, committed suicide last night at Lynbrook (L. I.) Club on the anniversary of the death of his wife, who died by her own act a year ago. He said early this week, to a friend:

"I have only two days more to live. I shall die on the anniversary of the day my wife left me for a better world."

HOW SOME ST. LOUIS NOTABLES WOULD LOOK IF THEY FOLLOWED THE ILGENFRITZ IDEA

THIS illustrates how some of our prominent citizens would look if McNair Ilgenfritz's ideas in fashions were generally observed. Ilgenfritz appeared at receptions recently with a metal snake instead of a neck scarf, and wore an astrakhan muff to the Morning Choral concert.

ALAS, "ILGY" HAS GONE! AND, ALACK, TO THAT CHICAGO!

Dilettante Betakes Himself and Muff to Windy City.

Just as St. Louis society is felicitating itself on the return of McNair Ilgenfritz, pianist and dilettante, he has gone again.

With his astrakhan muff, which he surprised society by carrying at the Odeon a few nights ago, packed daintily in his compartment trunk, he has sought, not the mild breezes of the Gulf Coast, or the languid comforts of the Riviera, but the windswept streets of Chicago.

Why "Ilgy" should return to Chicago puzzled those of his society friends who learned Friday of his departure. They knew he had been there, but they thought, from the fact of his return, that he had found Chicago a chilly receptacle for estheticism and had decided to give St. Louis the benefit of his innovations in future.

Realizing that his departure would be a blow, "Ilgy" strove to soften the blow by the promise that he would return to St. Louis. The time he left somewhat indefinite, so that whenever the social season gets dull it may be possible for fagged-out fashionables to flutter the C Q D signal.

So, just before his departure "Ilgy" said to a Post-Dispatch reporter:

"I will return to St. Louis to give a concert, either at the Odeon or in the ballroom of the Woman's Club—I have not definitely determined which. As to the date of this concert, under the advice of Mrs. J. L. D. Morrison, my chief patroness and sponsor in St. Louis, it will not be until considerably later in the season.

"I am still a very loyal St. Louisan at heart, but feel that Chicago offers me a better field for my concert work at the present stage of my career."

$1000 TO FIGHT TUBERCULOSIS

Memorial Gift by Mr. Peters to Aid in Building Sanitarium.

Francis H. Peters, a director of the Peters Shoe Co., has given $1000 towards the erection of a tuberculosis sanitarium, as a memorial to his son Frank, 21 years old, who died of consumption three months ago at San Antonio, Tex.

The situation of the proposed sanitarium is still uncertain. The Society for the Relief and Prevention of Tuberculosis owns property in Kirkwood, but the town forbade building the hospital within its limits. The society reports that $679.40 was realized from the sale of Red Cross stamps during Christmas week, and that reports on $380 worth of stamps are still to be received.

MEN HE SENTENCED 16 YEARS AGO INNOCENT, JUDGE THINKS

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—In a letter to Gov. Deneen pleading for two life convicts in the Joliet Penitentiary, Judge H. V. Freeman says he believes he sentenced innocent men and asks that the pardon board make reparation before freeing them.

The prisoners, Thomas McNally and Charles Kurth, have been in the penitentiary nearly sixteen years. They, with a companion, Edward Warren, were convicted of the murder of James Prunty and his son, Peter, in November, 1893. Warren died in prison several years ago.

15th ANNIVERSARY SALE OF Nemo CORSETS

TRIPLE STORE — INTRODUCING THE NEW LASTIKOPS BANDLET

Perfection In Corsets

Many thousands of women have already convinced themselves that the new Nemo No. 522 is the GREATEST corset ever made.

Stout women—even those who were already wearing the other Self-Reducing Corsets—find that No. 522 still further reduces their figures by from 2 to 4 inches.

Women of medium and even slight figure are buying No. 522 because it produces extreme slenderness with perfect comfort.

And it's a WONDERFUL VALUE at $5.00.

The new "Lastikops Bandlet" takes the place of the best abdominal belt you can buy at from $5 to $15—does better work, can't slip (therefore is more comfortable), and lasts longer than any belt; yet you get it WITHOUT EXTRA CHARGE in the new—

Nemo Self-Reducing with Lastikops Bandlet $5.00

The "Bandlet" is semi-elastic, curves under the abdomen, holds the internal organs firmly in place—lace as tight as you like, for it won't harm you. And the front steels can't stick out below when you sit down—that's VERY IMPORTANT.

Other Nemos $3 to $10.00

Don't fail to attend the Nemo Fifteenth Anniversary Sale, now on in good stores everywhere.

EXPRESS RATES ASSAILED UNDER POST ROADS ACT

Arkansas Attorney Urges Railroad Board Stop Traffic in Mailable Packages.

MINIMUM 4 POUNDS

Enforcement of Federal Clause Would Lift St. Louis Arbitrary, He Argues.

SEND COMPLAINTS ON EXPRESS ARBITRARY TO THE POST-DISPATCH

PERSONS having complaints against the express companies for delivery charges beyond certain fixed limits in the city are requested to send them to the Post-Dispatch. The complaints will be turned over to the Missouri Railroad and Warehouse Commission for investigation.

Attorney Nathan B. Williams of Fayetteville, Ark., has requested the Missouri Railroad and Warehouse Commissioner to examine the post-roads clause of the Federal Constitution and the acts of Congress thereunder, which he holds make it unlawful for any express company to carry for hire over post-routes any mailable article whatever.

Williams laid this same complaint before the Interstate Commerce Commission in Washington Thursday. He declared to the commission that it was without legal authority to make express rates on packages weighing less than four pounds. As all rail and water routes are post-roads, the contention of Mr. Williams, if upheld by the Interstate Commerce Commission, will prohibit the express companies from carrying small packages.

In his letter to the Missouri Railroad and Warehouse Commission Williams states that he has been delving into the question of the legal and constitutional relation of express companies to the postal service for three years, and has come to the conclusion that the law and the constitution absolutely prohibit express companies from carrying mailable articles.

Small Parcels by Mail Free.

Small express packages, such as might come by mail and be delivered free in any part of St. Louis or its suburbs, are delivered by express companies beyond their fixed limits of free delivery at a cost of 25 cents, in addition to the regular express rate from point of origin to St. Louis. They are a source of great revenue, not only to the express companies proper, but to the local express company that makes deliveries in arbitrary territory.

"Any rate regulating body such as yours," Mr. Williams writes to the Railroad Commission, "is hardly fulfilling its duty to the nation and the people thereof, including your own people of Missouri, unless you see to it that no express company has any rate or rates whatever for the carriage of mailable matter between points and places within the State of Missouri.

"Such carriage is in contravention of the laws of the United States and you should not knowingly and passively permit such violations within your jurisdiction."

Williams says he has written a thorough brief on the question, which will be issued from the press Feb. 15. As a starter in the investigation, Williams requests the commission to examine section 181 of the new Criminal Code of the United States, effective Jan. 1, 1910.

Williams' letter will receive the attention of the commission when it meets St. Louis Jan. 24 to investigate complaints against the express companies for failure to make free delivery of packages throughout the city.

Many Write to Wightman.

Chairman Frank A. Wightman, upon his return to his home in Monett, found many letters of complaint waiting for him. They were forwarded to him from the St. Louis office. He sent them to Secretary Bradbury in Jefferson City to be answered.

The Twenty-seventh Ward Improvement Association has taken up the fight against the express arbitrary. The Association commended the Post-Dispatch for publishing facts concerning the arbitrary.

"We, living in this part of the city, believe this extra charge is unjust—in short, a hold-up," Secretary Sam L. Winner writes. "We will be glad to be of any assistance we can in the fight. With additional charges on freight and express, as they now are in St. Louis, we will never have a million population."

The delivery charges are often higher than the express rates from point of origin to St. Louis. The Pacific Express Co. made a charge of 60 cents for carrying a package addressed to H. Osteryoung, 1629 Arlington avenue, from San Antonio, Tex., to St. Louis, and the local express company charged 70 cents for delivering it from Union Station to Osteryoung's home. The package contained a pillow cushion weighing about three pounds. Osteryoung says many packages have been delivered at his home with extra charges of 25 and 30 cents tacked on by the local company.

Federal Tax to Be Protested.

A formal protest, drawn up by Attorney Arthur G. Mosley, will accompany the payment by members of the Manufacturers' Association of the Federal corporation tax. This action was decided at a meeting of the executive committee of the organization Thursday. Each member of the association will be furnished with a copy of the protest. Mosley is general counsel of the association.

PASTORS HEAR CHURCH GOSSIP BETWEEN ACTS

Ministers Attend the Performance of "A Gentleman From Mississippi."

THEY LIKE THE PLAY

Critics of the Stage Find Nothing to Condemn in Show at Century.

Gossip between the acts at the Century Theater Thursday night was not all about frocks and stocks. Amid the small talk commonly heard along the aisles there were interspersed earnest conversations about the pew rental soon to be held by "our church," or about the latest plans for the new parsonage.

For the ministers and their wives were there, the guests of the management, to see "A Gentlemen From Mississippi." The ministers looked around, some of them rather nervously, when they first entered, then picked up courage as they saw other clergymen in adjoining rows, and soon they were enjoying the show and repeating in loud whispers the passages which they thought their wives hadn't heard.

The Rev. Dr. McKittrick, one of the committee which is preparing a censorship plan, sat in the parquet near Rabbi Moritz Spitz. Near him was Pastor M. H. Lichliter of the Maple Avenue Church, who declared in his sermon last Sunday against the Mauze censorship plan. Dr. J. W. Day of the Church of the Messiah sat a little in front of Rabbi Messing, and Dr. Pedro Ilgen was near by.

Dr. Meeker Is Present.

The Rev. Jacob E. Meeker, who has preached sermons preliminay to Sunday evening theatrical performances at Suburban Garden, was well up in front. Rector Binnington of the new Church of the Ascension and the Rev. P. W. Fauntleroy were two of the Episcopal ministers present. The German clergy was represented by Pastors Klick, Daues, Walz, Fink, Dorn and Kramer.

Few Catholic priest were seen, one of them being Father Zielinski. Dr. Duckworth, who is soon to marry a former actress, is listed by the management as having attended. Others were the Rev. J. T. Sullivan, the Rev. William Cochran, the Rev. F. A. Mayhall, the Rev. H. J. Morgan, the Rev. W. G. Hatch, the Rev. J. W. Garvin, Rabbi Sale, the Rev. D. B. Miller, and, according to the management, the Rev. Elizabeth Price. No record of Mrs. Price's position appears in local church registers.

Hundreds Were Invited.

The management got the names of 35 ministers in all, as being present. Some of the 480 who were invited will attend on another evening.

Dr. McKittrick said Friday: "I enjoyed the play greatly. Its moral tone was very good. If all our plays were of that order there would be no occasion for complaint against the theater."

Pastor Meeker also spoke approvingly of the play, and said he thought the ministers generally were pleased with it.

YOUTHS FLIRT WITH WAITRESS, THEN BEAT THE PROPRIETORS

West End Trio Attack Restaurant Keepers When Gallantry to Girl Is Resented.

Three West End youths were arraigned in the Clark Avenue Police Court Friday morning on a charge of beating Chris and Anton Demas, restaurant keepers at 509 North Vandeventer, who resented the gallantries of the young men towards their pretty 18-year-old waitress, Miss Clara Banon.

According to the police, the men were Alfred E. Wood, 44 Portland place; Thomas S. Noonan, 4129 McPherson avenue, and Thomas A. Blincoe, 3921A Olive street. After remaining several hours in the Newstead Avenue Police Station Thursday night, they were released on bond. The Blue Book does not show that persons of these names live at the addresses given.

The youths had been drinking, it is said, and one of them attempted to embrace and kiss Miss Banon, while another called Miss Ruby Berry, who was visiting her, a "dear sweet thing." Chris and Anton came to their defense and were beaten with clubs, they say. Both were treated at the West End Dispensary for scalp wounds.

BEATEN BY ROBBERS, HE DECLARES, IN HIS OWN ROOM

Man Also Says Thieves Abused Him for Not Having More Than $4.90.

Samuel Hack told the police of Central District that two robbers entered his room at Fourteenth and Market streets early Friday and aroused him by beating him on the head.

"Where's your money?" Hack said the robbers asked him. "Tell us where you've hidden it, or we'll beat you to death.

"I told them all the money I had was in my trousers which were hanging on a chair in the room," said Hack. "They found $4.90, and when they counted it out they began beating me again. They told me I ought to have been ashamed of myself for not having more money. They said they had twice that much themselves. When I called for help, they ran."

Hundreds Were Invited.

The management got the names of 35 ministers in all, as being present. Some of the 480 who were invited will attend on another evening.

Dr. McKittrick said Friday: "I enjoyed the play greatly. Its moral tone was very good. If all our plays were of that order there would be no occasion for complaint against the theater."

Pastor Meeker also spoke approvingly of the play, and said he thought the ministers generally were pleased with it.

YOUTHS FLIRT WITH WAITRESS, THEN BEAT THE PROPRIETORS

West End Trio Attack Restaurant Keepers When Gallantry to Girl Is Resented.

Three West End youths were arraigned in the Clark Avenue Police Court Friday morning on a charge of beating Chris and Anton Demas, restaurant keepers at 509 North Vandeventer, who resented the gallantries of the young men towards their pretty 18-year-old waitress, Miss Clara Banon.

According to the police, the men were Alfred E. Wood, 44 Portland place; Thomas S. Noonan, 4129 McPherson avenue, and Thomas A. Blincoe, 3921A Olive street. After remaining several hours in the Newstead Avenue Police Station Thursday night, they were released on bond. The Blue Book does not show that persons of these names live at the addresses given.

The youths had been drinking, it is said, and one of them attempted to embrace and kiss Miss Banon, while another called Miss Ruby Berry, who was visiting her, a "dear sweet thing." Chris and Anton came to their defense and were beaten with clubs, they say. Both were treated at the West End Dispensary for scalp wounds.

BEATEN BY ROBBERS, HE DECLARES, IN HIS OWN ROOM

Man Also Says Thieves Abused Him for Not Having More Than $4.90.

Samuel Hack told the police of Central District that two robbers entered his room at Fourteenth and Market streets early Friday and aroused him by beating him on the head.

"Where's your money?" Hack said the robbers asked him. "Tell us where you've hidden it, or we'll beat you to death.

"I told them all the money I had was in my trousers which were hanging on a chair in the room," said Hack. "They found $4.90, and when they counted it out they began beating me again. They told me I ought to have been ashamed of myself for not having more money. They said they had twice that much themselves. When I called for help, they ran."

THE CONFLICT OF LOVE AND FAT

The average man will "jolly" with the stout girl; but he steals glances over her shoulder at that Miss Slender. He would sooner hold the hands of the latter in a famous silence than really enjoy himself with the other. Such is the power of line. Just a line—from chin to toe, or nape to heel—that's all. But it rings the merry marriage bell.

Fat women should not repine—but refine—their own lines by means of that phenomenal—the Marmola Tablet. No exercising or dieting is necessary. Simply take one tablet after each meal and at bedtime, and in a little while the overplus of fat—the coarseness of aspect—will disappear. The figure will become slight enough to permit of a maidenly contour, a pure outline, being fashioned with corset and gown. Then victory—if not revenge.

Although Marmola Tablets often take off uniformly a pound of flabby fat a day, they are quite harmless (being made of the famous fashionable prescription, ⅜ oz. Marmola, ½ oz. Fl. Ex. Cascara Aromatic, 3½ oz. Peppermint Water). Consequently, even timid ones are safe in using them, for no ill—not even a wrinkle or stomach ache—will follow their use; seventy-five cents secures a large case at any druggist's or by mail from the Marmola Co., 190 Farmer Bldg., Detroit, Mich. WIFE GETS DIVORCE FROM STATE SENATOR KRONE, WHOM SHE SAYS HAD BAD TEMPER

She Testifies That Ill Humor Developed "About the Time of the Boodle Trials."

Mrs. Edna V. Krone Friday obtained a divorce by default from State Senator Charles F. Krone in Judge Shields' division of the Circuit Court. She alleged cruelty and bad temper on the part of Krone and in answer to a question by Judge Shields, said that the Senator's ill-humor became noticeable "along about the time of the boodle trials."

The Krones were married June 6, 1897, and lived together until last October, one week after the marriage of Mrs. Krone's daughter, Madeline. Krone left his wife, she alleged, following a quarrel about the daughter's marriage to William H. Stamm.

Asked to tell of specific instances of Krone's bad temper, Mrs. Krone said that he told her "to keep her mouth shut" at Gov. Hadley's inaugural reception. On other occasions he called her a fool, and five years ago he grasped her wrist so tightly in a quarrel on the street that the arm is still affected, she said.

Mrs. Krone's testimony was corroborated by Mrs. Stamm, the daughter, and several other witnesses. She appeared in court in a lavender gown, with gray hat and gray automobile veil. She spoke almost inaudibly until Judge Eachritz, her lawyer, told her to speak so that all in the room might hear.

No alimony was asked, but Judge Shields ordered that Mrs. Krone be given the deed to the family home at 3316 Juniata avenue, where she now lives.

PIANOLA RECITAL SATURDAY.

Mrs. Morris Skrainka, a favorite St. Louis soprano, will be the soloist at tomorrow afternoon's Pianola Recital in Aeolian Hall, with Mr. Serge L. Hallman at the pianola and organ. The program numbers include Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream" overture, De Sarasate's "Zigeunerweisen—Op. 20," the "Je suis Titania," from Ambroise Thomas' "Mignon," by Mrs. Skrainka; Tschaikowsky's "Andante for String Quartet, Op. 11," on the Aeolian pipe organ; Henselt's "Etude, No. 11;" Rosenthal's "Study of Chopin Valse," Gregh's "Les Bergers-Watteau;" Tosti's "La Serenata," by Mrs. Skrainka. No admission cards required.

DANIEL G. REID PUNCHES WAITER IN CAFE MARTIN

Celebration Is Compared to Circumstances of Rock Island Deal.

IS A LAVISH SPENDER

After Hitting Restaurant Employe Assailant Gives Him $50 as Balm.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Daniel G. Reid, whose connection with the recent Rock Island "skyrocking" is an open secret and is generally believed to have given S. B. Chapin & Co. the order to buy 40,000 shares, which order caused their suspension from the Stock Exchange, played a part in a different drama when, at a party he was giving at Martin's Cafe, he punched a waiter on the jaw. Later he apologized and gave the waiter a $50 bill.

Mr. Reid is 6 feet tall and weighs 250 pounds. He is usually quiet and self-possessed, but at other times he is given to excitement. His friends say that the blow was struck in jest, but the waiter was unable to see the joke until a balm in the way of a yellow back had been applied.

Those who are familiar with the situation in Wall street insisted upon making a comparison between this occurrence and the condition of affairs during Christmas week, when the Rock Island episode had its beginning.

Mr. Reid was a lavish entertainer during the holidays, and many were the tips given out by those close to him, particularly a young broker of whom he is fond, to "buy Rock Island."

Mr. Reid, in the public mind, is the Rock Island Co. With Judge Moore he is generally credited with owning, not only the greater part of the Rock Island Railroad, but the holding company with its various ramifications as well.

On several occasions when Mr. Reid's methods of enjoyment have aroused comment press agents in his employ have sought to smooth matters over, so that the resultant gossip might not become too widespread. They have endeavored to decry the rumor that their principal was in any way connected with the Rock Island incident. Likewise they attempted to deny the Martin affair.

The inside history of the Rock Island deal, with the names of all involved, may never be told officially. So far as can be gleaned, however, from facts well known, it is this:

A millionaire head of the Rock Island system decided at Christmas time to execute a coup in the stock market and clean up a million dollars. He gave the necessary instructions to the man who had always been in charge of such transactions and went on with his Christmas celebration. These orders contemplated the purchase of 40,000 shares by one set of brokers and the sale by another set of a sufficient number of shares to give a semblance of legitimate trading to the game, but enable the gamblers to reap good profits from real investors or speculators who had sold the stock short in expectation of a drop.

The friend decided to gather in a few dollars himself before the orders of his chief could be executed. In attempting this he caused a bigger advance in the price of the stock than he had contemplated, owing to the fact that the men who had been intrusted with the counteracting selling orders could not get to the exchange in time because of the blizzard that struck the town the night previous. Those to whom the buying orders had been intrusted were there, and when those of the chief followed those of the friend the market became panic-stricken, with the result that quotations advanced more than 30 points in less than 15 minutes, and fell as rapidly as soon as the selling brokers reached the floor.

UNION ELECTRIC'S FRANCHISE VALUE OMINOUS TO PUBLIC

If Permitted to Hold It as Asset, Rate Increase Would Have Color of Justice.

The question, "What value do you put on your franchise?" which the Public Service Commission has instructed the officers of the Union Electric Light and Power Co. to be ready to answer within the near future, is regarded about the City Hall as ominous.

The query is expected to bring up the controversy as to whether a franchise is to be regarded as an asset, on which dividends may be earned. The New York Public Service Commission, which is the model of that of St. Louis, has held that a franchise of a public service corporation is not an asset unless it was paid for in cash to the community, and cannot therefore be used to justify higher rates. The Union Electric's franchise did not cost it a cent that the city ever received.

The Union company boosted its estimate of the value of its franchise from $3,500,000 in 1908 to $5,000,000 in 1909, in its returns to the Assessor's office. According to this statement, the franchise is worth far more than the entire personal property and real estate owned by the company, which it estimates at $1,213,000.

If the Public Service Commission should permit the Union company to include the alleged value of its franchise among its assets, the consumers of St. Louis might be compelled in time to pay interest on an extra $5,000,000—a consummation which would give a strong color of justice to any proposal to raise the lighting rates.

HALF SAMOANS HAVE HOOKWORM

U. S. Naval Surgeon Finds Islanders in Advanced Stage.

PAGO PAGO, Dec. 9, via San Francisco, Jan. 14.—From 40 to 50 per cent of the natives of the Samoan Islands are infected with hookworm. This is the statement of Past Assistant Surgeon R. S. Rossiter, U. S. N., senior medical officer of the naval station at Tutuila.

Mr. Rossiter also found one white man and several halfbreeds in advanced stages of the disease.

BURGLAR GETS WOMEN'S JEWELS

Operates While Family Is at Dinner.

From the roof of an adjoining vacant dwelling a burglar climbed through a third-story window into the home of Mrs. Minnie Lieber, 3943A McPherson avenue, Thursday evening, and while the family was at dinner ransacked the rooms on the second and third floors.

Jewelry belonging to Mrs. Lieber and her daughter Edna, valued at several hundred dollars, was stolen.

MONK WHO DESIGNED NEW ST. ANTHONY CHURCH

LOVE LORN SOON WILL WOO CUPID AT A NEW SHRINE

"Monks' Church," Long Mecca of the Heart-Weary, to Pass Sunday.

MEMORY DEAR TO MANY Society Woman and Factory Girl Alike Sought Advice at Its Altar.

Cupid will have a new temple when the "Monks' Church," as St. Anthony's is called, moves next Sunday into its costly new edifice at Meramec street and Michigan avenue.

For many years the gray stone church of St. Anthony, a picturesque and old-world feature in the scenery of South St. Louis, has been the resort of women and girls from all parts of the city, who sought help in their love affairs from the church's patron saint.

Society women and factory girls alike were wont to pray to St. Anthony in their homes, or at their own parish churches for a happy outcome of the often sad and perplexed state of their affections. Then, as a final act of devotion, they would go to the Monks' Church, confess to one of the Franciscan Fathers from the near-by monastery and make a special prayer and offering at the saint's shrine.

The saint's help was invoked not only by those who were distressed by lovers' quarrels, or who were uncertain of their feelings toward their suitors, but also by those who had no suitors, and who went to beseech the saint that they might not remain husbandless and unsought.

Gifts Often Are Reward.

Those whose prayers were rewarded often returned and enriched the shrine and the church with their gifts. The custom has continued in some degree to the present time, and the church frequently is visited by women of other parishes.

The shrine of St. Anthony will be a prominent and beautiful feature of the new church which, built from the design of a member of the order, is one of the most costly and beautiful in St. Louis.

Brother Anselm, who, before he became a monk, was Anselm Wolff, a successful architect in Munich, Bavaria, is the designer of the new building. His services have been rendered without professional fee, and he estimates the building, whose cost has been $145,000, would have cost nearly $200,000 under the usual system of architect's salary and contract-letting. For he has employed the labor required, without the intervention of any contractor, and has supervised every detail of the work.

The $145,000 covers the building, pews, windows and lighting fixtures. An additional expense of $75,000 has been incurred for altars, paintings, windows and organ.

Dedication to Be Sunday.

The building is of Romanesque type. Two towers are the principal exterior ornament. Within, the entire wall is covered with paintings. The length is 226 feet, or 205 feet in the main auditorium, the width 68½ feet, width of transept 90 feet and the height of the nave 62 feet. Sixteen marble and onyx columns stand in the aisles, and there are four side altars, with one main altar 45 feet high.

Mgr. Diamede Falconio, apostolic delegate to the United States, and a member of the Franciscan order, will take a prominent part in the dedication ceremonies Sunday, with Archbishop Glennon and a number of bishops and monsignors. The building was commenced nearly two years ago, and the cornerstone was laid July 4 last.

JOHN R. WALSH SIGNS PAPERS WHICH COST HIM $14,039,000

Convicted Banker Surrenders Securities Pledged for Loan of $7,121,887.

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—John R. Walsh today attached his signature to the agreement of settlement of his financial troubles and sent it to the First Trust and Savings Bank to be held until the guarantors of the note sign their part of the agreement. The signature gives to the Associated Banks of Chicago, which backed the adjustment of Walsh's financial affairs after his banks were suspended in 1905, the $14,039,000 in securities he put up to cover a note of $7,121,887.12 in return for the canceled notes.

In addition the banks will get $600,000 from the guarantors of the big note, who are then to receive the $949,000 in securities they put up as surety.

When the guarantors sign their part of the agreement the financial affairs of the former banker and railroad owner will be practically closed.

UNCLE SAM WILL ESTABLISH WIRELESS TELEPHONE "LINE"

Stations Will Be in Government Offices Three Miles Apart in Washington.

By Wire From the Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Just as 65 years ago Uncle Sam stood sponsor and bore the expense of the establishment of the first permanent telegraph line in the world, so in 1910 the first installation of a land wireless telephone will be made here under Government auspices. In both instances Washington has been one terminal.

The new "line," as the builders call it for want of a better expression, will be put in service between the United States Army Signal Corps headquarters on Pennsylvania and the Bureau of Standards, three miles distant.

The experiments of the signal corps with wireless telephony have not been uniformly successful, but the officers hope to perfect the necessary apparatus shortly through the trials with the permanent stations just established. Already the signal corps has purchased every sort of apparatus invented for the transmission of actual speech through the ether.

Strong Healthy Women

If a woman is strong and healthy in a womanly way, motherhood means to her but little suffering. The trouble lies in the fact that the many women suffer from ailments and disease of the organs and are unfitted for motherhood. This can be remedied.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Cures the weaknesses and disorders of women. It acts directly on the delicate and important organs, making them healthy, strong, vigorous, virile and elastic.

"Favorite Prescription" banishes the indispositions of the period of expectancy and makes baby's advent easy and almost painless. It quickens and vitalizes the organs, and insures a healthy and robust baby. Thousands of women have testified to its marvelous merits.

It Makes Weak Women Strong. It Makes Sick Women Well.

GARBAGE BOAT SATURN LOSES LACE CURTAINS AND ITS FINERY IN FIRE

Firemen Put Out the Blaze Before the Hull of the Steamer Is Destroyed.

The steamer Saturn, which the city furnished with luxurious curtains and snowy napery when it was the queen of the Chesley Island garbage squadron, is a charred and dingy half-wreck, as the result of a fire on board early Friday, after the boat had battled ice floes through the night.

The firemen who saved the boat by streams pumped from the river at the foot of Barton street, made a record. When a river steamer takes fire it generally takes all the fire it can hold. Halfway burning of a Mississippi boat is about as phenomenal as would be the halfway burning of a strawstack. But that is what happened to the Saturn.

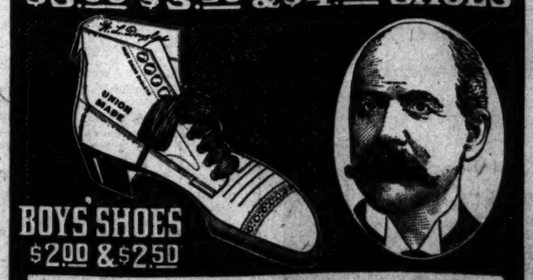

The Saturn was the chief convoy for the redolent refuse which the city, for lack of a better place to put it, used to cast before swine on Chesley Island.

When the Comptroller found that its cabin had been furnished with the finest laces and linens, for which the city was asked to pay some lofty bills, there was an investigation. When it was learned that the wife of a City Hall employe was a principal owner of the boat, it was decided not to detain the man any longer, on the city's account, from the profitable work he might be doing in looking after the family interests. So he was released from his duties to the city. But the Saturn's paddle wheel kept turning and her crew remained on the municipal payroll, until the St. Charles garbage destroying plant opened.

The Value of a Bank Account is not alone in the protection it affords you against lack of employment, sickness, old age, etc., but in the standing it gives you among business men. Employers know that a man who saves his money has learned the difference between income and expenditure; that he is careful in the things he does and that he is to be depended on. Most employers ask prospective employes if they have savings bank accounts, for the reasons mentioned.

Declare Dividends

By all means—by every reasonable argument for self-protection, and financial success you should declare a weekly or monthly dividend out of your earnings. Deposit your dividend in our savings department where it is safe and where it will earn you more money at the rate of 3½ per cent per annum. And the secret of an independent old age is in never "passing" a dividend.

"Saving Money"

We have spent years in studying the problem of saving money. We have put the knowledge we have gained into a book called "Saving Money." Here in a heart-to-heart way we tell you of a plan of saving, which, if carried out, will, without great effort, gain for you an old age competence. Call, write or telephone for a copy today.

WANTS HER LETTER PUBLISHED

For Benefit of Women Who Suffer from Female Ills

"I was a great sufferer from female troubles which caused a weakness and broken down condition of the system. I read so much of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for other suffering women I felt sure it would help me, and I must say it did help me wonderfully. My pains all left me, I grew stronger, and within three months I was a perfectly well woman.

"I want this letter made public to show the benefit women may derive from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. John G. Moldan, 2115 Second St., North, Minneapolis, Minn.

Thousands of unsolicited and genuine testimonials like the above prove the efficiency of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made exclusively from roots and herbs.

Women who suffer from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

If you want special advice write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. She will treat your letter as strictly confidential. For 20 years she has been helping sick women in this way, free of charge. Don't hesitate—write at once.

FAT MAN WALKS TEN MILES DAILY REDUCING WEIGHT

George Brand Drops 45 Pounds by Marathon Stunt Morning and Evening.

DIETS HIMSELF, TOO

Only Fruit for Breakfast, but Is More Liberal With His Other Meals.

To reduce flesh—quit spending car fare and get into the Marathon class.

This is the prescription of George Brand, who never wrote "M. D." after his name, but who knows he can cure fat men, because he has cured himself.

Brand, who is Chief Clerk in the Probate Court, lives at 2124 Victor street, a good three miles from the Courthouse, and he is not an automobile owner. But he is one of the worst customers Capt. McCulloch has in South St. Louis.

Except when the sidewalks are coated with regular compound-fracture ice, as they have been the past few days, Brand sets out after breakfast and places his feet alternately one ahead of the other until South St. Louis has receded from him and the Broadway entrance of the Courthouse has received him.

In the evening, same business with feet in reverse direction. Total, six miles.

Takes Early Runs in Park.

Anyone would think such walking would be enough to trim down Joe Buse, or Judge Daniel Taylor, or even the o'erolump President of these United States. But it isn't all Brand does. Every morning, except in the dark of midwinter, he is out before breakfast for a trot throught Tower Grove Park, with cap, sweater and running shoes as the chief features of his costume. This is an added four miles. Before people got used to his early morning appearances, his sidewalk pathway used to be lined with adventure and annoyance. Policemen would halt him to make sure that some portly Raffles was not getting away from them, and housewives wondered whether that fat man was running from a bill collector or was chasing a debtor, and what would happen when he was caught or when he caught the other man.

As for breakfast, which followed these morning marathons, it was more a division of time than anything else. All there was to it was an orange or a grape fruit.

For lunch, when Brand ate downtown, he allowed himself a steak or a roast and some bread, without any accompanying liquids. After the walk home from the Court House in the evening, he would allow himself a pork chop.

Has Lost 45 Pounds.

This is even scantier fare than Dr. W. K. Statter, in a menu published in the Post-Dispatch Tuesday, prescribed for the cure of obesity. Brand did not lose a pound a day, as Dr. Statter says his patients have done. He went into training a year ago last fall, and he has come down from 225 pounds to 180. As he is below medium stature, his breadth is still more than he desires and he intends to dispense with 25 pounds more. He walked from Belleville to St. Louis a few weeks ago, in company with two trained pedestrians, in 3 hours and 45 minutes.

Brand says he determined on his course of walking and dieting, when he read an architectural note stating that bay windows were going out of fashion and heard a friend say that double chins were good form only for trust magnates and cafe proprietors. He is now much better satisfied with his appearance, in both particulars, than he was.

"It takes will power to reduce flesh," says Brand. "It is hard for a fat man to take long walks—the first few times I walked home my feet weighed a half ton or so each. But it can be done, and it is what I advise all fat fellows to do."

Piper Heidsieck chewing tobacco is so generally sold by dealers because so generally liked by their customers.

DOXEYS ARE "BROKE" AND WIFE WRITES TO FATHER FOR MONEY

A letter written to her father, Jefferson Fuller, at Joy, Ill., by Mrs. Dora Doxey, in jail charged with the murder of William J. Erder, indicates that the Doxeys are "broke," and that the $2300 insurance Mrs. Doxey collected is gone for lawyers, retainers or other things.

Mrs. Doxey wrote the letter Friday, asking her father for a "small sum of money to buy stamps and stationery." In it, she told Fuller she had no money.

A young woman giving her name as Beatrice Aubrey of Keithsburg, Ill., called at the jail Friday to see Mrs. Doxey. She said she was her cousin, the daughter of Mrs. Doxey's uncle, William Aubrey. Mrs. Doxey was unable to see her, but asked her to call again Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Doxey told a friend in jail Friday that she was glad the indictment against her and Dr. Doxy had been read to them. "My friends need not worry," she said. "First degree murder is charged, and they must prove that or free me."

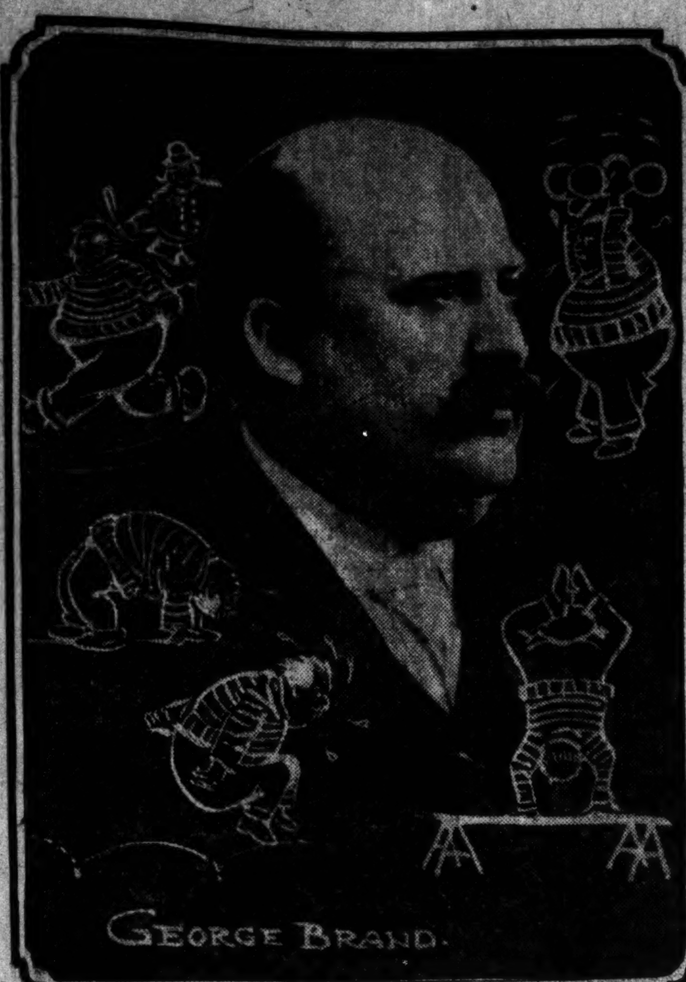

ICE CREAM FOR COLDS

But better still prevent catching cold by getting in one of those all-wool $15 or $20 suits for men or young men for 10.85. Globe, 7th and Franklin.

Boy at Play Is Injured.

Frank Mills, 14 years old, of 1437 Old Manchester road, playing hide and seek with companions Thursday evening, ran into a vacant house at 4118 Hunt avenue and hid on the second-floor rear porch. He leaned over the railing which collapsed and he fell a distance of 20 feet, breaking his right leg, fracturing his jaw and spraining both wrists.

MUNYON'S PAW-PAW PILLS

Munyon's Paw-Paw Pills are unlike all other laxatives or cathartics. They coax the liver into activity by gentle methods. They do not scour; they do not gripe; they do not weaken; but they do start all the secretions of the liver and stomach in a way that soon puts these organs in a healthy condition and corrects constipation. In my opinion constipation is responsible for most ailments. There are thirty-two feet of human bowels which is really a sewer pipe. When this pipe becomes clogged, the whole system becomes poisoned, causing biliousness, indigestion and impure blood, which often produces rheumatism and kidney ailments. No woman who suffers with constipation of any liver ailment can expect to have a clear complexion, or enjoy good health. If I had my way, I would prohibit the sale of nine-tenths of the cathartics that are now being sold, for the reason that they soon destroy the lining of the stomach, setting up serious forms of indigestion, and so paralyze the bowels that they refuse to act unless forced by strong purgatives.

Munyon's Paw-Paw Pills are a tonic to the stomach, liver and nerves. They invigorate instead of weakening; they enrich the blood instead of impoverishing it; they enable the stomach to get all the nourishment from food that is put into it.

These pills contain no calomel, no dope; they are soothing, healing and stimulating. They school the bowels to act without physic.

Trial box of 10 Pills, 10 cents. Large bottle, 25c.

THE BANKER

We have just received 5965 pairs of the "Knox" Patent Colt Lace Shoes; made on the Banker last; this is a neat, straight last, made with close-trimmed single soles, mat calf top. New short forepart last and short forepart vamp pattern. A gentleman's dress Shoe in every way from heel to toe and from bottom to top; we particularly invite shoe experts to examine these shoes in every way from sole leather, upper stock, linings, trimmings to workmanship, lasting, fitting and comfort-giving qualities. The regular price of these shoes is $4.50 and we can say without fear of contradiction that they are better in every way than any $4.50 shoe on the market today. We have been notified by the manufacturer that our next order will be advanced 10% on account of the advance in the leather market. Now, in order to make as many new friends for this Banker last as possible, in the shortest possible time, we are going to give you these four and one-half dollar shoes as long as they last, at $3.45 a pair; AA to E, 5 to 11. Are you going to take advantage of this sale now or are you going to wait until your size is gone; nearly six thousand pairs is quite a number of shoes, but they can't last long with such price concession as this. We do not ask you to rely upon our reputation for truthful advertising, nor do we ask you to rely upon your own judgment (although the quality of these shoes is apparent even to the man of limited knowledge), but we prefer to have you compare these shoes with any other make at the same price; compare them detail for detail and after comparison, if you are not entirely satisfied, then you can have your money back for the asking. Remember, they are new, up-to-the-minute and the sizes run from 5 to 11, widths AA to E; $4.50 quality for $3.45.

CAMPAIGN BEGUN TO STOP CRIMES BY NIGHT RIDERS

Government Will Proceed Against the Kentucky Burley Tobacco Society.

LIKE REIGN OF TERROR

Men Killed, Others Turned Into Maniacs, Families Forced to Leave State.

From a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 14.—President Taft is determined that law and order shall be restored in the burley tobacco belt of Kentucky, where murderous bands of night riders have been terrorizing inhabitants for years, destroying farming property, laying waste acres of tobacco land and inflicting dire punishment on numerous tobacco growers who declined to enter the farmers' pool, namely, the Burley Tobacco Society.

The evidence which has been gathered by secret investigation ordered by Attorney-General Wickersham shows that men have been killed, women and children shot at; many have become maniacs, and hundreds of natives of the Bluegrass State, unable to find protection in the home lands, have fled to Ohio, Indiana and Missouri to escape the vengeance of the night riders.

For months the lowlands of Kentucky, Ohio and Indiana, so long the scene of night riderism, have been filled with special agents from the Department of Justice, collecting data, which unquestionably will be used soon against the Burley Tobacco Society, also called the Farmers' Trust.

Agents Worked Secretly.

The gathering of information has been in charge of Special Agent Henry W. Hoagland, aided by a score of other special agents. So secretive have been the operations of Mr. Hoagland and his men that despite the fact that their work was started nearly three months ago it was only a few days ago that their presence became known.

The Government is now prepared to wage a relentless war against the Farmers' Trust. The object is not to prosecute the farmer, but to safeguard to all the personal liberty given by the Constitution.

In addition the Government will expose and shatter the propaganda of "one buyer" and "one seller" which has long gone hand in hand with the night rider terrorism. Hundreds of witnesses have been examined in secret and proceedings will be brought in the Federal court of one of the states interested.

It is reported here that the first move will be a bill in equity demanding the dissolution of the burley tobacco concern as a violation of the Sherman anti-trust law and the interstate commerce act.

The Burley Tobacco Society was incorporated in Kentucky in 1906 and has absolutely dominated the burley output in Kentucky, Ohio and Indiana. Its headquarters is in Lexington, Ky., and Clarence Lebus, a millionaire tobacco grower, is the president. Its Executive Committee consists of a score of the most prominent men of Kentucky. Its membership comprises more than 20,000 growers and its power, both politically and financially, especially in Kentucky, has been far-reaching.

Outrages Were Numerous.

The society claims its object is to fight the Tobacco Trust as well as bolster the price of burley tobacco and place the industry on the highest possible plane of development. About 70 per cent of the growers joined the pool.

As to those who did not join, Chief Hoagland and his deputies have testimony alleging outrages with which Gov. Wilson of Kentucky has declared he is powerless to cope. Despite the militia, the lawlessness went so far that Gov. Wilson announced that any person who killed a night rider would be pardoned immediately.

It must be said in justice to the Burley Society that the Government investigation shows that it never openly indorsed night riding, but it is reported that many of the leaders of the riders are directly connected with the Burley trust.

Hoagland has learned the inner secrets of the night riders, their grip and oath. Nearly all go masked. Most are on horseback, but others ride in buggies. Each is armed with a revolver and shotgun.

Oath of the Night Riders.

The oath administered to a night rider is:

"I, in the presence of the Almighty God and these witnesses, do solemnly promise and swear to become a member of this order. If I shall betray this order in any way by sign, act or word, or writing, or cause it to be revealed in any way, I shall have to submit to the penalty put upon me, which is death. I solemnly promise and swear, so help me God."

When a tobacco grower refused to pool his crop he was, as a rule, visited by the night riders, who threatened to kill him if necessary, or destroy his property. Many yielded, while those who held out were compelled to transform their peaceful homes into fortresses with barbed wire strung about the place to save them from an unexpected midnight attack.

SERVED PAPERS IN MRS. PARAMORE'S LOW CUT BODICE

What Else Could the Sheriff Do When She Put Hands Behind Her?

AT A RECEPTION, TOO

Suit Is Against the Husband Brought by a Blind Woman.

Sheriff Louis Nolte Friday made a return of the eccentric service which he obtained on Millionaire Fred W. Paramore by being an unbidden guest to a reception which Mrs. Paramore was giving in her apartment at the St. Regis, King's highway and Lindell boulevard.

Mrs. Paramore would not take the papers which the Sheriff proffered her, in her hands. Nolte could have put the papers in the coat pocket of a man, but Mrs. Paramore was uncollete. So, after considering his chances of depositing them some place, Sheriff Nolte selected Mrs. Paramore's bodice as the most likely spot and stuck them there.

"James," Mrs. Paramore gave an order to the butler, "call Mr. Paramore at the St. Louis Club."

James did as he was bidden and Mr. Paramore was quickly at the other end of the wire. James told the Sheriff that Mr. Paramore wished to speak to him.

"Come to the St. Louis Club," said Paramore over the phone, "and I will accept service."

"I'll not bother," replied Nolte. "The service which I have just obtained on Mrs. Paramore is entirely satisfactory."

In Woman's Suit.

The service the Sheriff made on Paramore in Mrs. Paramore's bodice was in the suit which Miss Mary J. Sloan has brought against Paramore for $20,000. The suit arises out of the sale under a deed of trust of certain property belonging to Miss Sloan, who is a blind woman. She alleges that Mr. Paramore agreed to represent her at the sale and buy in the property, but that he allowed it to go to George Boeck for $17,174, the amount of a note she owed. Miss Sloan alleges that the property was worth $40,000. Her attorney is L. Franz Ottofy.

Until Tuesday the Sheriff's office had been unable to obtain service on Paramore. A deputy thought he had him cornered at the St. Louis Club last Saturday, but was informed that Mr. Paramore was not there.

"I'll wait till I find him," announced the deputy.

The club attache then approached an attorney who happened to be lounging in the reception room and asked him "how far a sheriff could go in an affair of that kind."

"As far as the reception room," replied the attorney.

The deputy was not convinced that "the reception room" was as far as he could go, but after continuing his hunt for Paramore for awhile he came to the conclusion that it was as far as there was any use to go.

"I'll serve these papers myself," announced Sheriff Nolte as he jumped into an automobile in front of the Courthouse and directed the chauffeur to head for the St. Regis. He found that Mrs. Paramore was holding a reception and he decided to be among those present. Mrs. Paramore was surprised to see him.

"Who let you in?" Mrs. Paramore inquired.

"I have some papers for your husband," Nolte replied, as he explained to Mrs. Paramore the nonsocial motives of his call.

"You'll have to see Mr. Paramore about that matter," said Mrs. Paramore.

"No, you may give him these papers," said the Sheriff, as he held out the legal sheets to her.

Mrs. Paramore clasped her hands behind her back in declination as she informed the Sheriff, "I have nothing to do with the matter."

Nolte was reluctant to discuss the matter Friday further than to say, with a smile, that he had succeeded in serving papers.

Miss Mary J. Sloan, through her attorney, Frank Ottofy, first filed suit against Mr. Paramore last November. In that suit Paramore was a joint defendant with George Boeck, who purchased her property and Charles C. Nicholls, who sold it under the deed of trust. Service was had on Nicholls and Boeck, but Paramore could not be located. Then Miss Sloan had the suit dismissed against Paramore alone.

WARRINER IS IN PENITENTIARY

Big Four Defaulter Protects Friends' "Men Higher Up."

CINCINNATI, O., Jan. 14.—Charles L. Warriner, who confessed to having embezzled $643,000 while treasurer of the Big Four Railroad in this city, was taken to Columbus, (O.) Penitentiary today to begin a sentence of six years which was imposed upon him following his plea of guilty to the embezzlement of $5500.

Just before his departure Warriner issued a signed statement in which he declared that the various rumors circulated that he was protecting "someone higher up," were untrue.

RAMSHACKLES ON SCHOOL BOARD LOTS IN CONGESTED GHETTO OVER WHICH THE LESSORS HAVE NO CONTROL

POOR POLICEMAN, STRUCK BY WOMAN, TELLS SERGEANT

Patrolman Calls Superior to Scene When Face Is Slapped.

When Patrolman Chris Horn of the Magnolia Avenue District went to the home of James McAlevey, 4411 Hunt avenue, Thursday afternoon, to learn the particulars of a fight in which McAlevey had participated, the door was opened by the young man's mother, Mrs. Anna McAlevey.

"Does James McAlevey reside here?" asked Horn.

"He does," responded Mrs. McAlevey, and slapped the officer on the face with her open hand, knocking off his cap.

"Don't forget yourself," said Horn, as he stooped for his headgear. "I am a policeman."

"You needn't think I took you for the President of the United States," said Mrs. McAlevey sharply, and she again whacked Horn's face.

Horn, remembering the Manual rule that policemen must be gentlemanly at all times, placed his closed fists behind him and smiled in a sickly manner.

"Kindly let me state my business," he said as mildly as he could.

"I won't let you do anything of the kind," retorted Mrs. McAlevey as she aimed another blow at him. "Go on your way now."

"It is my duty to find out if your"—began Horn.

"I don't care what your duty is," interrupted Mrs. McAlevey, and again she started a "right swing." "You had better get away from here."

"All right, madame," said Horn, "but I'll be back in a few minutes."

Horn returned a few minutes later, accompanied by Sergt. Byrne and Patrolman Claggett.

"Did you strike this officer, madam?" asked Sergt. Byrne when Mrs. McAlevey again opened the door.

"Yes, I did," she replied.

"We will have to place you under arrest then," said Byrne.

"All right," answered Mrs. McAlevey. "wait until I get my hat." She accompanied the officers to the Tower Grove Police Station.

"Interfering with an officer," said Byrne, announcing the charge against Mrs. McAlevey.

"Did you find out what her son was fighting about?" asked the desk sergeant when he had heard Horn's story.

"No, sir," replied Horn.

EDUCATION BOARD OWNS 105 LOTS IN DIRTY GHETTO

Can't Remedy Sanitary Conditions Because of Long Leases, Some Running Ten Years.

The Board of Education of St. Louis is one of the largest property owners in the "Ghetto," which has been declared by Dr. B. S. Warren to be the most insanitary district he has ever seen, and a menace to health. He recommends that the rickety buildings there be torn down as the only means of making the place habitable from a health standpoint.

The board owns the fee simple title to 105 lots aggregating 2441 front feet, between Sixth and Fifteenth streets, and between O'Fallon and Cass avenue. The appraised value of these holdings is $156,370.18. These lots have no frontage on either O'Fallon or Cass avenue, but face on the cross streets and alleys. Many of the buildings on this property are located on the inside of the lots in which entrance to the doors of the tenements is through alleys, and have no entrance on a street. The street frontage is mostly used for stores and shops.

The Board of Education does not own the buildings. It derives an income of $9382.21 annually from leases to residents in this district, based upon 6 per cent rental on the appraised value of the land. By the terms of the leases the appraisement must be made each 10 years and the lease renewed, based on the renewed appraised value. Fourteen of these leases are perpetual conveyances, with the provision that the lease must be renewed at each 10-year period upon a reappraisal. Many of the leases are for one, two or three 10-year periods.

The lessees pay this 6 per cent rent, erect all buildings, make all repairs and pay all general and special taxes.

It is obviously to the interest of the holders of the leases that the valuation of the property shall not be increased by improvements, as the rental would undergo a corresponding increase.

The board is at no expense. It owns the land and collects the 6 per cent rental annually. The secretary of the Board of Education attends to this collection at his office. The lessees deal direct with him at his office in the Board of Education Building.

Board's Hands Are Tied.

President Robert Moore of the Board of Education was asked by a Post-Dispatch reporter about the sanitary conditions existing on the property owned by the board, and what action he would recommend to the board concerning a betterment of those conditions if the statement of Dr. B. S. Warren was found to be correct.

"It is a vicious condition," Mr. Moore said. "The School Board wants to sell this property and get it off our hands. I have not visited the property owned by the board to investigate the conditions. Our hands are tied by the action of our predecessors. These long-time leases were made by former boards, and the present members are bound by the terms of the leases. We are helpless in the matter.

"If the conditions are as Dr. Warren has stated, it seems to me the lessees of the property, who are the owners of the buildings, could be prosecuted if they maintain a nuisance or a menace to health. They might be compelled to tear down the buildings or remodel them along sanitary lines. The Board of Education could not do this, because we simply own the ground. We are paid a rental and have no control over the buildings or surroundings. That is controlled entirely by the lessees.

Selling Property Rapidly.

"We are selling this property as fast as we can. The board members realize that the buildings erected under these leases retard the progress of the city in these localities. That is the reason the property is offered for sale. We want to let people buy it who can improve it. The board is not in the real estate business and is handicapped in that line."

When asked whether, as the leases expire and the buildings revert back to the School Board, he would recommend that the buildings be torn down if proved filthy and insanitary, as suggested by Dr. Warren, Mr. Moore said:

"That has never been brought to my notice officially. I cannot answer as to what might happen. Myself and other members of the board have the progress of the city at heart, and I am sure would do all in our power to better conditions generally."

Eight members of the present Board of Education became members in 1907, and their terms will expire in 1913. Four have been members since 1905, their terms expiring in 1911. Four were elected in 1909, and their terms will expire in 1915. The present members are William Cullinane, W. Palmer Clarkson, William Taussig, Calvin M. Woodward, Henry C. Garneau, C. W. Johnson, Robert Moore, Edward J. O'Neill, Rhodes E. Cave, Frank L. Magoon, Emil Simon and H. H. Tittman.

The records show that 39 leases of property in this district were made by the board during 1907 and 1908. Of these seven were for 10 years, 19 were for two 10-year periods, and three are for three 10-year periods.

The 10-year leases made in 1907 and 1908, which will expire in 1917 and 1918, were made to George H. Beck, William Cutter, Jacob Margulius, Dora Dieckmann, Joseph Mutulsky, Kasimir Rose and Fredericke Schmitt.

The leases of two 10-year periods made during 1907 and 1908 were made to Frank Bartylak, Mary E. McGovern, Walter Weisser, Moses Rubenstein, Joseph Feldman, Sophia Goessling, Edward Becht, Leo Bartkowski, Joseph Novoceletzky, Fred Schuchart, Jacob Margulius, Annie Spector, Hyman Spector, Augusta Schillinger, Regal Realty and Investment Co., Ben Stiffelman, Louis Nieman, Fred Wittler and Abraham Stern.

Leases of three 10-year periods made in 1907 and 1908 were to Moses Rubenstein, Louis Schwannecke and Henry Timke.

One of these leases is to Minnie Vastine, between Eleventh and Twelfth streets. She pays the School Board $37.50 annually for 75 feet of property in the rear yard, fronting on an alley. The School Board does not own the 51 feet fronting on Twelfth street. The only entrance to her property is through the alley between Eleventh and Twelfth streets. This lot has an appraised value of $625.

"WHY BE SO THIN?"

Thinness Is Embarrassing, Unhealthy and Not Natural—Formula Now Used Which Adds From One to Three Pounds a Week.

Every one ought to have some extra flesh on the bony structure of the body, both for the sake of health and self-esteem.

Most thin people are sensitive to the harsh, unfeeling criticisms which are constantly being hurled at them by the more fortunate well-figured persons.

Every one pities a thin, bony horse, but horses don't know it—while thin people are both pitied and ridiculed. It ought not to be so, but it is.

A well-rounded figure, be it man or woman, excites admiration; not only for the figure but for the bright eyes, pink cheeks, red lips, and vigorous carriage which accompany a well-nourished body.

Strength, health, beauty and sound flesh abound, if the blood and nerves get enough nourishment out of the food eaten.

This prescription aids nature; helps absorption, digestion and assimilation; helps distribute the blood and nerve elements which make sound flesh. Get the ingredients and make it at home, and see how very fast you gain in weight.

In a half pint bottle, obtain three ounces of essence of pepsin, three ounces syrup of rhubarb. Then add one ounce compound essence cardiol, shake and let stand two hours; then add one ounce tincture cadomene compound, (not cardamom). Shake well and take a teaspoonful before meals and one after meals. Also drink plenty of water between meals and when retiring. Weigh yourself before beginning. • • •

CHILD, WORRIED BY ARITHMETIC, DRINKS POISON

Ashamed of Being Unable to Solve Problem, Girl Tries to Die.

Failure to solve a problem in arithmetic so preyed on the mind of 12-year-old Minnie Hinkle, a pupil at the Washington School, that she tried to kill herself early Friday morning, in her home, 4514A Easton avenue, by swallowing carbolic acid.

"If a man earns $75 a month, what's his salary for a year?" This is the problem which drove Minnie Hinkle to seek death.

For the first time this year Minnie brought her arithmetic home from school Thursday evening. When school was out Minnie usually ran gaily to her home. But the volume she carried Thursday evening had a depressing effect on Minnie.

It was commented upon at Minnie's home. Minnie's mother noticed it and tried to encourage the child, and Andrew Akley, her stepfather, when he reached home, was also quick to notice the arithmetic. Even 5-year-old Jesse, her half-brother, noticed it.

It was Jesse's perception that cut Minnie most keenly. Jesse can draw pictures and solve problems. With a great show of reluctance and an abashed countenance Minnie declared to the family circle that there was a problem in the book which the teacher said she had to solve before going back to school Friday.

Nothing more was said until after dinner, for which Minnie had little appetite. But when the chairs had been moved back from the table Minnie took her book, pencil and tablet with determination.

For nearly an hour Minnie labored and then the marks on the tablet commenced to be blurred by tears, and the girl's head, with her hair falling over her forehead, lay upon the table.

5-Year-Old Solves It for Her.

"Make it out yet, Minnie?" asked Andrew Akley.

The sorrowful face which looked up at Akley told plainly that she had not "made it out."

"O, shame on you Minnie," crying, and can't do that little sum. Give me your pencil and I'll do it for you. Now watch me," said Akley, as he started to figure out what he'd get in a year if he were getting $75 a month.

"Why, Minnie," exclaimed Akley, "I'll bet your little brother can do that sum, and he's not old enough to go to school yet. Here, Jesse, show your big sister Minnie how to do her arithmetic."

Jesse jumped to the rescue with alacrity. Jesse found the answer for Minnie, but he didn't find the answer that Minnie was looking for. Minnie's heart was at work on a problem—not what a man earns in a year, but why the other children at school and Jesse at home could do the arithmetic and she couldn't.

Minnie worked on the second problem nearly all night before she thought she saw the answer in a little bottle hung up on the nail in the wall of her bed room. The bottle contained carbolic acid.

Mrs. Akley, her mother, was awakened by Minnie staggering into her bedroom at 4 a. m. and pulling at the bed clothes. The child's throat and mouth were so burned by the acid that she could not speak. Detecting the acid fumes, Mrs. Akley aroused her husband, who summoned an ambulance to take the girl to the City Hospital. At the hospital Friday it was stated that she would recover.

"Ninety-Three"

The Story of a Famous Name and How it Originated

The foremost dermatologist in France, Dr. Sabourand of Paris, and Prof. Unna, Hamburg, Germany, discovered that a microbe caused baldness. To prove their theory, Dr. Sabourand infected a guinea pig with some of these microbes and in a comparatively short time the animal was denuded of every hair that was on its body.

Some eminent histologists and chemists were employed by the United Drug Co., Boston, Mass., to find the means of destroying these microbes and a remedy that would create a new growth of hair where the hair roots had not been entirely destroyed.

After months of study, experimenting and research work, they discovered what they claimed would do what was demanded. To unquestionably prove their theory, 100 leading durggists, located in as many different cities, were requested to each furnish the name of a responsible person suffering from falling hair and baldness. Each of these 100 persons was furnished three bottles of the preparation, with a request to give it a thorough trial and report results.

Five of these people failed to report. Two declared they had been bald for years; that their hair follicles had long been closed, and their scalps were smooth and glossy.

Ninety-three of the 100 sent in enthusiastic reports, stated that they were delighted with the hair-restoring qualities of the preparation, and expressed sincere thanks for the wonderful benefits brought about by its use. In commemoration of this, the new preparation was named Rexall "93" Hair Tonic.

We sell this remedy with the distinct understanding that it is free of cost to the user in every case where it does not completely remove dandruff, stimulate the hair follicles, revitalize the hair roots, stop the hair from falling out, grow new hair and make the scalp free from irritation.

Rexall "93" Hair Tonic comes in two sizes, price 50 cents and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in St. Louis only at our store—The Rexall Store. The Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., S. E. corner Sixth street and Washington avenue.

MOVING TOWARD TRADE WARS.

As the time for the imposition of the maximum tariff rate of the Payne law approaches it becomes more and more evident that the prospect of trade wars with other countries will come to realization. The countries with which our relations are most threatening are Germany, France and Canada. With France we have already broken relations, with Germany we will break on Feb. 7, and our relations with Canada are strained. Our exports to these three countries are approximately $600,000,000 annually. Trade with France fell off 90 per cent the first month after the abrogation of the old reciprocity treaty.

France has under consideration, the Chamber of Deputies having already passed it, a new tariff bill, with a prohibitive maximum. Germany has twice suspended the operation of her maximum against us, in the hope that there would be an ultimate satisfactory adjustment of reciprocal advantage. In recognition of this generosity, President Roosevelt modified certain administrative rules affecting certification of invoices and appraisals.

But word comes from Washington that German and American negotiators are far apart and making no progress toward agreement. America insists on a modification of Germany's stringent laws against American cattle and Germany retorts that it would be as logical for her to ask that America relax her pure food law.

Cheering words have come from administration circles. Official declarations are all to the effect that we really want no trade wars. But official acts speak more eloquently to the contrary. On Tuesday Germany was formally notified that her plan for Government control of the potash industry would be construed as discriminatory under the Payne law. Canada has also been officially warned and in one case a penalizing duty has been imposed against print paper of Canadian production.

In everything except word is found progress toward what was plainly the stand-pat scheme to use the maximum of 25 per cent ad valorem additional, not to gain foreign trade, but to kill or curtail what we now have, just as the reciprocity provision of the Dingley law was made the excuse for high rates and then every reciprocal treaty negotiated was smothered in the Senate except that with Cuba, which had a narrow escape.

The argument that it would be useless to clean up the Ghetto because it would get dirty again, is most excellent in its universality. There is hardly anything cleaned up that doesn't get dirty again. The owners of foul tenements will find that to be as true of their own homes as of the buildings they rent to the poor.

NOT MEDIEVAL.

Bernard Shaw is wrong again when he characterizes as medieval Magistrate Olmstead's rebuke to the shirtwaist strikers as "strikers against God and nature, whose prime law is that man shall earn his bread in the sweat of his brow."

The sentiment is no more medieval than ancient or modern. It is the word of the selfish man in possession of advantages which he honestly believes are bestowed upon him for his superior ability or goodness. The law that "if a man will not work, neither shall he eat" is a natural law. But we know that tramps at one end of society and wealthy idlers at the other violate the law every day. The voice of society condemns the tramp, but is silent as to the guilt of the other. And, lest the law be violated by shirtwaist workers, Magistrate Olmstead suggests that all things be made sure by making them sweat some more.

The old Romans practiced this Olmstead doctrine 2000 years ago when they drove their slaves to death. On a calculation of profit, the master often estimated that it was more advantageous to get the most product in the least time, and when the slave gave out import another, fresh and unbroken, to take his place. Warren Hastings ran things in India in the eighteenth century on exactly the same principle, and we have seen it working in the Congo ever since the benign Leopold took over the industries of that region. George F. Baer seriously argued that Divine Providence had committed the world to the care and keeping of a class and that the mass should submit to the regulations imposed by Divine authority.

The truth is there was less of this sort of thing preached in medieval times than in antiquity or in modern times. There was wrong enough, to be sure, but it was generally the result of the unsubdued selfish passions of men rather than practiced in pursuance of a selfish moral or ethical theory like that of Olmstead's and Baer's.

It is said that the little Harvard boy who is making such prodigious discoveries in mathematics at the age of 11 is not a football player. A mollycoddle, a weakling? Too bad. But perhaps after he has learned all there is to learn of mathematics he will take a living interest in things really worth while.

THE TERMINAL'S SPECIAL JOKER.

There is a special joker in the Terminal's franchise bill. Section 10, relating to the payment of $1,000,000 to be applied to the creation of a park opposite Union Station, closes with the following paragraph:

In the event of the widening of Market street and the assessment of any benefits against the said association the city of St. Louis shall pay said benefits out of said sum of one million ($1,000,000) dollars, so that said association shall not be required to pay any such benefits.

This paragraph absolutely guarantees the St. Louis Terminal Railway Association against the payment of any benefit assessments on account of the widening of Market street. Not only does it require the city to pay such assessments out of the $1,000,000 given for the Union Station park, but the paragraph is so worded as to free the association from the payment of any assessment of this kind and to place upon the city the obligation to pay whatever assessments may be levied against the association for the purpose. It is a perpetual guarantee.

The Terminal Association is the largest holder of property contiguous to Market street. Not only at Union Station, but along the length of Market street the Terminal's nearby holdings are extensive and valuable. Under this ordinance the city could be forever debarred from widening Market street without paying from its own treasury all the benefit assessments which may be levied against the property of the association. These assessments might amount to much more than the amount offered the city under the bill.

If the city should have a park law providing a system of assessing taxes against benefited property owners for the creation of parks a large part of the cost of a park opposite Union Station could be defrayed by assessing the Terminal's valuable holdings. But under this ordinance it would be free from such an assessment.

The Terminal not only limits its offer of compensation to payment of what it owes the city and to viaducts it ought to build and can be forced to build by law, but it attempts to secure immunity from payments which might be levied upon its property in future for the improvement of the nearest thoroughfare. The more the Terminal's bill is examined the more is its gold brick character emphasized.

The Mayor, Speaker Rombauer and other official supporters of the Terminal in its differences with the Council are entitled to compassion on account of the embarrassing situation in which their railroad friends have placed them. Their defenses have been swept away. Even the hitherto strongest advocates of the Terminal's claims are forced to condemn its bill or keep silence. A majority of the House of Delegates will oppose the bill and a new bill embodying the city's terms should be framed and passed.

James J. Hill says the country needs the rest cure. The cure, perhaps, but the trusts will get the rest, too, so why struggle?

EARNINGS AND WAGES.

Recently the Census Bureau at Washington issued a set of official reports showing that the annual production of the wage workers of the United States is worth about $2500 for each worker; while the average annual income of the wage workers is but $500. The publication of these figures has naturally attracted the attention of the leaders of organized labor. They believe that the ratio of five to one between the value of the product and the wage paid, is too great. They will endeavor to find some way of getting for the worker a better share of the proceeds.

This issue comes in very pertinently with that of the Payne tariff and the increased cost of living. It has been alleged with much hypocritical unction by big corporations that the protective system is solely in the interest of American labor. Again and again tables have been published, cunningly arranged to show that the American worker earns a sum which, when compared with that of the pauper labor of Europe, amounts to a royal salary. Evidently the Census Bureau was not warned to make the domestic returns fit the political requirements. The bureau has published the facts. The people are now informed of the difference between earnings and wages. The American wage worker earns enough, it is true, to live well, even at present prices; but he doesn't get what he earns. Out of a dollar of product his share of the protected industry is less than 20 cents.

As he views the situation in its various phases, Herbert S. Hadley must sometimes be sorry he is Governor of Kansas City instead of St. Louis.

THE BRITISH SMART SET.

A bright account of the various methods by which the maids and the matrons of the London Smart Set entertain one another and shock Mrs. Grundy will be given in the magazine section of the Post-Dispatch next Sunday. The article is neither satirical nor censorious. The writer neither condemns nor approves. Satisfied to give a review of what goes in a certain section of the highest society of the world's greatest capital; he has told his story plainly and yet with a lightness of touch that makes it as delicious as a chapter from a clever novel.

Worn with the incessant round of a life devoid of earnest work or of any interest in permanent things, and weary of themselves and of one another, the members of the so-called smart set are forced as it were by mere restlessness to resort to all sorts of freaks and follies to save themselves from boredom and the blues. In their amusements they soon tire of the ordinary and seek first the extraordinary, then the sensational and then the perverse. Punch recently pictured in a series of cartoons the strenuous year of a woman of the set. She rides to hounds, plays blind man's buff in country houses, stalks deer in the Highlands, dances in London, gambles at Monte Carlo and toboggans in Switzerland.

When the husband is too much occupied with his own affairs to interest himself in the pleasures of the wife, the dame of the smart set attaches to herself an attractive bachelor. In the language of the set, the bachelor is "a tame cat;" the lady "a guiding star." The relationship is strictly platonic. In short, the ways of the British smart set are peculiar. As the writer says: "The greatest evil of the American smart set seems to be startling readjustments of the marriage ties. But when it comes to original, piquant, daring stunts of society, take your binoculars and look across the sea."

Senator William Warner of Missouri told ex-Senator Foraker of Ohio that he was entirely wrong in the Brownsville affair, ambiguity in the diction being most apt in the circumstances.

Mayor Kreismann is a little displeased; he probably thought the Terminal would keep only a string on the million—not a hawser.

While the Wrights are in court crying for injunctions, Glen Curtiss and Paulhan just keep right along breaking records.

Taft stands smiling and holding out an olive branch, but the bird of peace has flown the coop.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

A Working Girl's Reply.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I have read the article by Rev. Toomay and wish you would publish this in reply:

The Rev. Mr. Toomay does not speak from experience. I do, because I am a working girl, and a stanch defender of them. There may be a few among us who do sell their souls for fine clothes, but I know that a great many of these girls are compelled to sell their souls, so that they can live. Who is the cause of these conditions? The best church members, I am sorry to say. They must contribute to the church and they cannot give these poor girls a decent salary. Both food and clothing have advanced in these last years, in fact everything has but the working girl's salary. I do not believe in overdressing, but every girl with any pride wishes to look her best at all times, and if she does not she is ridiculed by these same men who censure her for dressing too grand. Oh, these men, when will they ever be satisfied?

If all those who are interested in saving the working girl's soul will unite against the trusts and lower the cost of living we will all be very grateful. To tell the truth, our soul does not need saving; we need food and clothing, and at cheaper prices, then we can attend to our souls. Anyone who has easy times like most of the ministers can well afford to think of souls, and finding fault with others, but the poor girls must think of keeping body and soul together.

"WORKING GIRL."

Try State Employment Bureau.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I have always believed in exploiting the resources of the State, in the principles of the Million Population Club and all such; but that which is more vital, more human, more needed, is a medium for securing employment by one of the would-be "million" or would-be residents of the State. The woods are full of employment bureaus (in name). What have they to offer one?

What we need is a municipal employment bureau and bona fide positions. From experience, I have found that is a much-needed want to gain a million in St. Louis and increase the population in the State. I am a practical and successful salesman, but, not being acquainted very well, have found that I don't have much of a look in, unless I accept wages about enough to pay carfare, coffee for lunch and rolls for breakfast.

E. G. TOUR.

The Waltz and the Esthetics.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Without intention to criticise or offend the writer who suggests that the waltz be eliminated from the Sunday Symphony concerts, I beg to submit my opinion, in the hope that it may stay the threatened ostracism of the waltz.

In the first place, the Sunday concerts are popular concerts, and the waltz is undoubtedly popular music. Whether esthetic or no, the writer admits he cannot judge, but he liberally estimates that of the Sunday attendance, not 10 per cent would like to see the waltz eliminated. There is no questioning the fact that the waltz is anxiously awaited, and there can be no doubt as to its reception. A waltz movement in any of the preceding numbers is most enthusiastically welcomed, and until reading the criticism above mentioned, I believed the audience was unanimous in its approval of Mr. Zach's program arrangement. As a Viennese himself, the wonder is they are not more numerous.

It has not been the advantage or opportunity of the majority of the people to obtain a musical education, and they cannot be censured for their untutored tastes by those more fortunate. It most assuredly takes a cultivation and education of the musical senses to fully enjoy and appreciate the purely classic, and it seems the development of this sense is the greatest purpose and result of the popular concerts. The public has been just as eagerly striving for this development, under the careful guidance of Mr. Zach and his orchestra, as these gentlemen have been endeavoring to foster the development. To take away the popular numbers would undoubtedly defeat their very purpose.

BUG?

Not Enough Cars.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

When the street railway official, a few days ago, told the Utilities Commission that he did not put on more cars because he was afraid if he did so there would be so many cars on the streets that they would "be in the way of each other," I thought it a piece of sarcasm upon his part, but the public and the press seem to have swallowed this "explanation" in dead earnest and that officer is no doubt laughing in his sleeve even yet. If he is afraid the cars will be too close together, let me point to the Cherokee line south of Pine street. I took a car last night that reached California avenue at 6:30 p. m.; the car immediately following it was just 16 blocks behind it and it appears they are scheduled to run this way all the time in order to force the people to pack into them at the very utmost limit of human endurance.

It is nonsense to say that one car each block is too close for them to run, let alone one car to 16 blocks. Of course, the car company can purposely run cars over a short "neck" of track at some point downtown, just to make the excuse of "running too close together," whenever it might suit the company to make that "excuse" or "explanation," but when, day in and day out, week in and week out, month in and month out, I see the cars run from five to twenty-five blocks apart and everyone stuffed to the guards, and all paying full fare, it makes my blood boil at the outrage.

CHARLES L. DELBRIDGE.

Don't Forget the Birds.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

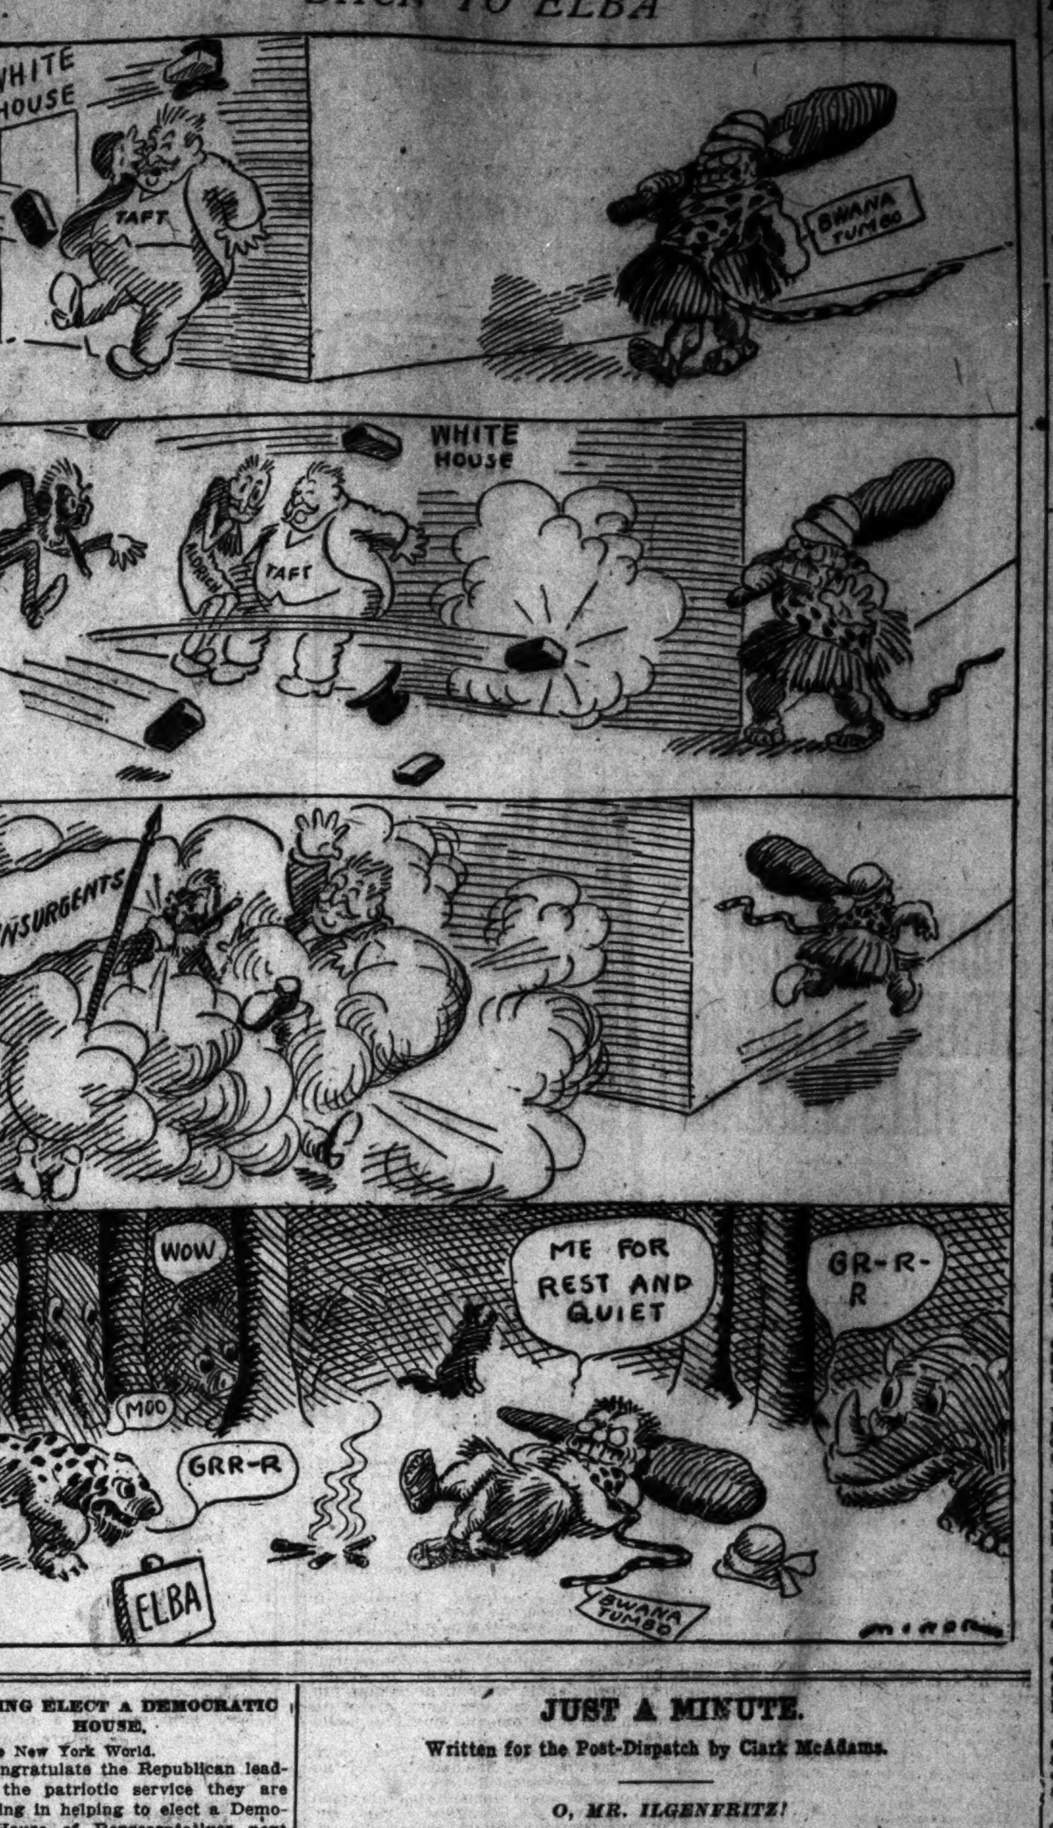

Mr. Jackson's article in the Post-Dispatch on cats moved me so much that I felt I must express my opinion. Why not feed the little birds as well as the cats? By so doing they will both be benefited. If it is only a crust of bread thrown from a window or back door, it may feed several little birds. The ground being covered with snow for so long a time, prevents them from getting insects or any food which might be left for them. And if they are not robins or fine birds and but little snowbirds and blue-jays, they get hungry and cold.

Boys and girls, this plea is to you, and not only in St. Louis, but whoever may read it, you should take a great interest in the little outdoor pets, because you have more time than mother, with all her household cares. It is also teaching you kindness, which is one of the greatest accomplishments. And surely, if we teach our children those little deeds of kindness and mercy, they will grow to be tender-hearted, generous, thoughtful men and women.

BACK TO ELBA

HELPING ELECT A DEMOCRATIC HOUSE.

From the New York World.

We congratulate the Republican leaders on the patriotic service they are performing in helping to elect a Democratic House of Representatives next fall.

Mr. Taft has made it plain that insurgents who oppose the administration's policies are to be deprived of their share of the patronage.

The Republican Congressional Committee has issued a statement announcing that the insurgents are to be regarded as Democrats and will receive no help for re-election.

The names of the insurgents have been erased from the list of the Republican "whips" of the House, and these rebellious representatives are not to be summoned when matters of importance are up for consideration.

All this goes far to promote the general welfare, and if the Republican leaders should succeed in electing a Democratic House of Representatives both parties would profit.

A Democratic victory in November would eliminate the issue of Cannonism and end the Republican insurrection aagainst the House rules. It would strengthen the Democratic party and provide a more vigorous opposition to the administration. The campaign of 1912 would be less one-sided and better government would result.

If the Democratic party cannot find leaders to rehabilitate it, let us be grateful for competent Republican assistance.

SUBSIDIES ENOUGH.

From the Philadelphia Record.

There is no country in which there is such effectual subsidization of the shipping interests as in the United States, our navigation laws excluding foreign-built vessels from participating in coastwise trading and our shippers being forbidden to buy foreign-built ship engaged in international carrying and sail them under the American flag. Under this policy of absolute protection we have made our coastwise service costly and have practically driven our merchant ships engaged in foreign trade from the high seas.

INTERESTS ARE SAFE.

From Speech of James R. Garfield.

JUST A MINUTE.

Written for the Post-Dispatch by Clark McAdams.

O, MR. ILGENFRITZ!

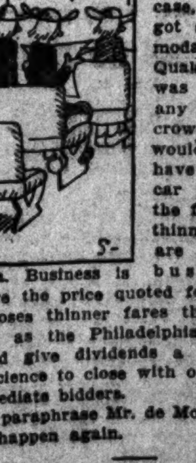

O, MR. ILGENFRITZ—a word about the muff:
Astrakhan, they say it is, or some expensive stuff.
At any rate, we can't afford to have a fashion set
For gentlemen in which there are the like of that to get.

Ear-muffs, Mr. Ilgenfritz, as costly as you please.
All of us can now and then acquire a pair of these;
But other muffs—upon my word, and did you ever think
How soon the fashion would extend to ermine and to mink?

Bless you, Mr. Ilgenfritz, our wives are wearing those;
And while they're doing so let us adhere to simple clothes.
Don't start anything beyond our very slender means—
Back to mittens, Ilgenfritz—to mittens and to jeans!

SEATS FOR QUAKERS.

If one may be guided by the information cast on their metal parts, the narrow seats on the new Hodiamont cars were made in Philadelphia.

Probably the company placed its order without specifying width. If this was the case, it of course got seats accommodating two Quaker fares, and was innocent of any intention to crowd us. But we would not care to have it go for its car seats where the fares are any thinner than they are in Philadelphia. Business is business, but where the price quoted for seats presupposes thinner fares than we have here, as the Philadelphia bid did, it would give dividends a much better conscience to close with one of the intermediate bidders.

To paraphrase Mr. de Morgan, it must not happen again.

Gen. Weyler's reminiscences of the Cuban war have just been published in Spain. So much happened the General about that time that it has taken him twelve years to recall exactly what did happen.

CENSORED DANCING.

THANKS.

Just a Minute is grateful to J. C. Adams of Arizona. We are two minds that think as one. "Arizona," says Mr. Adams to a Washington reporter, "is in no hurry to have a constitution. She would rather wait and see what ought to be in it."

Exactly. As we have pointed out, some one of our territories must be reserved for that very purpose, and Arizona has been our choice, as she seems to be her own. It is now pretty commonly believed that there is more nonsense at large in the Oklahoma constitution than anywhere else in the United States, and at the time of its adoption no less an expert than Mr. Bryan hailed it as a model.

Let's save Arizona. The time is bound to come when we shall know something, and we want somewhere to apply it.

THE MAIL SACK.

Dear Just a Minute: I think I can answer your question. "Whose evil genius was it that conceived a local passenger to be a sort of livestock?"

Some years ago a grievance committee appeared before one of the vice-presidents of a St. Louis railroad. The suburban service was very bad, and the committee asked to have it revised upward. The vice-president was indignant.

"Gentlemen," he said, shaking his finger at them, "I would rather haul three cars of cattle than one coach of suburbanites."

54-40 OR FIGHT

A Novel of American Spirit

By EMERSON HOUGH

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING CHAPTERS.

The story is told by Nicholas Trist, confidential secretary to John C. Calhoun, the great pro-slavery statesman. Though Calhoun has just been told by his physician that he has but a few years to live, he decides to complete his life work by entering President Tyler's cabinet as Secretary of State and bringing about the annexation of Texas and Utah, both of which England is supposed to be anxious to seize. Knowing the reputed relations between Sir Richard Pakenham, British Ambassador, and the beautiful Baroness Helena de Ritz, Calhoun decides to use the Baroness as his diplomatic aid and he sends Trist to her at night. The young secretary carries with him a message asking the Baroness to visit Calhoun alone in his apartments.

In order to deliver the message to the Baroness young Trist has to break an engagement to take Elisabeth Churchill to an embassy ball. Though deeply in love with Elisabeth he answers the call of duty. While on his way to the Baroness' home he is overtaken by a carriage. A strange impulse prompts him to get into the carriage. There he recognizes his companion as the Baroness. She tells him that a man in another carriage is pursuing her. He consents to aid her in shaking off the pursuer and escort her to her home.

Trist finds the Baroness installed in a wonderful palace disguised by the dingy exterior of a row of flats. After a fine clash of wits she accuses Trist of being a spy and refuses to read Calhoun's note. As a pledge that no harm will come to her, Trist gives the Baroness an Indian brooch which he had bought for Elisabeth Churchill. As security for the token he takes one of the Baroness' slippers and she consents to accompany him.

CHAPTER VII.

Regarding Elizabeth.

Without woman the two extremities of this life would be destitute of succor and the middle would be devoid of pleasure.—Proverb.

IN some forgotten garret of this country, as I do not doubt, yellowed with age, lost among uncared-for relics of another day, there may be records of that interview between two strange personalities, John Calhoun and Helena von Ritz, in the arrangement of which I played a part. I was not at that time privileged to have much more than a guess at the nature of the interview. Indeed, other things now occupied my mind. I was very much in love with Elisabeth Churchill.

My father's plantation was one of the old ones in Maryland. That of the Churchills lay across a low range of mountains and in another county, but our families had long been friends. I had known Elisabeth from the time she was a tall, slim girl, boon companion ever to me father, old Daniel Churchill; for her mother she had lost when she was still young. The Churchills maintained a city establishment in the environs of Washington itself, although that was not much removed from their plantation in the old State of Maryland. Elmhurst, this Washington estate was called, and it was well known there, with its straight road approaching and its great trees and its wide-doored halls. I need not state that now, having finished the business of the day, or, rather, of the night, Elmhurst, home of Elisabeth, was my Mecca.

As to Elisabeth Churchill, it might have been in line with a Maryland custom had she generally been known as Betty; but Betty she never was called, although that diminutive was applied to her aunt, Jennings, twice as large as she, after whom she had been named. Betty implies the snub nose; Elisabeth's was clean-cut and straight. Betty runs for a saucer mouth and a short one; Elisabeth's was red and curved, but firm and wide enough for strength and charity as well. Betty spells round eyes, with brows arched above them as though in query and curiosity; the eyes of Elisabeth were long, her brows long and straight and delicately fine. A Betty might even have red hair; Elisabeth's was brown in most lights, and lay laid smooth. Betty would seem to indicate a nature impulsive, gay and free from care; on the other hand, it was to be said of Elisabeth that she was logical beyond her kind.

With all this, there appeared sometimes at the surface of Elisabeth's nature that fire and lightness and impulsiveness which she got from her father, Mr. Daniel Churchill. Whether she was wholly reserved and reasonable, or wholly warm and impulsive, I, long as I had known and loved her, never was quite sure. I made my way on my well-groomed horse up to the gates of old Elmhurst; and as I rode I pondered and I dreamed.

But Miss Elisabeth was not at home, it seemed. Her father, Mr. Daniel Churchill, rather portly and a trifle red of face, met me. It was not an encounter for which I devoutly wished, but one which I knew it was the right of both of us to expect. Seeing the occasion propitious, I plunged at once in medias res. Part of the time explanatory, again apologetic, and yet, as I trust, assertive, although always blundering and red and awkward, I told the father of my intended of my own wishes, my prospects and my plans.

"Why, as to that, of course, I do not know what my girl will say," went on Mr. Daniel Churchill, pursing up his lips.

"Oh, of course—that," I answered; "Miss Elisabeth and I"—

"The skeesicks!" he exclaimed. "I thought she told me everything."

"I think Miss Elisabeth tells no one quite everything," I ventured. "I confess she has kept me almost as much in the dark as yourself, sir. But I only wanted to ask, if, after I have seen her today, and if I should gain her consent to an early day, you would not waive any objections and allow the matter to go forward as soon as possible?"

In answer to this he arose from his chair and stood looking out of the window, his back turned to me. I could not call his reception of my suggestion enthusiastic; but at last he turned.

"I presume that our two families might send you young people a sack of meal or a side of bacon now and then, as far as that is concerned," he said.

I could not call this speech joyous.

"There are said to be risks in any union, sir," I ventured to say. "I admit I do not follow you in contemplating any risk whatever. I think that might perhaps be left to Miss Elisabeth herself."

After all, Mr. Dan Churchill was obliged to yield, as fathers have been obliged from the beginning of the world. At last he told me I might take my fate in my own hands and go my way.

I was quite confident that at that hour I should find Elisabeth and her aunt in the big East Room at the President's reception, the former looking on with her uncompromising eyes at the little pageant.

My conclusion was correct. I found a boy to hold my horse in front of Gautier's cafe. Then I hastened off across the intervening blocks and through the grounds of the White House, in which presently, having edged through the throng in the ante-chambers, I found myself in that inane procession of individuals who passed by in order, each to receive the limp handshake, the mechanical bow and the perfunctory smile of President Tyler—rather a tall, slender-limbed, active man, and of very decent presence, although his thin, shrunken cheeks and his cold blue-gray eye left little quality of magnetism in his personality.

It was not new to me, of course, this pageant, although it never lacked of interest. There were in the throng representatives of all America as it was then, a strange, crude blending of refinement and vulgarity, ease and poverty, of luxury and thrift.

I considered it my duty to pass in the long procession and to shake the hand of Mr. Tyler. That done, I gazed about the great room, carefully scanning the different little groups which were accustomed to form after the ceremonial part of the visit was over. I saw many whom I knew. I forgot them; for in a far corner, where a flood of light came through the trailing vines that shielded the outer window, my anxious eyes discovered the object of my quest—Elisabeth.

It seemed to me I had never known her so fair as she was that morning in the great East Room of the White House. Elisabeth was rather taller than the average woman, and of that splendid Southern figure, slender but strong, which makes perhaps the best representative of our American beauty. She was very bravely arrayed today in her best pink-flowered lawn, made wide and full, as was the custom of the time, but not so clumsily gathered at the waist as some and so serving not wholly to conceal her natural comeliness of figure. Her bonnet she had removed. I could see the sunlight on the ripples of her brown hair, and the shadows which lay above her eyes as she turned to face me, and the slow pink which crept into her cheeks.

Dignified always, and reserved, was Elisabeth Churchill. But now I hope it was not wholly conceit which led me to feel that perhaps the warmth, the glow of the air, caught while riding under the open sky, the sight of the many budding roses of our city, the scent of the blossoms which even then came through the lattice—the meeting even with myself, so lately returned—something at least of this had caused an awakening in the girl's heart. Something, I say, I do not know what, gave her greeting to me more warmth than was usual with her. My own heart, eager enough to break bounds, answered in kind. We stood—blushing like children as our hands touched—forgotten in that assemblage of Washington's pomp and circumstance.

"How do you do?" was all I could find to say. And "How do you do?" was all I could catch for answer, although I saw, in a fleeting way, a glimpse of a dimple hid in Elisabeth's cheek. She never showed it save when pleased. I have never seen a dimple like Elisabeth's.

Absorbed, we almost forgot Aunt Betty Jennings—stout, radiant, snub-nosed, arch-browed and curious, Elisabeth's chaperon. On the whole, I was glad Aunt Betty Jennings was there.

"Aunt Betty," said I, as I took her hand; "Aunt Betty, have we told you, Elisabeth and I?"

I saw Elisabeth straighten in perplexity, doubt or horror, but I went on.

"Yes, Elisabeth and I"—

"You dear children!" gurgled Aunt Betty.

"Congratulate us both!" I demanded.

Admirable Aunt Betty Jennings! She forestalled every assertion I made, herself bubbling and blushing in sheer delight. Nor did she lack in charity. Tapping me with her fan lightly, she exclaimed: "You rogue! I know that you two want to be alone. Now I am going away—just down the room. You will ride home with us after a time, I am sure?"

Adorable Aunt Betty Jennings! Elisabeth and I looked at her comfortable back for some moments before I turned, laughing, to look Elisabeth in the eyes.

"Every right!" said I, and managed to find a place for our two hands under cover of the wide flounces of her figured lawn as we stood, both blushing. "I have every right. I have truly just seen your father. I have just come from him."

She looked at me intently, glowing, happily.

"I could not wait any longer," I went on. "Within a week I am going to have an office of my own. Let us wait no longer. I have waited long enough. Now"——

I babbled on, and she listened. It was strange place enough for a betrothal, but there at least I said the words which bound me; and in the look Elisabeth gave me I saw her answer. Her eyes were wide and straight and solemn. She did not smile.

As we stood, with small opportunity and perhaps less inclination for much conversation, my eyes chanced to turn toward the main entrance door of the East Room. I saw, pushing through, a certain page, a young boy of good family, who was employed by Mr. Calhoun as messenger. He knew me perfectly well, as he did almost everyone else in Washington, and with precocious intelligence picked me out in all that throng.

"Is that for me?" I asked, as he extended his missive.

"Yes," he nodded. "Mr. Calhoun told me to find you and to give you this at once."

I turned to Elisabeth. "If you will pardon me?" I said. She made way for me to pass to a curtained window, and there, turning my back and using such secrecy as I could, I broke the seal.

The message was brief. To be equally brief I may say simply that it asked me to be ready to start for Canada that night on business connected with the Department of State! Of reasons or explanations it gave none.

I turned to Elisabeth and held out the message from my chief. She looked at it. Her eyes widened. "Nicholas!" she exclaimed.

"Elisabeth," said I, turning to her swiftly, "I will agree to nothing which will send me away from you again. Listen, then"— I raised a hand as she would have spoken. "Go home with your Aunt Betty as soon as you can. Tell your father that tonight at 6 I shall be there. Be ready!"

"What do you mean?" she panted. I saw her throat flutter.

I mean that we must be married tonight before I go. Before 8 o'clock I must be on the train."

"When will you be back?" she whispered.

"How can I tell? When I go, my wife shall wait there at Elmhurst, instead of my sweetheart."

I placed her hand on my arm. We started toward the door, intending to pick up Aunt Jennings on our way. As we advanced, a group before us broke apart. I stood aside to make way for a gentleman whom I did not recognize. On his arm there leaned a beautiful woman, clad in a costume of flounced and rippling velvet of a royal blue which made her the most striking figure in the great room. Hers was a personality not easily to be overlooked in any company, her face one not readily to be equalled. It was the Baroness Helena von Ritz.

We met face to face. I presume it would have been too much to ask even of her to suppress the sudden flash of recognition which she showed. At first she did not see that I was accompanied. She bent to me, as though to adjust her gown, and, without a change in the expression of her face, spoke to me in an undertone no one else could hear.

"Wait!" she murmured. "There is to be a meeting"— She had time for no more as she swept by.

Alas, that mere moments should spell ruin as well as happiness! This new woman whom I had wooed and found, this new Elisabeth whose hand lay on my arm, saw what no one else would have seen—that little flash of recognition on the face of Helena von Ritz. She heard a whisper pass. Moreover, with a woman's uncanny facility in detail, she took in every item of the other's costume. For myself, I could see nothing of that costume now save one object—a barbaric brooch of double shells and beaded fastenings, which clasped the light laces at her throat.

The Baroness had perhaps slept as little as I the night before. If I showed the ravages of loss of sleep no more than she, I was fortunate. She was radiant, as she passed forward with her escort.

"You seem to know that lady," said Elisabeth to me gently.

"Did I so seem?" I answered. "It is professional of all to smile in the East Room at a reception," said I.

"Then you do not know the lady?"

"Indeed, no. Why should I, my dear girl?" Ah, how hot my face was!

"I do not know," said Elisabeth. "Only, in a way she resembles a certain lady of whom we have heard rather more than enough here in Washington."

"Put aside silly gossip, Elisabeth," I said. "And, please, do not quarrel with me, now that I am so happy. Tonight"——

"Nicholas," she said, leaning just a little forward and locking her hands more deeply in my arm, "don't you know you were telling me one time about the little brooch you were going to bring me—an Indian thing—you said it should be my—my wedding present? Don't you remember that? Now, I was thinking"——

I stood blushing red, as though detected in the utmost villainy. And the girl at my side saw that written on my face which now, within the very moment, if had become her right to question! I turned to her suddenly.

"Elisabeth," said I, "you shall have your little brooch tonight, if you will promise me now to be ready and waiting for me at six. I will have the license.

It seemed to me that this new self of Elisabeth's—warmer, yielding, adorable—was slowly going away from me again, and that her old self, none the less sweet, none the less alluring, but more logical and questioning, had taken its old place again. She put both her hands on my arm now and looked me fairly in the face, where the color still proclaimed some sort of guilt on my part, although my heart was clean and innocent as hers.

"Nicholas," she said, "come tonight. Bring me my little jewel—and bring"——

"The minister! If I do that, Elisabeth, you will marry me then?"

"Yes!" she whispered softly.

Amid all the din and babble of that motley throng I heard the word, low as it was. I have never heard a voice like Elisabeth's.

As instant later, I knew not quite how, her hand was away from my arm, in that of Aunt Betty, and they were passing toward the main door, leaving me standing with joy and doubt mingled in my mind.

QUIPS OF . . . .

A BACHELOR GIRL.

Written for the Post-Dispatch
By HELEN ROWLAND.

YOU will not allow us in Congress,
But just the same some "rights" we claim
And you will not allow us to vote;
And these you will kindly note:
The right to a seat in a street car,
The right, though it sounds absurd,
To say our say, to have our way,
And the right to the very last word!

The kind of love that "flies out of the window" at the entrance of poverty is so small that it could just as well have gone through the keyhole.

From the "dolce far niente" fashion in which men make love nowadays most of them must be affected with a sad case of emotional hook-worm.

When a man says his love is "like a rose" it is well to remember that there are lots of artificial roses, and some of them are awfully good fakes.

The surest way to get anything, from attention to a proposal, from the average man is to place yourself in a position where you don't need it.

A man chooses a wife as he does a wall-paper; he passes up the showy patterns for something modest, quiet, non-committal and colorless, which will make him stand out in brilliant contrast.

After a few years of domestic dullness beside a crabbed old millionaire, the girl who marries for money may decide that all gold doesn't glitter.

Don't judge a man's love by the things he says; wait until he tries to say something and c—

How to Nip a Cold or Cough in the Bud.

To let a cold or cough "wear itself out" is both needless and dangerous. If you will take five minutes and make up the simple remedy described below, you can wipe out a cold or cough as soon as it appears. Even deep-seated coughs yield to it very quickly. A whole pint of it costs only 54 cents, but there is no better remedy at any price.

Take a pint of Granulated Sugar, add ½ pint of warm water and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle and fill up with the Sugar Syrup. This keeps perfectly and lasts a family a long time. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours. The taste is pleasing.

Use the ingredients as given here. Granulated sugar makes the best syrup. None of the weaker pine preparations will take the place of the real Pinex itself, which is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway White Pine Extract. Your druggist has it or can easily order it for you.

This mixture is also excellent for whooping cough, bronchitis, chest pains, etc.

Strained honey can be used instead of the syrup, and makes a very fine honey and pine tar cough syrup.—ADV

PAULHAN IN HIS OWN STORY OF RECORD FLIGHT OF A MILE IN SKY TELLS OF WONDERFUL SENSATION

By LOUIS PAULHAN.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 14.

By Telegraph to the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I HAD no thought of danger when I was a mile in the air. I was as safe and secure as when flying 20 feet from the ground. I could have gone to sleep and my good machine would have carried me safely through the night. That, at least, was how I felt. There was no gusty wind and I rode on the air as gently as if I were in an easy chair.

PAULHAN.

The air was cold, but intensely exhilarating and wonderfully pure. It is impossible for me to describe my feelings. It was exactly as the birds feel—I know their language now. No one can understand the birds until he has been one of them—until he has experienced what I did alone in the air.

Precautions, you ask? There were none necessary. I cannot tell what I would have done; I do not know. Oh, I suppose I should have floated to the ground.

WHAT if my engines had broken down or stopped? Why, they did stop. I stopped them myself several times and soared through that glorious air. It was delightful.

When I left the ground with my Farman machine I determined to beat the record for altitude. I succeeded, and I do not see what more could be said about it. My eyes hurt a little, but I experienced no fear or dizziness.

It was quite cold up there, but a kiss from Mme. Paulhan and a glass of hot wine was all that was necessary to dissipate any chilliness. A good cigar and I was perfectly happy.

It was a wonderful sensation to fly so high. The ocean and the valleys and mountains looked like a big plate, here and there a speck, probably a little town, and directly under me another—aviation field.

I WAS watching my altitude instrument very closely. When I made my fourth circuit the needle pointed at No. 4. "Aha," I thought, "this is it—Latham's record, and I must go higher." And higher I went. Holding on tight to my lever I gradually lost all sense of space. Several times after I had reached the altitude I turned off the current and soared along like a veritable eagle.

Then I forgot to look down. It was so still around me, so peaceful that I was totally oblivious of time. Nor did I think of speed. Several times I stood still, or so it seemed, and I began to feel as if I could sail forever. Every breath I took seemed to be liquid ecstacy. My machine seemed to have a soul.

I HAD gradually dropped to an altitude of 3000 feet when I realized that I could not spend the night in the skies. I decided to shoot down at an angle of about thirty degrees, straight down from where I was, and land upon the spot where I had started. It was the simplest thing in the world. I landed my machine 10 feet from where I started my flight.

The cheers of 40,000 people made me think that I must have done something wonderful, but, really, I don't think it was anything so remarkable. When the good friends shook hands with me and carried me on their shoulders I wondered what possessed them. But when my wife kissed me and whispered in my ear I knew I had reason to be proud. I don't think Mme. Paulhan was afraid while I was a mile up in the afr, but I believe she was glad to have me back.

I AM glad, of course, over the fact that I beat Latham. When he reads of this event in the Paris papers, he will at once order out his machine and try to fly higher still. If he does, I will fly into Paradise and defy him to follow me there.

AVIATORS TO TRY TO CUT RECORDS AT LOS ANGELES

"Best Is Yet to Come," Is Promise of Promoters of Flying Contests.

By Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 14.—On the bulletin board at Dominguez Aviation Field, a sign in chalk letters a foot high, "The Biggest Events Are Yet to Come," set thousands of aero-maniacs to wondering whether Paulhan would attempt today some flying feat as spectacular as his "trip to Paradise or Hades" Wednesday.

The sight of a man merely flying has come to be so common that it requires something thrilling to attract attention now. This was demonstrated yesterday, when the race between the Frenchman and Curtiss, the American, failed to evoke more than a perfunctory cheer. Curtiss passed Paulhan twice while flying around the course in an attempt to establish a record for 16 miles.

Then when Paulhan sought to lower his rival's mark of 24m, 54 2-5s. and failed by five seconds, there was hardly any demonstration of enthusiasm.

Thrills Are Promised.

"They are ennui," said Paulhan, as he supervised the morning coddling of his Farmans and Blerlots by his mechanics today. "I shall have to do something to remove that blase feeling."

"Are you not satisfied with having flown higher than any man ever did before?" he was asked.

"Mais, non," he replied, hitching his shoulders and throwing his hand, palm upward, fingers wiggling. "I have forgotten that. Records, more records, better records, until, pouf! Breath goes out and I really find that path to Paradise—or to hades."

One of the earliest visitors on the field today was Charles M. Schwab, former president of the United States Steel corporation, who arrived here this morning on a special train from Nevada, where he has been inspecting mining properties. He brought with him Mrs. Schwab, his sister, Miss Gertrude Schwab, and a party of 10 New York friends.

Clifford B. Harmon, the New York sportsman, extracted from the steel magnate a promise to accompany him on a balloon trip tomorrow or some other day before the close of the meet, but Mrs. Schwab did not seem enthusiastic over her husband's possible ascent.

Harmon Makes First Flight.

Harmon made his first flight as a real aviator on his own aeroplane last evening. He made two short journeys and then regretfully permitted the machine to be retired.

After a three days' struggle with extensive tables of logarithms, the board of aviation judges finally arrived at 4165 feet as the figures which will stand as the official high record of Paulhan's world-beating high flight. A statement regarding the performance and the judges' findings were made public today.

St. Louis Train Wrecked.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Jan. 14.—Eastbound Vandalia passenger train No. 14, New York Express, from St. Louis, due here at 5 a. m., was wrecked at Woodlands, Ill. The train passed over a broken frog and the two rear sleepers were overturned. Two passengers were injured.

PITCHER STILL HERO; ST. LOUIS FANS WANT ONE

Great Teams of Past Have Had Great Boxmen; Bresnahan and O'Connor After Them.

By JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

PROBABLY as long as baseball lives, the pitcher will continue to be the hero of the team. The magnates and experts of the game have been trying for 35 years to curb the power of the man in the box, but he is stronger today than ever before.

In the days when the old Cincinnati Reds were accustomed to running up more than a hundred tallies in nine innings, the pitcher was a helpless wretch. He had to toss the ball to the batter wherever the batter wanted it. Half of the drives were for home runs.

That wouldn't do, so the pitcher was allowed to throw the ball overhanded. Then he learned to curve the ball and ever since then the magnates have been trying to handicap him and aid the batter.

Baseball managers think first of their pitching staffs. Any team that has three or four great twirlers can go along in a big-league championship race and win a majority of the games, with the balance of the team but mediocre. But a team of crack fielders and slugging batsmen would not win a pennant in either major league without possessing at least two strong pitchers.

Charley Comiskey, owner of the White Sox, is still counted as one of the smartest men in baseball. He has been a leader for more than twenty years. Others have patterned after his methods. And Charley Comiskey is one who wants a pitching staff of great strength above all things.

He has been in the American League since its expansion in 1900 and during that time has won three pennants and one world's championship. He has done this through great pitching strength. Only one year did his players finish in the second division.

Is it any wonder that its next to impossible to make a trade with the Old Roman that involves one of his twirlers?

In the season of 1908, the White Sox played with the Detroit Tigers on the closing day of the season, and the winner of that game was to be the champion. The Tigers won, as all remember, because one of Comiskey's pitchers tumbled in the very first inning of that deciding game.

But it was the great twirling of Walsh, Smith and White that had brought the team to the front that year. It was a weak hitting team, a fair fielding team; one that was slow on the bases, but it was a team that could make one run win a game oftener than any other team that ever existed. This was because its pitchers were so good, it was hard for an opposing team to get even one tally.

PITCHERS have been badly needed in St. Louis for a long time. With the exception of the Browns of 1908, there hasn't been a team in either league here that has been up in the race for seven years. That can probably be accounted for by weak pitching more than anything else.

There hasn't been a really great pitcher in all that time that has played on either the Browns or Cardinals. A few great ones have been here and left before attaining the heights. Others have come here after they began the decline, but we haven't had any that can be pointed to with as much pride as Chicagoans point to Brown, Overall, Walsh and Smith or as Boston formerly pointed to Cy Young, or as New York points to Christy Mathewson.

But the two managers in charge of baseball affairs here now, Jack O'Connor for the Browns and Roger Bresnahan for the Cardinals, are both men who believe great pitching essential to success on the diamond, and they are bending all their efforts toward the procuring of such pitching material as will bring St. Louis to the front.

However, prospects for immediate success are not bright. Bresnahan was miserably weak in pitching all last season. His team was hitting and running the bases in Bedlam style for the first half of the year. The Cardinals made more base hits than the Chicago Cubs and stole almost as many bases, yet the Cubs were crowding Pittsburg for the lead all the time, while the Cardinals engaged in a hopeless struggle all summer to keep out of seventh place.

Nothing to Take the Place of the Baseball Spike

CHICAGO, Jan. 14. — Baseball spikes will be retained in the American League, according to a decision reached by Ban Johnson, president of the League and Charles A. Comiskey, president of the Chicago team, after a conference Thursday. These two men were appointed at the last League meeting as a committee to take up the subject of abolishing the present style of spikes.

"We have inspected several devices intended to supplant the present spike," said Johnson. "We have found none of them satisfactory. There has been some complaint concerning spikes, but in the estimation of Comiskey and myself, there is nothing that will take their place."

Physical Expert Says Johnson Is in Fine Condition

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 14. JACK JOHNSON visited the gymnasium of Harvard at the invitation of Dr. Dudley Sargent, the Harvard strength expert, yesterday afternoon. Dr. Sargent has measured and already given strength tests to many noted athletes. Johnson and his party arrived in two large roadsters and were conducted to the gym, where the pugilist was introduced to Dr. Sargent.

Johnson registered 1575 points, which is slightly above the heavyweight pugilistic average, and some hundreds points above that of the ordinary strong college man. Dr. Sargent expressed himself as much pleased with Johnson's condition and how he met his tests.

GILLESPIE TO ENTERTAIN BUILDERS AT ICE RINK

BUILDERS of St. Louis and East St. Louis will have a special night at the Crystal ice rink Friday evening, at which a number of races and a fancy skating contest, open to builders only, will be decided. Moritz Eysell and Otto Oehler will furnish the feature contest when they meet in a two-lap race.

In the open event John Small, Henry W. Hell, George Berry, R. M. Gillespie, Charles E. O. Brunk, Dan Seeger and George Sauerbrunn are entered. This race is for members of the Master Bricklayers' Association.

Another race will be two laps, open to members of the East St. Louis Building Exchange. The following men have entered: Frank Keating, Clark Way, R. R. Thomas, Walter Hamler, Robert Marmaduke, Alex Murphy, William Weber and Ed Rogenberg.

BASKET BALL

Excellent basket ball was displayed Thursday night in the double-header of the M. A. C.'s Business Men's League, which brought out a large crowd. In the first game the Blues and Blacks had an interesting argument, but the former bagged the contest, the final count being 17 to 12. Better team work by the Blues and the shooting of E. Wilson enabled them to win. Peterson was the star for the Blacks, counting 7 of their 9 points, while Wilson and Capt. McCoy were the most conspicuous for the Blues. The lineup:

Blues (17.)	Positions.	Blacks. (12.)
Capt. McCoy (4)	L. F.	Dillard (2)
Meid (3)	R. F.	Peterson (7)
Scholz	C.	Williams
Kennard (2)	L. G.	Schwartz
Barwick, Wilson (8)	R. G.	Tidd

In the second game the Reds created a huge surprise by defeating the Whites and moving into first place, with three victories and no defeats. The playing of Capt. Colony and Tom Watts was responsible for the belated victory. The former scored just 13 of his team's points, while Tom held Hendricks, the former Washington U. crack, safe throughout. Hendricks was held to 4 points, while his opponent secured two, which is a very creditable performance for Watts. The score stood 11 to 2 at the close of the first half, but in the second the Whites showed some improvement, but could not overcome the lead. Harry Kiener and Newman ran both games. The lineup:

Reds (15.)	Positions.	Whites (9.)
Capt. Colony (13)	L. F.	Margan (2)
Ernst	R. F.	Ireland
Watts (2)	C.	Hendricks (4)
Meyers	L. G.	Capt. Swann
Gibson, Staffert (3)	R. G.	Stewert (3)

The McKinley High School and Smith Academy basket ball teams clash this afternoon in their annual I. L. game, at the Louisiana Hall. McKinley will have the advantage in everything against Coach Tuckers' juveniles, and should encounter no difficulty in winning. A victory for the South Siders this afternoon puts them in front in the I. L. race, with three wins and no defeats. The two teams will line up as they have in the other games. The contest will commence at 3:30.

BILLIARDS

TOZER won and lost in the red-ball billiard tournament matches at the Hauser Thursday. He defeated Pumphrey, 70 to 50, and lost to King, 70 to 67. F. Strickland vs. Schultz and Wolf vs. Schultz, are the games scheduled for Friday.

Frank Keith inaugurated his exhibition pool tournament games at the Royal Thursday. He won both of his contests, defeating Hogg, 100 to 59, and Lovell by the same score. Keith was in good form and made one run of 33.

Frank Day won his usual two games at Pesch's Hall. Meyer went down to defeat, 40 to 18, and Jones, 40 to 28. Day's averages were .58 and .67. Day will play some of the best amateurs in the city next week.

Johnny Layton won the pool championship title of the State when he defeated Lange at the Navarre Thursday night, 100 to 90. Layton has won eight games and lost none. Layton plays the final game of the tournament Friday night, meeting Maurice Balzheiser. If Layton wins there will be a tie for second money between Balzheiser, Lange, Ellison and Anderson, as, with the exception of Balzheiser, they have each won six games and lost three. Layton was presented with a diamond championship emblem Thursday night. Bohmeyer won 4 games and lost 5, Scott won 4 and lost 5, Farrell won 2 and lost 7 and Abeln and Crogan won 1 game and lost 8 each.

Clearwater and Mueser will meet in the handicap three-cushion billiard tournament match at the Rex Friday afternoon, and Hutchings and King will clash in the class A three-cushion tournament. Sauter won from Mueser in the handicap tournament Thursday, 25 to 15.

Walker defeated Nivrap, 200 to 186, and Andrews defeated Woodward, 200 to 161, in the 18.2 balk-line tournament matches at Peterson's Thursday. Friday Nivrap plays Merrill, and Walker and Thorn will also clash. In the newspaper men's straight-rail tournament games Thursday Knott defeated Eks, 50 to 28. Knott plays Parker Friday and Murphy opposes Eks.

JOHN L.'S VICIOUS BLOWS LED HIM TO FRONT AS FIGHTER

BY JOHN L. SULLIVAN.

(Copyright, 1910, by John L. Sullivan.) Copyright, 1910, by the Press Pub. Co. (New York World.)

CHAPTER V.

It was in Cincinnati that I began to see light ahead that would eventually lead me to the championship. My victory over John Donaldson had made me quite a favorite in the Ohio city, and I was advised to go after Paddy Ryan and not to stop until I had nailed him. I needed advice, however, for it had always been my one ambition to get Paddy Ryan, the champion, in the ring and let myself loose.

Thus it was that the following challenge appeared in the Cincinnati Enquirer:

To the Editor of the Enquirer: I am prepared to make a match to fight any man breathing for any sum from $1000 to $10,000 at catch weights. This challenge is especially directed to Paddy Ryan and will remain open for a month if he should not see fit to accept it. Respectfully yours,

JOHN L. SULLIVAN.

I caught Ryan at Springfield, Mass., but he refused to either spar or fight me.

"You go and get a reputation before coming to me," said Ryan. I could clearly see that he did not consider me worthy of his standing as a pugilist.

"Well," I said to myself, "John, there is nothing for you to do but to go out and do some trimming. I finally got that "reputation" and it was one that Ryan will probably never forget.

Has to Raise Money.

Arriving in Boston I was practically broke. I set about to raise some money in case Ryan should accept my challenge. I got hold of Joe Goss, the English champion whom I had licked, and we gave a sparring exhibition. There were several bouts at the exhibition and one of the men I was selected to fight was Jack Stewart, called "Champion of Canada."

I shall never forget that fight, for it was the first time that I had seen a man show the white feather in the ring. I cracked Stewart a couple of hard ones and in the second round he ran out of the ring and fled from the stage. Just as he was beating it into the wings I gave him a hard kick that helped him on his way. Before the fight he had been parading around the theater and telling everybody about what he was going to do.

The exhibition netted us $1300, which we divided equally.

Goss opened a sporting resort in Lagrange street, Boston, with his money and with mine I took the first train for New York. I had but one thing in view. I must get a reputation and at the same time get together enough money to make good on a bet with Ryan.

You know, in those days, when a fighter said he would bet $500 he had to put it up. In this day and time they bet $10,000 and $15,000 at a crack, but that is easy. They never put it up. Most of the bets in prize fighting today are made on paper.

On the way to New York I thought out a scheme for getting money that later proved to be the greatest novelty ever introduced in prize fighting and one that did more to add to my fame than anything I ever did. My idea was to meet any man in the world that wanted to fight me, and give $50 to any one who could last four rounds.

When I first suggested the scheme to a friend in New York he told me that he admired my gameness, but he appeared to have serious doubts as to my judgment.

Evidently he had the same idea as the Irishman who watched a bull in the middle of a railroad track trying to fight a train. The engine was going at a fast clip and it struck the bull amidships, tearing him into pieces. The Irishman walked over and after looking at the remains of the courageous bull, remarked:

On March 31, 1881, I was tendered a testimonial benefit at Harry Hill's place. The sports of New York were beginning to take an interest in me, and I received lots of encouragement in my ambition to finally become the champion.

At the close of the benefit entertainment at Harry Hill's the master of ceremonies walked to the footlights and announced in a loud voice:

"This man, John L. Sullivan, is not afraid to fight any man in the world, and he hereby offers a reward of $50 to any man who will stand before him for four rounds. He does not except anybody, and if Paddy Ryan is in the crowd it goes for him."

Steve Taylor Tries It.

There was a murmur over the hall and everybody began looking around for someone to take up the offer.

In one of the boxes was a man known as Steve Taylor, though his real name was John Mahan. Many of the New Yorkers of today will remember him. He was a native of Ireland, but came to America when a youth. During his career Mahan was well known around New York as a politician under the Tweed regime. He was also a coroner in Jersey City at one time.

As a boxer and prize fighter, Mahan was for some reason known as Steve Taylor, and it is that name that I will use in telling this narrative. Taylor had fought many big fights, and around New York he was looked upon as a wonder. He was a six-footer, of very powerful build, and as agile as a cat. He fought a draw in 1876 with Dwyer, the Brooklyn champion, in the old Lyceum Theater. When Jem Mace came over here from England Taylor was looked upon as the only man that could give him a fight. Among Taylor's other experiences were those of training Paddy Ryan for the fight with Joe Goss and sparring over the country with Mace.

It can be readily understood why all the people at the boxing benefit turned their eyes towards Taylor when I issued my challenge of $50 for anybody who could stand before me for four rounds.

"I will fight him," finally said Taylor, as he jumped to the stage. Matt Grace, the collar and elbow wrestler, was selected as referee and Hollywood "stood up" for Taylor, while Madden acted in that capacity for me.

Sullivan Begins by Offering $50 to Any Man Who Will Stay Four Rounds.

We fought under the Marquis of Queensberry rules and wore ordinary boxing gloves. The minute I saw Taylor put up his hands I knew that I could beat him.

The first round was spent in sizing each other up. In those days we did not stall when it came to hitting. Fighters of that day would not check the force of their blows as they sometimes do now, so as to make the fight last several rounds. Just at the end of the opening round I got in one hard left that staggered Taylor and he looked at me in surprise. He had never felt a blow like that before, he afterward said.

We had barely got started in the second round when I caught Taylor on the side of the head with a right-hand swing and he hit the floor with a thump. He was game to the core and came up for more. He was making a desperate attempt to stay out the four rounds. Again I felled him with a stinging right, and he was so far gone when the bell rang that he threw up the sponge, and I had won.

I felt a little sorry for Taylor, because he appeared to be a good, game fellow. I needed the money badly, but I couldn't stand the idea of seeing him lose a fight like that and then go broke. I went over and shook him by the hand and gave him just half of the prize that he had failed to win. After that Taylor was a friend of mine and he once went with me as a sparring partner on a trip around the country.

The crowd went wild over this novelty in the way of a prize fight. I stood there waiting for some other fellow to show up and try to lick me. The crowd was anxious for more. Finally there was a voice from upin the gallery. A big raw-boned looking fellow stood up for a minute and then walked to the stage.

"I have just come over from England," said the new man, "and I haven't got a farthing to my name. I would like to fight for a purse if I can get any backer. My name is Con Morris. I think I can lick this fellow, too."

The hall was again in the throes of excitement and everybody was trying to talk at once.

"I will gave a purse of $500 for a fight between those two men," said a voice from the gallery, and Billy Borst, the famous sporting man, stood up. I found out later that Jim Wakely was also ready to help.

Everything was going along nicely, and I was told to come up to Borst's place that night so that we could fix up the details. We were just about to fix it all up when they decided that they had better take Morris uptown and give him a try-out. They told him to put on the gloves with a fellow named Connors, who was a very ordinary fighter around New York. The new champion proved a bad one, as Connors knocked him cold in the first round.

That ended all possibility of me getting a fight with the man from England, but Borst and Wakely got together and said they would fix up another fight to take the place of that one. That is how I came to fight John Flood on the barge in the Hudson River. I will reserve my description of that fight for the next chapter.

WRAY'S COLUMN.

STACK.

OF course it was highly improbable from the start, Harold, that Roger Bresnahan would ever have taken that balloon trip. You know he's not the sort that "goes up in the air."

Fred Clarke stood in his barn, out on the Kansas farm which he was giving up owing to his love of baseball and the demands it made upon his attention. Surrounding him on every hand were the implements with which he had daily wrought to aid nature in production—the tools of his craft.

"How can you quit your beloved farm?" he was asked.

Sadly he rested his kind-faced eye on the inanimate companions of his toil—the binder, the mower, the threshing machines, and answered:

"I just couldn't do it, not even for a raise in salary, if it hadn't been for this separator," and he turned away with a wrench.

Just Lunch for O'Brien.

CONFESSING JACK O'BRIEN, probably the most accomplished gentleman "arranger" of boxing bouts known to the game, will try his art on Al Kaufman, who can accept a two-hours' lead and beat cold molasses out in a slow race. The only excuse for the Kaufmann-O'Brien thing is just to see how many times O'Brien can land on his opponent without hurting his hands.

In the dim days of history one of the few real fights that O'Brien lent his countenance to was with this same Kaufman, then a recent graduate from the "amateur" ranks of the Olympic Club. Al was then known as "One-Round Kaufman," or some such nom de guerre.

The origin of this is obscure, some maintaining it lay in his ring prowess; others thought it had a buffet significance. Its lack of correct application was discovered, from the pugilistic standpoint, when O'Brien's jabs removed the cuticle from exposed portions of Kaufman's anatomy, and then reduced the underlying protoplasm to a condition generally described as pulp. Somewhere around the seventeenth round Al decided to put up the shutters for the night.

He had not laid a glove on O'Brien in a spot which George Siler would call a "point region."

Perhaps Father Time has brought "Confessing" Jack back a stride or two; but he still has speed to spare, and if he wants will make a mere monkey out of Delaney's one-time wonder.

Why the match? Just money, that's all.

One on the House.

JACK KEEFE, who once fought his way into the hearts of the East St. Louis pug followers, and who is now spending most of the time seeing that the mahogany is kept dry and that the cash register is working freely, had been annoyed for some moments, one day, by a decayed gentleman who insisted that it wouldn't hurt the establishment if it separated itself from an eye-opener in his favor.

"G'wan out o' here, you bum, or I'll give you a punch," howled the irate proprietor.

"Don't trouble yourself, Mr. Keefe," was the response, "I prefer mine straight."

And after it worked its way into the gray matter of Jack, Decayed Gentility got it, too.

Gentlemen who are predisposed in favor of muffs, even though they be distinguished musicians, are not wanted in any baseball line up.

Billiards a Game of Chance.

CUE championships of the present day, at least the important ones, seem extremely farcical. Take that three-cushion championship for the world's title, just won by Eames of Denver. Nearly every man of class in the country who has tried for it, has won it, at one time or another within the last three years. Defeated candidates turn about and defeat rivals the next time, perhaps.

The pool championship has shifted almost ludicrously in the last five years, while the 18.1 and 18.2 billiard titles are no more stable than the others.

It would seem that this sport must be much more a game of chance than the city fathers here gave it credit for, when they put a stop to the academies.

Perhaps they will take their cue from this.

OCEAN VIEW MAY GET THE BIG FIGHT IF FRISCO BALKS

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 14.—Jack Gleason, who, with Tex Rickard, has the contract for the Jeffries-Johnson fight, said last night that the big battle would be held in San Francisco or the immediate vicinity.

If he is denied the permit to fight 45 rounds in this city, the heavyweight struggle will take place at Ocean View, Alameda County, seven miles across the bay from San Francisco.

Alley Strikes and Spares

CHARLEY STOKES of St. Charles, Mo., has the lead in the individual tournament. The matches to be bowled Saturday night on the Palace alleys and Sunday on the De Soto-Pine, should result in some high scores. All of the bowlers have been shooting every day in preparation for the Middle West tournament, which was to have opened Saturday night, but was postponed until next Thursday.

The entry list for the Middle West tournament will be announced Saturday night by Secretary Dennis Sweeney. The list of entries is much better than it was thought several days ago and there will be about 75 teams in the event. This would make the amount of prize money for the five-men competition about $1875.

The St. Louis League matches on the Grand alleys Thursday night resulted in some fine scores. The Duffys finally won a match, but the team had to shoot its best to win the odd game from the Marquettes. Jellison got a total of 643 pins. Roberts also hit his stride and got 654. The Marquettes received 75 pins per game, but the 936, 999 and 976 games of the Duffys were too much. In the second game the Marquettes got 1044, which was the only essay that they managed to win.

Emil Masson got 614 pins and Martin Kern 618 bowling with the Bankers against the All-Americas. The All-Americans had an allowance of 87 pins per game and as Noyes got 615 and Laux 600 pins for that team it can be seen that the Bankers had a bigger contract on their hands than they were able to attend to. The Bankers were not able to win even one of the three games.

The four teams from Des Moines, Io., that are entered for the Middle West tournament are the Bull Durhams, Hyperions, Rex and Missions. According to reports from Des Moines the 20 bowlers from that city are confident that they will finish well to the front.

Unless somebody gets busy on the entry list for the American Bowling Congress tournament which closes on Feb. 11, St. Louis is not going to be represented as strongly as in former years. Many of the stronger St. Louis bowlers are figuring on rolling high games in the Middle West and making their expenses for the trip to Detroit. Many will be disappointed.

The Druggists' Cocked-Hat League matches on the Royal alleys Thursday night resulted as follows: Eli Lillys 3, Meyer Bros. 2; Sharp & Dohmes 4, Allen-Pfeiffers 1; J. S. Merrells 3, Nelson Bakers 2.

The Manufacturers' Tenpin League teams bowled on the De Soto-Pine alleys Thursday night, the contests resulting as follows: Geller, Ward & Hasner 2, Electrics 1; Barnes Crosby 2, St. Louis H. & R. 1; Charter Oaks 3, Keen Kutters 0; Ludlow Saylors 2, Seiber & Trussells 1.

In the individual tournament matches on the Rex alleys Arthur Rothwell took three out of five games from Greasly and Utley won four out of five from Vandewater. Utley averaged 211.

The American Car and Foundry League teams bowled on the Rex alleys, the contests resulting in a 2-to-1 victory for the Engineers over the Estimators, while the P. A. T.s took two out of three games from the Locals.

Reward of $1000 or Suspension in Store for Reuben

Between threats and promises it is almost certain that Rube Waddell will be on his good behavior during the coming season. After a conference with President Hedges of the Browns Thursday afternoon, Mr. Waddell was thoroughly impressed with the importance of his work during the coming season, the idea having been thoroughly drilled into by the "Boss'" long talk.

In the course of this the straight and narrow walk was laid out plain to Reuben's view. On the one side it was hedged by threats, on the other by promises, and in that dim vista the season's end (almost a rainbow's end in Rube's case), is planted a wad of money, $1000.

Hedges told Waddell:

1. That if he misbehaved during the coming season he would be fined $25 for the first offense. For the second it would be $50 and for the third it would be suspension without pay.

2. That if he went through the entire season without taking intoxicants in any form he would get a bonus of $500 from himself and another of like amount from Jack O'Connor, manager.

Rube crossed his vest and promised, "so help him, that not another," etc. And there the matter ends.

Grab the bonus, Rube—we need a pitching staff the worst way.

CAYOU'S BASKET BALL TEAM PROVES EASY F[illegible] TIGERS

COLUMBIA, Mo., Jan. [illegible]—The Missouri University basket ball team decisively defeated the Washington University five in the first championship basket ball game of the season played Thursday night, 25 to 10. The teams are scheduled to play another game Friday night. Parker and Hackney were the stars for the Tigers while Conrads, center of the Washington team, also did some creditable playing.

IF YOU LOSE ANYTHING—Advertise it here. It will be returned to you if an honest person finds it. Remarkable recoveries are brought about every day through this column. All druggists receive Want Ads for the Post-Dispatch at office rates.

Advertisements received after 11:40 a. m. will be inserted in later editions on "Market" page.

IF YOU FIND ANYTHING bring it to the Post-Dispatch Lost and Found Bureau. 210-212 North Broadway.

Get a claim check. Have it advertised. Reclaim it if the owner does not.

THE LAW—People who find lost articles are interested in knowing that the State Law (Section 8475 to 8480, Revised Statutes of Missouri, 1899) is strict in requiring them to seek the owners through advertisement and otherwise, and that a failure to do so, if same can be proven, involves a severe penalty.

WE CURE MEN

HONEST TREATMENT. You May Pay Us When Cured.

We are honest in our statements and when we advertise a plan whereby you are allowed to arrange to pay your professional fee when cured and satisfied, that is just what we mean. If there is any fairer proposition than this for treating the afflicted we have never heard of it.

If you could talk with patients who have treated with us, and hear from their own lips just how they were treated, you would then feel sure that you would profit materially by their statements and not allow skepticism to stand between you and a cure. Moderate charges, faithful professional services, fair dealing and speedy cures are responsible for our immense practice, and no honest man is too poor to take advantage of our method of treatment and be fully restored to perfect health.

By the latest and best method we cure to remain cured BLOOD POISON, SKIN DISEASES, SORES and ULCERS, SWOLLEN GLANDS, VARICOSE or KNOTTED VEINS, OBSTRUCTIONS, KIDNEY and BLADDER DISEASES, RHEUMATISM, CATARRH and INDIGESTION. We cover the entire field of CHRONIC, NERVOUS, BLOOD and SKIN DISEASES.

WE ARE PARTICULARLY ANXIOUS TO SEE AND CONSULT SKEPTICAL PEOPLE, FOR WE REALLY HAVE A CERTAIN CURE FOR ANY CURABLE CASE.

Call and see us if you can. Write today for particulars if you cannot call. Medicines are from $1.50 to $6.50 a course.

If you wish our opinion, call and get it FREE of all charges and save yourself further suffering.

Separate Parlors. Consultation Free. Call or write today.

MEN WHEN OTHERS FAIL I CURE

DR. HERZOG, The Leading Specialist.

I am the only specialist in St. Louis who personally conducts his own office and gives every patient personal attention.

Maybe you are one of the large number of men who think their case is incurable. Perhaps your own doctor has told you you could not be cured; but remember that it is only because he did not understand your disorder and could not cure you. It did not mean that you could not get help from expert or experienced specialists. We offer you advice free. Call and find out what can be done for you. I AM ALWAYS WILLING TO WAIT FOR MY FEE UNTIL A CURE IS EFFECTED. All information free to those who call.

I MAKE MEN STRONG.

My offices are the largest modern equipped in St. Louis.

DISEASES OF MEN ONLY.

DECLINE HEAVY DURING FORENOON ON WALL STREET

Standard Issues Lead Sharp Movement to Much Lower Levels.

NEW YORK, Jan. 14, 12:30 p. m.

The bulls were led to the slaughter during the forenoon. Prices tumbled heavily, losses ranging between a large fraction and 3 points.

Both divisions of the exchange were equally weak. The copper stocks, St. Paul, Reading, the Hill stocks and the Harriman Pacifics were the most seriously affected.

Lead lost ⅝, Anaconda ¾, Colorado Fuel and Laclede Gas 1 each, Utah Copper 1¼, Amalgamated Copper and Steel common 1⅛ each, Am. Car & Foundry 1⅞, People's Gas 1⅝, Smelting 2, and Consolidated Gas 3 points. Steel preferred gained a small fraction, it being a solitary exception.

Erie declined ¼, Wabash common ¼, Missouri Pacific and B. & O ½ each, Atchison and Pennsylvania ¾ each, C. & O. and Rock Island preferred ⅞ each, Canadian Pacific, Great Northern, L. & N., Chicago Northwestern and Rock Island common 1 each, Wabash preferred 1¼, M., K. & T. 1½, and Reading and Southern Pacific 1¾ each. Northern Pacific and Union Pacific declined 2½ each and St. Paul 3 points.

Call money was low, the average being 3¾ per cent.

There was no special news to account for the downward movement. Trading was in moderate volume.

The stock market opened today with advances in almost the entire list. Rock Island stocks were the decided feature, the common and preferred issues in this security making sharp gains in the initial sales. Canadian Pacific was also a strong feature. With one or two unimportant exceptions, the rest of the list was fractionally higher.

In the industrials Smelting lost ¼ and Anaconda ⅜. Steel common gained ⅜. Consolidated Gas and Amalgamated Copper ½ each and American Car and Foundry ⅝ point. Colorado Fuel, Lead and Laclede Gas were at parity.

In the railway list Atchison and Pennsylvania declined ¼ each. B. R. T., C. & O., N. Y. Central, Northern Pacific and Southern Pacific advanced ⅛ each, Union Pacific ⅝, Illinois Central and Wabash preferred ½ each, St. Paul ¾, Canadian Pacific 1¼, Rock Island common 1⅝ and Rock Island preferred 2 points.

Price movements were irregular in the first half hour's trading. Reading, Union Pacific, Northern Pacific, Great Northern, M., K. & T., and St. Paul receded fractionally, while Pennsylvania, Rock Island, Southern Pacific, Wabash common and Missouri Pacific were slightly advanced. The others were about unchanged.

Nearly all the industrial stocks declined. Steel common lost ¼, A. C. P., C. F. I. and Smelting ½ each, and Consolidated Gas 1 point.

Reading, Rock Island and Steel common were the most active issues.

DETAILED REPORT OF DAY'S TRADING ON WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Dealings in stocks were small but prices moved upwards with decision. A feature of the market was an upward rush of 2⅝ in Rock Island and 2 in the preferred; St. Louis, Southwestern and Northern Ore certificates rose 1.

A good deal of stock came on the market at the opening rise and prices fell away until there was nothing left of the initial advance except in the case of Rock Island. Union Pacific and Rock Island lost 1 and Reading, St. Paul, Great Northern preferred and Northern Pacific sold as much below yesterday's closing.

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—St. Paul was pressed for sale at a decline of 2⅝, and with depressing effect on speculative sentiment. Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, U. S. Steel, Central Leather, American Smelting, Anaconda and International Pump lost 1. Westinghouse Electric 1¼, Northern Pacific 1½ and Virginia Iron 2. Metropolitan Street Railway sold at an advance of 2 and General Electric 1. Bonds were irregular.

The fall in prices had become precipitate by the middle of the afternoon and stocks were tumbled upon the market without much discrimination. St. Paul was carried 3⅝ under last night, Union Pacific, Delaware & Hudson 3¼ and Southern Pacific and American Smelting 3, while the declines in the general list ran from 1 to 3 points for all of the active issues. There was an occasional lull in the liquidation, but the market showed no rallying power.

Liquidation was unrestrained in the stock market and by 1 o'clock prices were from 1 to 3 points under yesterday's final prices. American Malting preferred lost 4½, Northern Pacific 2⅝, Westinghouse Electric and American Smelting 2¼ and Northern Pacific and Denver & Rio Grande preferred 2.

BUILDING ON LOCUST STREET IS PURCHASED FOR $200,000

Lot Is Twenty-Two Feet Wide and Price Is the Record for That Block.

The Holbrook-Blackwelder Real Estate Trust Company sold for the Essex Investment Company to the Ashland Realty Company the property known as 518 Locust street, for $200,000.

This is a fire-proof building, erected and formerly occupied by the Safe Deposit Company and afterward leased to the Bolland Jewelry Company at an annual rental of $10,000 per annum; the lease having ten years to run.

This property has a front of 22 feet on the north line of Locust street and a depth of 100 feet to an alley. The Price raises the level of values in this block.

ST. LOUIS MONEY MARKET.

Lower money rates at Eastern financial centers is causing a gradual relaxation at this point. Funds are unquestionably in more liberal supply and the opening of next week should see quotations here on a flat 5-per-cent basis as a maximum for the best names. Some of the outlying institutions are experiencing their usual active call for money from small borrowers, but this is [illegible] an incident of the general situation. Commercial paper is active at 5 to 5½ per cent.

K. C. TELEPHONE IS FEATURE ON STOCK EXCHANGE

Bonds and Stocks of This Company Are Sharply Advanced.

Transactions at the forenoon session of the St. Louis Stock Exchange were more numerous than the total sales for the two sessions of the previous day. Kansas City Home Telephone bonds were the feature, forming a major portion of the transfers. They were sharply advanced, each denomination making material gains. The stock of this company was also strong. Bank stocks were dull, only a few broken lots changing hands at unchanged prices.

Candy and Brick were inactive.

COTTON FUTURES SELL LOWER IN NERVOUS, IRREGULAR MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—The cotton market opened weak at an advance of 17 points on January, but generally 8 to 18 points lower, with the active months selling into new low ground for the season and showing a net loss of from 13 to 19 points during the first few minutes. Trading was sensationally active and after over-night selling orders had been executed the market rallied several points on Liverpool buying, covering and support from spot interests. The market during the middle of the morning was nervous and irregular, within a point or two of last night's finals.

Liverpool close: Spot, moderate business done, prices 6 points lower: American middling fair, 8.24d; good middling, 7.98d; middling, 7.84d; low middling, 7.73d; good ordinary, 7.48d; ordinary, 7.23d. The sales of the day were 8000 bales, of which 500 were for speculation and export, and included 7000 American. Receipts, 4000 bales, including 3700 American. Futures opened easier and closed steady. Jan., 7.66½d; Jan.-Feb., 7.66½d; Feb.-March, 7.68d; March-April, 7.70d; April-May, 7.72d; May-June, 7.73½d; June-July, 7.73½d; July-Aug., 7.72d; Aug.-Sept., 7.46½d; Sept.-Oct., 7.04d; Oct.-Nov., 6.83½d; Nov.-Dec., 6.73½d; Dec.-Jan., 6.71½d; Jan.-Feb., 6.71½d.

S.S.S. FOR RHEUMATISM

Rheumatism is in reality an internal inflammation; a diseased condition of the blood cells which supply the nourishment and strength necessary to sustain our bodies. The disease is caused by an excess of uric acid in the blood, which comes from indigestion, weak kidneys, constipation, and other irregularities of the system. This uric acid produces an inflamed and acrid condition of the blood, and the circulation, instead of nourishing the different portions of the body, continually deposits into the muscles, nerves, joints and bones, the irritating and pain-producing acid with which it is filled. Then follow the painful and torturing symptoms of Rheumatism. We do not claim for S. S. S. that it is anything more th[illegible] class blood purifier, and that is just what is needed to cure R[illegible]matism. S. S. S. goes into the circulation, and by neutralising the uric acid and driving it from the blood, effectually and surely removes the cause of Rheumatism. S.S.S. strengthens and invigorates the blood so that instead of a weak, sour stream, causing pain and agony throughout the system, it becomes an invigorating, nourishing fluid, furnishing health and vigor to every portion of the body, and permanently relieving the suffering caused by Rheumatism. S.S.S. is purely vegetable and will not injure the most delicate system. Book on Rheumatism and any medical advice free to all who write.

$20,000,000 "MELON" IS TO BE CUT BY THE HARVESTER TRUST

Big Bolck of Common Stock Is to Be Prorated as a Dividend.

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Another "melon" of large proportions—the distribution of $20,000,000 in common stock, is to be given the stockholders of the International Harvester Co. The announcement was made this afternoon at the offices of J. P. Morgan & Co. The new stock is to be distributed ratably as a stock dividend to the present $60,000,000 of common stock.

The directors of the company have recommended that the entire $80,000,000 of stock be placed on a 4 per cent dividend basis commencing next April.

ST. LOUIS MEN FIND TIN VEIN

Mine Near Lapaz, Bolivia, Reported to Be Rich in Metal.

Rich deposits of tin have been found in a mine near Lapaz, Bolivia, South America, owned by St. Louis men. George W. Dean, consulting engineer for the Pan-American Tin Co., organized in St. Louis last May, has notified his associates here of the discovery of the vein.

The company now has a concentrating plant in full operation, and will make its first shipment of concentrates to London Jan. 15. As soon as the Panama Canal is completed the concentrates will be shipped to the United States, and a smelter will be erected. If the 14-foot channel is in operation between this city and New Orleans it is probable the smelter will be built here, as the promoters of the company are all St. Louis men. B. S. Thompson is president of the company; Ed E. Squier, vice-president; C. H. Hughes, treasurer, and E. E. Squier Jr., secretary.

COAL AND COKE TRADE SHOW LARGE EXPANSION

The rapid expansion of the iron and steel trade directly affected the fuel market, which correspondingly was accelerated, and the output of coke especially increased at a surprising rate, though coal market was not stimulated to as great an extent. Shipments of coal by river from the Pittsburg district were retarded during 1909 by low water, and the same trouble interfered to some extent the past year. However, the total shipments of coal by rail and river were in excess of 1908 shipments. Lake vessels were so busy during the last six months of the year handling ore that the coal movement was checked in that direction. The bituminous coal shipments on the lakes for the first 10 months of 1909 was 11,350,842 net tons, or slightly in excess of 1908, but below that of 1907 by 2,000,000 tons.

LATEST LIVESTOCK NEWS.

NATIONAL STOCKYARDS, East St. Louis, Ill., Jan. 14.—Comparative receipts:

	Today.	Week Ago.	Year Ago.
Cattle	3,500	2,000	2,400
Hogs	6,000	8,400	13,300
Sheep	1,000	900	700
Horses and mules	175	250	225

NATIVE CATTLE—The receipts of native cattle were about 1500, with a good proportion of through cattle. Offerings consisted of one load of good steers at $6.50, heifers at $5.15. Balance of offerings were odds and ends of common to medium stuff. Market steady.

SOUTHERN CATTLE—The receipts of Southern cattle were about 2000, including some direct to a packer. Some Texas steers sold at $5.05 to $5.15. Balance of offerings were canners and cutters. Market active and steady.

HOGS—The market opened active and 15c higher, the top jumping up to $9 again. The bulk of desirable offerings sold at $8.70 @8.90, placing the market on the highest basis it has been in the history of the market. All buyers were in the market and there was a wild scramble for the hogs with quality and especially weighty ones. The poorer grade pigs and lights were not very much better, but the good ones were higher and sold promptly. Packers were a little slow to enter the market, as there were opposed to the advance.

SHEEP—The sheep trade was a little quiet, but prices for all good fat sheep and lambs was fully as good as any time this week and 10@15c higher than yesterday or the day before. Buyers were anxious for the good kinds and would have purchased twice the number on sale this week if they had been on sale. Good lambs were quotable up to $8.90, yearlings $8, sheep $6 and bucks $4.50.

HORSES AND MULES—The horse market was quiet throughout the day. All offerings were disposed of at the auctions this week and a good clearance was effected. Trade with the dealers was good. Fresh receipts for the day were light, approximating 25 head. The mule market on good fat mules was active and strong. The inferior kinds met with a slow sale. Receipts for the day were light, approximating 150 head.

FRACTIONAL LOSS IN WHEAT PRICES

Values Sell Down, Despite Early Steadying Influence of Firm Cables.

The local wheat market was nervous Friday. Fluctuations were confined to a narrow range, but were quite spirited and were of a rather irregular character. The undertone seemed inherently easy and as the session progressed prices settled down to a fractionally lower movement.

While the foreign situation on the whole is bearish, immediate factors from abroad this morning were of a sort calculated to inspire buying. Argentine shipments were very light, showing a small increase over the previous week, but being only a fraction of the volume of last year. The weather in the Argentine is unfavorable. Arrivals at the ports there are of small quantity and poor in quality. This and the continued firmness in spots, made European markets unresponsive to the previous decline in America. Liverpool closed ⅛d higher and there was similar steadiness in most other foreign markets.

This resulted in short covering in the local market and a firm and higher range of values at the opening. General sentiment, however, leaned to the opinion that the foreign situation cuts little figure at this time and that the market is to be guided almost entirely by domestic factors. There was rather general precipitation throughout the belt and the snow covering is being renewed in sections where danger from the cold weather had been feared. Receipts in all positions were heavy and, though stocks are not increasing at a rapid rate, they are holding their own, with the cash demand only nominal. Premiums on cash wheat showed a slightly easier tendency this morning. This, together with prospects of a good movement from now on and of a large yield of winter wheat, caused considerable pressure in the pit. The latter was encouraged by enormous exports from Australia—over 2,000,000 bu. Toward noon prices rested at moderate net recessions.

May wheat opened ⅛@¼c higher at $1.13¾ and declined to $1.13⅛. July wheat opened a shade lower at $1.02¼@1.02⅜ and declined to $1.02¼.

ST. LOUIS BANKS' GOOD SHOWING

The gain in the banking institutions of St. Louis during the last 10 years is over 100 per cent, their total resources, according to a report by the Business Men's League issued in October, amounting in 1890 to only $173,281,344. With the exception of 1908 payments through the banks were larger than for the one preceding, and this year exhibits a remarkable expansion over all records. The following table gives bank exchanges for the past five years:

ALFONSO'S OWN JAILED FOR PLOT AGAINST CROWN

Colonels of Royal Regiments to Face Courtmartial for Conspiracy.

By Associated Press.

PARIS, Jan. 14.—Special dispatches received in this city from Madrid indicate the Government has nipped in the bud a military conspiracy fomented by the friends of Juan de Lacierva y Penafiel, ex-Minister of the Interior, against the present Liberal Cabinet.

The officers implicated have been sent to various provincial fortresses pending trial by court-martial. The colonels of the Prince's and Queen's regiment have been relieved of their commands by royal decree. Count de Villar, who was removed as Captain-General of Madrid, has been succeeded by Gen. Rios.

There also are grave rumors of a Carlist uprising and it is understood that Don Jaime of Bourbon, the Spanish pretender, is preparing to issue a manifesto describing the "ruin of fallen Spain" since the dethronement of his great-grandfather, attacking the "free thinkers, Protestants and other enemies of social order" and appealing for a revival of Catholic unity as the only means for Spanish regeneration.

Newspaper Plant Destroyed.

DEXTER, Mo., Jan. 14.—The plant of the Bernie Star, the only newspaper published at Bernie, eight miles south of here, was destroyed by fire last night. A half block of buildings fronting on the main street of the town were also burned.

ADVANCE IN MILK PRICES CAUSES A STRONG PROTEST

Housekeepers Object When St. Louis Dairy Charges 5 Cents for Pints.

HARD TO HOLD TRADE

Drivers Use "Free Samples" to Pacify Some of Those Who Complain Loudest.

Drivers for the St. Louis Dairy Co., which recently raised the price of pint bottles of milk from 4 cents to 5, are having a hard time holding their customers. There was such a loud protest against the increase that drivers, who begin their day's work at 4:30 a. m., have not been able to finish until 7 p. m. or later.

Some milk consumers, who bought 25 milk tickets for $1, and redeemed them with a pint of milk and a very small bottle of cream, or two-pint bottles of milk, or who sometimes took a quart of milk or a pint of milk and a bottle of cream one day and a pint of milk the next, suddenly found themselves forced to pay higher rates.

The dairy would not allow its drivers to sell a pint bottle of milk and a small bottle of cream at the quart rate, as they had been doing for a long time. Neither would it permit its drivers to sell two pint bottles of milk for 8 cents, but it would allow them to sell a quart bottle at that price. The price for the two pint bottles, or for one pint bottle and a small bottle of cream, was raised from 8 cents to 10 cents.

Combinations Not Allowed.

Consumers insisted that in taking a pint of milk and a bottle of cream they were buying the equivalent of a quart of milk a day. Many threatened to quit, and then it required all of the diplomacy of the drivers to hold them on the company's books.

The Union Dairy, the Grafeman, Pevely and other dairies did not follow the St. Louis Dairy Co. in its increase in price on pint bottles of milk. The Union Dairy is still delivering pints of milk for 4 cents or 14 quarts for $1, and the other dairies have about the same prices.

As an aid to getting new customers the drivers have been allowed three sample bottles for free distribution each day. Since the price went up they have been forced to use their free samples to hold their customers. They have managed to place these in such a way as to make them do the greatest possible good in the way of holding customers.

One driver in a section of the city where those of moderate circumstances reside threw up his hands after a few days' effort.

Worse Than Pulling Teeth.

"I'd rather undertake to pull the teeth of those customers than to try to get that extra penny on pint bottles of milk," he reported.

With the price of eggs, bacon, steaks, and everything else going up, many milk consumers were in no mood for an increase in the price. With their other troubles fresh in mind they were ready to quarrel with the milkman when he came around and demanded a cent more for pint bottles of milk and the small bottles of cream.

WASHINGTON U. BUYS TWO LOTS FOR PROPOSED HOSPITAL

Building at King's Highway and McKinley to Be Ready in Two Years.

The Washington University board of directors, in preparation for the erection of a hospital at King's highway and McKinley avenue, near Forest Park, has purchased two lots there. Plans for the building have not been prepared, nor has the cost been decided on.

The site is opposite that selected for the Barnes Hospital, with which the University is affiliated. It is announced the new Washington University hospital will be used for obstetrical cases. It is probable the hospital also will have a department for the care of contagious diseases of children.

The university now has an obstetrical hospital at Jefferson and Lucas avenue. About two years will be required to mature the plans for the new hospital and erect the building, according to Robert S. Brookings, chairman of the board of directors. Mr. Brookings said Friday the hospital will be first-class in all appointments.

The lots front 200 feet on King's highway and are 175 deep. One lot was owned by William Z. McCormack, who received $7500 for it. The other is owned by Auguste B. Ewing and the deed has been sent to California for his signature.

BANK PAYS STEER $12,656

Third National Settles Judgment for Fortner Check.

The Third National Bank has settled with F. A. Steer in his suit against the bank for $12,000, growing out of the alleged forging of an indorsement by M. D. Fortner on a check issued by Steer. In full satisfaction of the judgment obtained Wednesday in Judge Homer's court, the bank paid Steer $12,656, including interest. Although the judgment was against the Third National, it did not stand the loss, being protected by the St. Louis-Union Trust Co. on its clearing house guarantee.

The check was drawn on the Third National and was cashed by Fortner at the St. Louis-Union. Attorneys for the St. Louis-Union defended the Steer suit for the Third National, and after the verdict was rendered the St. Louis-Union sent the Third National a check for the amount of the judgment, which check was turned over to Steer.
